EXPERTS PLAN NEW CURRENCY, BACKED BY GOLD

Offer Alternative to Roosevelt Idea.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—The official champions of "sound money," privately convinced that the President's present venture into gold buying will not have the results he hopes for, are completing plans, it was learned today, for a return to the gold standard by the route of devaluation of the dollar and stabilization.

As American markets slid a bit farther backward today, and the prices of commodities and stocks went downward in the very face of a program which the President has formed to push them upward, the treasury officials and other sound money men in the administration quietly went ahead with their preparations for stabilization.

Foresee Much Trouble.

They were outwardly cooperating with the President in setting up machinery for the purchase of gold in foreign markets, but they declared they could foresee many difficulties ahead on that tack, with dubious possibilities of the desired results.

The plan being worked out by the sound money men, they assert, really would elevate prices, and in that manner provide the degree of inflation desired by the President. But at the same time, the advocates argue, it would restore security to American finance. While expanding credit it would guarantee a fixed return for invested capital.

The treasury proposal, which may or may not be acceptable to the President should his present plans fail of their objective, is for the devaluation of the gold content of the dollar by executive order by a probable 50 per cent.

Instead of seeking to bid up the price of gold by purchases here and abroad, the treasury proposal would in one action establish a definite gold value for the dollar. Prices then definitely would rise according to the treasury view.

Have Plan for Recovery.

With a free market in gold restored and the way thus paved for England also to return to the gold standard, the expansion of credit would go hand in hand, according to the sound money advocates, with a scaling down of internal debts and a rise in commodity prices. Thus would be provided, they say, the foundation for a general world recovery.

Whether the President will take the advice of these experts in his administration or cling further to the ideas expressed by his professors of the brains trust is a question the sound money men cannot answer as yet. But they rely upon the President to alter the course charted out by the brains trust when he determines that it will not work and then to follow a program which they deem safe and sane.

The treasury and federal reserve board experts have devised a complete program for putting the United States back on the gold standard. Involved in the plan, it was learned, is a novel adventure into high finance which will bring a profit of a billion and a half dollars into the federal treasury.

Vaults Full of Gold.

The treasury vaults are now choked with gold coin and bullion valued, according to the old gold parity, at $1,412,476,000. The federal reserve banks, which have taken in most of the gold surrendered by hoarders and banks under command of the President, own $2,598,808,000, a total in gold in the country of $4,011,284,000.

For many weeks, while the question of the gold value of the dollar has been argued, argument has arisen as to which agency, the treasury or the federal reserve banks, is entitled to the profit which would accrue in the event of a devaluation order.

So the experts' plan has been worked out. Putting it into effect would, it is said, be one of the most dramatic financial events in the nation's history.

The plan is for the federal reserve to sell all of its gold to the treasury on a certain day and to accept in exchange for it 3 day bills of the treasury.

Big Boom in Gold Value.

On the following day the United States would go back on the gold standard, with the gold content of the dollar reduced by a possible 50 per cent. Perhaps it would be less than 50 per cent, in the President's discretion, but the experts take that figure for their calculations.

Then on the third day, when the

Insull Released; Quits Hospital Jail

GREECE DECIDES HE WAS VICTIM OF DEPRESSION

Denies U. S. Charge of Fraud.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

ATHENS, Oct. 31.—Samuel Insull was again scot free in Athens tonight after 65 days of provisional detention on a demand for his extradition by the United States government. He will not have to appear with ten other defendants indicted by the federal grand jury in Chicago on charges of fraud in connection with the bankruptcy of some of his utilities companies, the collapse of which ruined 300,000 small purchasers of his stock.

The Athens Court of Appeals this evening gave Insull a complete whitewashing of the federal charges against him, and Greece again qualified as Europe's best haven of refuge for wealthy fugitives from justice.

Insull Poses for Pictures.

As soon as the court had finished reading the long decision setting him free, Insull had himself photographed with his lawyers, then hurried outside, where a big limousine was waiting. He got in the car with a Greek reporter and a brother of Mrs. Helen Kouryoumdjoglou, a friend of Insull. They rushed to Insull's hospital quarters, where he packed his suitcase, and then hurried away to his hotel, the Grand Bretagne. As he left the hospital Insull was congratulated on his release by Chief Ebert of the Greek police force.

Insull tonight was having a quiet celebration dinner in room 221 of the hotel, which is just across from the quarters he left so suddenly when he was arrested last August. Insull would not answer the phone and he received only a few favored friends. He said he was tired and did not want to be bothered. Before going up to his room he told Greek newspaper reporters he is thankful for Greek justice and had no plans beyond staying a long while in Greece.

U. S. Officials Astonished.

Today's court decision astonished and dismayed American officials here, although the fact that extradition would not be granted had been fairly apparent for several days. American legation authorities said they would study reports of the case carefully before deciding on further action.

Forrest Harness, assistant attorney general, studied the translation of the Greek court's decision this evening with American Minister Lincoln MacVeagh. They cabled Washington about the decision. Harness said he could not say yet whether the American government will renew the extradition demand on other charges.

"I cannot comment on the case now except to say I am very disappointed," Harness said.

Harness will leave for Washington in a few days to report directly to the American government.

Seen as Blow at U. S. Justice.

Today's second refusal by Greece to extradite Insull is interpreted here as a severe slap at American institutions and justice, and is likely to lead to a period of vexatious diplomatic adjustments with the United States. The question of denouncing the extradition treaty will likely come up at the next session of congress, it was learned here tonight.

American legal experts said they will study carefully the stenographic reports of what took place during the four sessions of the Greek court before they decide to what extent it was an extradition hearing and to what extent it constituted trying the case in Greece.

By refusing to extradite Insull, legal authorities here said the case against the other ten defendants in the same case may be compromised.

May Peril Case Against Banks.

Also, Insull's victory today, it is said, may have an effect on the petition which the receiver of his bankrupt companies has made to have returned millions of dollars in securities which Insull is charged with having illegally pledged with five big bank creditors to the detriment of small stockholders.

Insull kept himself out of the public eye as much as possible following his victory, which came at 5:40 o'clock this afternoon. When it became known, a howling mob in the courtroom shouted, cheered, and whistled. They were quickly hushed by Insull's lawyers. Some people shook hands

Fight Limiting Sale of Liquor in Packages

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Casting the first definite decision it has made since it was created last June, the Illinois liquor control legislation commission unanimously voted against limiting the sale of post-prohibition liquor to original packages.

In other words, it declared itself in favor of permitting the sale of whisky, gin, and other spiritous beverages by the drink for consumption on the premises within which it is sold. But it did not even get near a decision on a companion problem, the question whether the sale of hard stuff will be permitted over bars or confined to tables.

Speed Board's Recommendation.

This was the first of a continuous effort to compile the commission's main recommendations without further loss of time. It has voted to work all day tomorrow and on into Thursday, if that is necessary, to set forth at least the outlines of its report. On the agenda for the morning are the bar against table question and the question of close limitation of the powers of a state commission if one is recommended.

Until tonight there had been no motion made to crystalize the opinion of the fifteen members on any of the many issues before it. But when State Senator Harry C. Stuttle [Dem., Litchfield] moved that a permanent quietus be put on talk of package-only sale, the favorable action was taken without any substantial hesitation. Attorney Ralph M. Shaw of Chicago passed his vote with an explanation that he thought the entire matter of the form of sale should be left open until the whole subject could be passed upon.

When the discussion turned to the subject of a state commission that was warmly advocated last Saturday by Mr. Shaw, who favors the New York plenary powered commission idea, a majority of the commission, speaking separately and not upon a motion, indicated opposition to any form of state control that involved discretionary powers such as the making, modification, or rescinding of regulations.

How Shall Licenses Be Issued.

Dewitt Billman, executive secretary of the legislative reference bureau, and in that capacity the legal adviser of the assembly in bill drafting, told the meeting that discretionary powers could not be given a state administrative body and that all legal regulations must be laid down in the statute creating it. Attorney Shaw took exception to this opinion.

Several of those who spoke insisted that the powers of any state commission should be limited to passing on matters connected with the issuance and the revocation of licenses. Chairman Harold G. Ward particularly insisted that this power should not be exceeded. One suggestion approved by some speakers was that a retailer's license be issued by the city, village, or county within whose borders the site of the proposed dispensary is located and that such a license be revocable upon the recommendation of the same local authorities or upon the commission's own initiative.

WIFE DYING, MATE'S PLEA FOR ANNULMENT IS REFUSED BY COURT

That portion of the marriage vow was invoked by Supreme Court Justice Bleakley when he denied annulment of the marriage of Frederick and Helen May Schickler, both 20.

The girl is dying of tuberculosis, and the husband asked the annulment on grounds he did not know of the disease when they married in August, 1931.

"It is quite apparent that this girl has not long to live," Justice Bleakley said, "but until death carries her away, I decree that the husband respect his marriage vows and contribute to her support."

LITVINOV LEAVES FOR FRENCH PORT TO BOARD LINER

His movements still were covered with secrecy, as they have been since he left Moscow last week to pass through Berlin and appear in Paris yesterday 24 hours after he was expected.

Diplomatic visas for the United States were issued to Litvinov and his aids, Constantin Oumanski, chief of the foreign office press section, and Ivan A. Divilkoffski, secretary of the foreign office collegium.

Boy Lassoes Cow Around Foot; Is Dragged to Death

Ford Will Give Data Required by Motor Code

Detroit, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The Ford Motor company announced late today that the compilation of the wage and hours report required by the NRA automobile code has been in progress at the offices here since Oct. 18, immediately after forms for the report were received.

The figures will be filed with the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce at Washington. That announcement followed an NRA statement that the Ford company would submit the figures.

Washington Gets Word.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce today was notified the Ford Motor company would submit the wage and hours report required by the automobile code on Nov. 6 or 7. In earlier stages the Ford interests had called Johnson a dictator and he threatened to give the case to the attorney general.

Today's announcement from Alfred Reeves, vice president and general manager of the N. A. C. of C., did not single out the Ford company from the rest of the industries, merely giving a list of the firms which already have submitted figures, with a second list containing half the firms, giving the date on which they had informed Reeves the requested data would be provided.

Bid Question Still Open.

Today's evidence of compliance on the part of Ford with one requirement of the code did not settle the manufacturer's status in regard to government bids, since Johnson has raised the question of his willingness to deal collectively with his employés.

If the administration view of the question stands, Ford will have to show evidence that he will comply with that major labor provision of the code before the government purchasing agent can consider his bids.

Definite evidence of compliance or noncompliance in this respect is looked for soon in connection with the Edgewater, N. J., Ford strike, data on which were sent to Johnson today.

The national labor board indicated clearly tonight it does not intend to take jurisdiction in the tool and die makers' strike in Detroit, Flint, and Pontiac, Mich.

6 Million Pay for Teachers Starts Today

The board of education at a meeting yesterday declared a $6,000,000 pay day for the 14,000 teachers and 4,000 other school employés. James B. McCahey, president of the board, announced that pay checks, totaling $1,972,476, for the last two weeks in February, will probably be mailed out to the schools today.

Along with the two weeks' salaries in cash will be a month's pay—for March—in 1933 tax anticipation warrants of the educational fund, totaling $4,081,987. This will bring the compensation of the school workers up to April 1 and reduce the pay roll obligations of the board, as of Nov. 1, to approximately $16,000,000.

Cites Teachers' Requests.

"Many representatives from teacher groups have come to me and asked that, if no cash is in sight, the employés be paid in warrants," said Trustee Joseph P. Savage. "The teachers can pay bills owed to their landlords, neighborhood merchants, doctors, and dentists with these securities. I believe the distribution of warrants will tide the employés over until more cash is obtained."

The cash for the last two weeks in February was obtained through continuous negotiations during the last ten days by Mr. McCahey, who last week sold $668,000 worth of 1933 tax anticipation warrants to the Illinois Bell Telephone company. The distribution of the cash according to employé classification will be as follows:

Teachers	$1,599,801
Civil service	320,943
Building employés	35,381
Playground employés	16,351
Total	$1,972,476

The tax warrants will be divided among the school employés as follows:

Teachers	$3,393,300
Civil service	686,014
Building employés	59,969
Playground employés	32,604
Total	$4,081,987

The warrants will be distributed in denominations of $25, $50, and $100 and the machinery for passing them out will be completed within a few days.

At the close of the market yesterday quotations on the warrants of $100 denomination that will be given to the school employés were 90 bid and 92 asked, according to Charles E. Enyart, president of Enyart, Van Camp & Feil, a brokerage house at 39 South La Salle street that deals in tax warrants.

McCahey Meets Works Board.

Mr. McCahey appeared in the morning before the state advisory board on federal public works in connection with the proposed grant of federal "easy money" for completion of five school buildings in Chicago. According to the plan the government will make an outright grant of $1,350,000, or 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials, and the board will give 1931, 1932, and 1933 building fund tax warrants totaling $4,500,000 to the contractors.

Mr. McCahey announced for the first time that the Phillips High school at 50th and State streets and the Wells High school at Augusta street and Ashland avenue will be among the five schools to be completed. The others, previously decided upon, are the Senn High school addition, the new Lane Technical High school, and the Steinmetz High school.

LAWYER TELLS OF WOODWARD'S APPOINTMENTS

The conduct of receivership and bankruptcy cases in Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward's court occupied the attention of the judiciary subcommittee of the national house of representatives throughout the opening day of its public hearings in Chicago yesterday.

The purpose of the general investigation, as stated by Chairman Tom D. McKeown, representative from Oklahoma, is to evolve legislation to correct receivership abuses. But Chairman McKeown, a former Oklahoma judge, who defeated William H. [Alfalfa Bill] Murray for congress in 1917, and has been there since, has stated that impeachment action is a possible outcome of the investigation.

The hearing was conducted on the fifth floor of the United States courthouse, in the small courtroom prepared for Judge George E. Q. Johnson, a recess appointee of President Hoover, whose appointment was not confirmed by the senate. Only a few observers sat in the rear section, but the inclosure was jammed with congressmen, counsel, and clerks, and the railings were piled high with the equity and bankruptcy dockets of the last three years.

The Day's Developments.

Outstanding of yesterday's developments, according to the emphasis placed upon them by the questioning of Attorney Marshall Solberg, counsel for the committee, were:

1. That Judge Woodward appointed the law firm of Loucks, Eckert & Peterson, which employed his son, Harold C. Woodward, as counsel for receivers in ten equity and four bankruptcy cases between October, 1930, and September, 1932. Total fees allowed the law firm were $256,400. (Part of their fees, however, were allowed by other judges after Judge Woodward had made the appointments.)

2. That in one case, the receivership of the Davis Industries, Inc., receivers' and attorneys' fees totaled $15,266, including $2,000 to Loucks, Eckert & Peterson, and not one cent remained for creditors.

3. That in another case, the receivership and subsequent liquidation of the Zerozone corporation, $20,000 of the $36,000 cash surplus resulting from a year's operations under the court's jurisdiction went to Loucks, Eckert & Peterson. The receiver and other counsel took notes and preferred stock of the new company in part payment.

4. That in a third case, the liquidation in bankruptcy of Prince & Whiteley, Inc., brokers, creditors received 20 cents on the dollar, and Loucks, Eckert & Peterson received $50,000 for nine months' work.

Question Law Firm Member.

These matters were brought out largely through examination of Attorney Walter H. Eckert, senior member of the firm of Eckert & Peterson, which succeeded Loucks, Eckert & Peterson on Jan. 1, 1933, and which still employs young Woodward. Eckert was on the stand most of the day, but before calling him Attorney Solberg examined Clarence P. Denning, executive secretary of the Chicago Bar association, concerning the bar association's report on the Woodward appointments.

Mr. Denning testified that the bar association's appointment of a committee on receiverships and mortgage foreclosures followed the receipt of a complaint from the Chicago Real Estate board on Oct. 23, 1930, charging that thousands of investors were being deprived of their equities through abuses in the handling of properties. He said the subcommittee on federal receiverships headed by Clay Judson held several hearings and heard possibly 20 witnesses.

Committee's Report Approved.

Q.—[By Attorney Solberg]—Was the committee's report approved by the board of managers? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did Mr. Eckert participate in the vote of the board of managers? A.—No.

Q.—Were some of the members of the board associated with Mr. Eckert? A.—No.

Q.—Wasn't Mr. Guilliams [Attorney John R. Guilliams]? A.—His son, Donald, was associated with Mr. Eckert.

Attorney Solberg then produced the canon of ethics of the American Bar association and asked whether it was still in force. When told that it was, he referred to the judiciary code and read into the record canon 12, which states in part that a court, in appointing trustees, receivers, masters, etc., shall observe the "strictest impartiality," avoid "nepotism or undue favoritism," and that the power of the court should not be used for personal or partisan advantage.

Attorney Sidney Gorham, former president of the bar association, appeared for Mr. Eckert, and the witness, Denning, was asked whether he had ever heard anything reflecting upon Eckert's character or standing at the bar prior to the association's report. Denning replied that he had not.

Lists Appointments and Fees.

The report of the bar association, listing the appointments of Loucks, Eckert & Peterson as counsel for receivers in Judge Woodward's court and the compensation allowed them, was introduced into the record and Mr. Eckert was called. He formerly was secretary of the Chicago Bar association.

Mr. Eckert stated that he was admitted to the bar 30 ears ago and had practiced in the federal courts for 25 years. He became a member of the firm of Loucks, Eckert & Peterson in 1924, he said. The questioning then proceeded as follows:

Q.—How long have you known Harold C. Woodward? A.—Since his admission to practice, when he came to our firm. I believe it was in September, 1926.

Q.—He is a son of Judge Charles F. Woodward? A.—Yes.

Q.—How long have you known Judge Woodward? A.—Since he presided over the Illinois constitutional convention in 1920. I met him again when Harold Woodward came to our office. He was practicing law at Ottawa then.

Q.—You saw him more frequently after his elevation to the bench? A.—Not nearly as frequently.

Reads Order of Judge.

Attorney Solberg then read into the record an order of Judge Woodward appointing Loucks, Eckert & Peterson and Perlman, Goodman & Scolnik as counsel for the Davis Industries on motion of the receiver, Saul B. Optner.

Q.—Was that a large case? A.—No, it turned out not to be. There were virtually no assets.

Q.—How did you come into the case? A.—I met Mr. I. B. Perlman in the elevator of my office building and he told me about the case. He said he was busy on other matters and asked whether I would care to handle the federal end of the Davis Industries. Then Mr. Optner came in and said he wanted me because of the wide experience I had had in bankruptcy matters. I had just gone through the Prince and Whitely case, which was very involved.

Q.—You got those appointments about the same time, didn't you? A.—I don't think so. [Mr. Solberg read the dates, Oct. 11, 1930, for Prince and Whitely, and Oct. 28, 1930, for the Davis Industries.] "I didn't know that," said Mr. Eckert.

No Dividends to Creditors.

Q.—Were there any payments of dividends to the creditors of Davis Industries when the estate was closed? A.—Not a cent.

Q.—What fees did you receive? A.—$2,000.

The witness was asked about fees to other counsel, but he said he did not recall them, so Mr. Solberg read from the record as follows: Perlman, Goodman & Scolnik, $2,000; Pennish & Rashbaum, for the creditors, $750; defendant's counsel, $1,000; balance on hand to the receiver, $9,516.26.

Q.—Who appointed you in the Prince and Whitely case? A.—I was selected by the Chicago Title and Trust company, receiver, and appointed by Judge Woodward.

Confer in Judge's Chambers.

Q.—Did you have a conference regarding the appointment in Judge Woodward's chambers? A.—Yes. Some one sent for me. I don't recall whether it was his bailiff or secretary. The judge told me that he had a bankruptcy petition against a large brokerage house, Prince & Whitely, involving several millions of dollars. He said it was an involved case and that he was worried about the matter because he had had little experience in bankruptcy cases.

In response to further questions Mr. Eckert then related the following account of his connection with the Prince & Whitely case:

"Judge Woodward told me he felt that only a trust company, with wide experience and adequate machinery for administrating estates, should be named receiver for the company and asked whether I could suggest one. I suggested the Chicago Title and Trust company as being the best in Chicago for that purpose.

"As I was leaving the chambers Gen. Abel Davis, chairman of the board of the Chicago Title and Trust company, came in the door. The judge had told some one to call him. I was told to remain and Judge Woodward informed Gen. Davis of his problem. Gen. Davis said the Chicago Title and Trust company would be happy to serve as receiver and Judge Woodward then filled in the name on an order he had prepared.

"Gen. Davis started to leave, but Judge Woodward called him back, stating that he would need counsel. The judge asked Gen. Davis whether my firm would be satisfactory, and Gen. Davis replied: 'I have known Mr. Eckert for many years and have the utmost confidence in his integrity and ability. I should be happy to have Mr. Eckert as counsel'."

Tells of Fees Received.

Q.—What fees did you receive? A.—Forty-seven thousand five hundred dollars from the bankrupt estate and $2,500 from the Chicago Title and Trust company as custodian of certain securities after the estate was closed.

Q.—What fees did the Chicago Title and Trust company receive? A.—The same as ours.

Q.—What dividends were paid? A.—Twenty cents on the dollar to the security holders and 20 per cent to general creditors.

Q.—What did the 20 per cent amount to? A.—I don't recall.

Q.—The total claims in the primary receivership in New York and the ancillary receivership were about $15,000,000, were they not? A.—About that.

Another Receivership Case.

Questioned about the Zerozone corporation, Attorney Eckert said he was selected by the receiver, the Straus National bank, and appointed by Judge Woodward.

Q.—Prior to your appointment in these cases, were you ever appointed in an equity case in federal court? A.—I don't recall any.

Q.—What were your fees in the Zerozone case? A.—$20,000.

Q.—You were the only one who got your allowance in cash? A.—The order speaks for itself; I got the cash.

Q.—And the order was entered by Judge Woodward? A.—The docket will show that.

Mr. Solberg read the order showing that the receiver was allowed $11,500 in cash, notes of $10,000, and preferred stock in the reorganized company of $15,000; that counsel for the company received $2,500 in cash, $3,500 in notes, and $9,000 in preferred stock, and that counsel for the complainants, got $1,000 in cash, $1,500 in notes, and $1,000 in preferred stock.

Q.—There was only $35,000 cash on hand, was there not? A.—I don't recall.

Attorney Eckert said his firm was appointed counsel for the Chicago Title and Trust company as receivers of the Straus Brothers Investment company in June, 1931, by Judge Woodward.

Q.—What fees have you received? A.—Twenty thousand was allowed, but we have received only $14,333.

Q.—Have any dividends been paid? A.—No. The case is pending. There were about 2,000 claims, which were referred to Referee Harry A. Banking. He died before a final report was made, but we hope to make a report soon.

Roosevelt's Firm Mentioned.

Mr. Eckert testified that his firm received $7,500 and later $13,500 as counsel for the Title and Trust company in the Wextark Radio Stores case. In response to the examiner's question he said the firm of Roosevelt & O'Connor (President Roosevelt's law firm) received $500 as ancillary receivers in New York.

The witness, when questioned further about fees in this case, stated that his allowances had never been questioned by a creditor in any case.

"No? How about the Medinah Athletic club case?" Mr. Solberg asked.

"You ought to know; you got some fees in that case," Eckert replied. Mr. Solberg hastened to explain that he received only $750, and the interchange between counsel and witness was stopped by Chairman McKeown.

Banker Gives Testimony.

Frank M. Hickok, vice president and trust officer of the American National bank, successor to the Straus National bank, was put on the stand to testify about other receiverships handled by the bank, presumably to show a comparison of fees allowed with those received by Loucks, Eckert & Peterson.

Mr. Hickok testified that in the case of the Electrical Research laboratories Judge Woodward allowed Livingston E. Osborne, counsel for the bank, $7,500; that in the E. R. Diggs, Inc., case Attorney Benjamin P. Epstein, counsel for the bank, was allowed $500; that in the Old Colony Realty trust, which involved an $800,000 blanket bond issue, Attorney Henry S. Blum was allowed $1,000 on account, and that in Harrison Heart o' Orange case Attorney Epstein was allowed $6,000.

The witness testified that the work in all these cases was "prodigious" and that the service of the attorneys was "extremely valuable." He also testified that the notes and preferred stock taken by the Straus bank in the Zerozone cooporation, totaling $25,000, were subsequently sold for $4,500, so that the receivar realized $16,000, including the $11,500 cash allowance, while Loucks, Eckert & Peterson got $20,000 in cash.

Fees Fixed at 10 Per Cent.

Mr. Hickok testified that Loucks, Eckert & Peterson were appointed counsel for the bank in the 40 East Oak receivership case and that Judge Woodward, in making the appointments, ruled that combined fees were not to exceed 10 per cent of gross receipts.

Attorney Solberg then read the court orders, showing that the law firm received $15,000 and the receiver $10,000 on Jan. 29, 1932, and that each party received $10,000 on Aug. 7, 1932. Judge Walter C. Lindley entered the last order.

"That's an average of some $2,500 a month," Mr. Solberg remarked.

Q.—Have there been any dividends to creditors or interest payments to bondholders? A.—No.

Q.—The claims are substantial? A.—Yes.

NEBRASKANS ASKED BY GOVERNOR NOT TO BID AT TAX SALES

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Gov. Charles W. Bryan tonight appealed to residents of Nebraska, and to "tax title loan sharks in particular," not to bid on property offered for sale Nov. 6 by county treasurers to pay delinquent taxes.

"I want to appeal to all prospective buyers," the governor said, "not to take advantage of those people who are about to lose their homes and property by foreclosures and evictions, when the state and national governments are making heroic efforts to save them."

The governor explained that Nov. 6 is the day when property must be offered for sale to pay delinquent taxes and that he has no power to stop such sales.

"I feel that if the property is not sold now, in 30 to 60 days better prices will result in many debtors being able to pay the delinquent taxes."

TRAYLOR ADMITS HE ERRED ON THE 1931 DEPRESSION

Justifies Bank's Direction of Busby Estate.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Finance has its human side, written at times in emotional action. This crept into various phases of the testimony of Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, as he occupied the witness stand in Probate Judge John F. O'Connell's courtroom all day yesterday, fencing with attorneys in the case brought by Mrs. Esther Busby to force the bank to pay back the fortune which was lost in the stock market after the death of her husband, Leonard A. Busby.

Mr. Traylor, who accepted full responsibility for all the actions of the bank as executor of this estate, under questioning by Attorney Edward R. Johnson, admitted that he had made a "bad guess" in 1931 when he advised holding the stocks which Mr. Busby had left his family. Naturally, Mr. Traylor explained, if he had known what was going to happen he would have acted differently.

"That would eliminate the hazard of business, banking and finance and reduce it all to a mathematical certainty," he said.

Help Many "Tide It Over."

His action with many bank clients, he said, during the 1931 period of the depression, the time under discussion in this case, was to help them "tide it over." He was sure the bottom had been reached.

"We rode along with many thousands of dollars of underwater loans," the witness said, "instead of selling collateral, because we felt the situation justified it."

It was this "riding along" with the Busby common stock investments that drew the comment of "speculation" from Mr. Johnson.

"It is our contention," the attorney told the court, "that the executor continued speculating, as Mr. Busby had been doing, by holding the stocks. [The estate of $1,598,000 had a debt of $90,000 to brokers against it and subsequently went under water with a deficit of $226,000.]

"It was not for the executor's profit. These were all common stock in a fluctuating market. There is indication of an intention to gamble, which we say they had no right to do."

Certain Insull securities came into the testimony. There were 4,941 shares of Middle West Utilities, held on margin. Mr. Traylor testified that he advised Mrs. Busby to sell some, and she said she wanted to retain at least 2,000 shares because her husband knew Samuel Insull well and had great confidence in him and in his stocks.

"Sharing the favorable attitude of Mr. Busby to the Insull securities," said Mr. Traylor, "we continued to carry these stocks. We pursued the same course with other trusts. On the evening of Dec. 15, 1931, Samuel Insull Jr. advised me of the condition of the company. The next two days were spent in finding the extent of the difficulties. When that was determined it was clear that the securities should be sold, that they had no future. They were sold, the bank carrying the entire obligation. I told Mrs. Busby we would carry the loan 'till hell froze over.'"

Mr. Traylor was asked if the bank at one time did not sell securities and then buy more, when there was no equity left in the estate for the widow.

"Exactly," said Mr. Traylor, "for that reason. We hoped to rehabilitate the estate."

The amount spent here, it was brought out, was $69,000. These stocks have not yet been sold and have appreciated in value, Mr. Traylor said. His attorney, John D. Black, told the court at this point that it was admitted that the executor had no right to do this and that they would turn back the money or the securities to the estate as the court directed. Judge O'Connell interpolated a question, referring to this as "an altruistic investment."

Sale of Other Stocks.

"Isn't it a fact," Mr. Johnson wanted to know, "that you sold other Insull securities before Dec. 15?"

"I can't answer," said Mr. Traylor. "The condition of each estate is different. We do for each what we think best."

"If you were a stockholder in the First National bank and would see the amount lost in the Insull securities you would think we had confidence in it," said Mr. Traylor at another point.

Mr. Traylor testified that he was surprised at the extent of the speculations of Mr. Busby. He pointed out to Mrs. Busby in an interview shortly after the traction man's death on Sept. 8, 1930, he said, that a decline of a point a day in the stocks held on margin would wipe out her equity in the estate in ten or twelve days.

The intimation of Mr. Johnson that Mrs. Busby was a woman unacquainted with business brought this reply from Mr. Traylor:

"On the contrary, she was quite well informed about the condition of the estate. She had a very intelligent grasp of things. I told her not to worry, that we would do our best for her, and she certainly accepted it that way."

Mr. Traylor made it clear that his whole attitude toward these stocks was that if they were all sold at once it would bring a loss; that the bank was justified in holding them until the market improved.

TWO GIRLS FOUND HURT IN PARK DRIVE; POLICE HUNT AUTOIST

Two young women, victims of a hit and run automobile driver, were found unconscious and in critical condition early this morning in the middle of a drive in Humboldt park, near North and Francisco avenues.

The injured are Harriet Hajdak, 20 years old, 1756 North Hoyne avenue, who was taken to the Lutheran Memorial hospital, and Helen Zaleski, 24 years old, 2043 North Lincoln street, who was taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital. Police are seeking the driver.

A youth identified through cards in his pocket as Howard Burr, 17 years old, of Edgewater, Colo., was killed by an automobile this morning in North avenue, just east of the Soo Line railroad tracks in Melrose Park. The driver, Donald Heppes, 740 North East avenue, Oak Park, told county highway police he failed to see the boy, who is believed to have been walking to the Fair.

This death and two others yesterday in Cook county raised the traffic toll since the first of the year to 910. The other victims:

John V. Glass, 21 years old, 4910 Kentucky avenue. Died in the County hospital of injuries received Sunday when he was struck by a moving van as he was crossing Elston avenue near his home.

George Hickman, 50 years old, colored, 1407 North Wells street. Fatally injured yesterday when he was struck by an automobile whose driver ran up on the sidewalk in front of 1513 North Wells street. The driver fled.

The coroner's office last night issued comparative automobile fatality statistics for the first ten months of 1933 and 1932, showing that up to midnight last night there were four fewer deaths in Cook county this year. Although the first few months of 1933 showed a sharp decrease in deaths, the month just closed showed 168 deaths against 91 in October, 1932. The totals were 913 deaths for the first ten months in 1932 and 909 deaths for the same period in 1933.

4 WOMEN JUDGES FINED $100 EACH FOR VOTE FRAUD

Judge J. G. Van Keuren of Pinckneyville, sitting in the County court, yesterday fined five judges of election, four of them women, $100 each for contempt of court in making a false canvass of votes in the election last November. The defendants are Miss Frances Broesin, 4930 North Mozart street; Miss Frances Cranski, 4946 North Mozart street; and Miss Clara Reich, 4915 North California avenue, judges of election in the 3d precinct of the 47th ward; and Mrs. Fay Felwso, 1500 South Kedvale avenue, and Frank Trail, 1505 South Keeler avenue, judges in the 7th precinct of the 23d ward.

EMILY HAS NO STYLE BUT CAN SHE LAY EGGS!

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

A bedraggled looking White Leghorn hen with molting feathers yesterday was announced as the champion egg layer of the international egg laying contest at A Century of Progress, thus providing moralists with food for thought. Her name is Emily, and she is bird No. 1 in pen No. 121 at the Exposition. She is owned by Eustace Coombs of Sedgwick, Kas.

Although no beauty, such as the hens in the pen of Blue Andalusians from Buffalo or the Buff Orpingtons entered by Walter Marmon from his Overbrook farm at Indianapolis, the champion ran up the amazing total of 189.4 points. This means that the 133 eggs she laid in 154 days weighed more than 24 ounces to the dozen.

Runner Up Even Droopier.

Runner up to Emily was a Rhode Island Red, droopier and more down at the heel than the champion. She actually laid more eggs than Emily, a total of 146 in 154 days. But her eggs were not as well developed. They averaged only 23 ounces to the dozen. The Rhode Island Red is No. 7 in pen No. 59, entered by the Massachusetts Record of Performance association of Spencer, Mass.

Bedraggled Emily, however, was the center of interest at the poultry pens yesterday.

"Look at her," said Louis Paul Graham of Niles Center, poultry breeder, who with Harvey C. Wood, executive manager, promoted the egg laying contest. "Like a broken down hag, she's homely and not even very intelligent," he said. "But that type makes the best workers. See that look of persistence in her eye? Now that good looking one that's making all the noise there, she isn't any good. They never are when they look like that."

The Story of Emily.

The champion, whom Mr. Graham on the spur of the moment named Emily, for Owen Wister's motherly heroine in "The Virginian," obligingly told the story of her life as an incentive to other drab home bodies.

"I came here practically unknown, a Kansas girl with a simple Kansas background," she clucked. "I had to compete with those large competent looking dark Australorps from Jonesboro, Ark.; those smug Jersey white giants from Kingston, R. I.; some intolerable white Plymouth Rocks from Hattiesburg, Miss., who talk about their southern ancestry continually, not to mention the Rhode Island Reds from all over New England, and many others.

"I may appear a little frowsy, a little nervous and fussy. Well, it's time we conscientious women got somewhere. It's one blue ribbon for us, anyway, and let those good looking blonde Buff Orpingtons and White Minorcas cackle their heads off now."

The entire 1,586 hens in the egg laying contest, which lasted from the beginning of the World's Fair until last Sunday night, averaged 71 per cent perfect, or 12 per cent higher than in any other contest. The champion pen was that of A. J. O'Donovan Jr. of Katonah, N. Y., a pen of White Leghorns.

World Record Equaled.

AGASSIZ, B. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Dauntless Derren, white leghorn pullet, equaled the world's record in egg laying today by depositing her 357th egg in 365 days. The achievement placed her on par with No Drone 5-H, owned by W. Whiting of Port Kells, B. C. The eggs which brought fame to Dauntless Derreen scaled 26½ ounces to the dozen.

90 Days in Bridewell for Claiming Kinship

Chris Miller, 53 years old, 1321 West Washington boulevard, appeared Monday in the office of J. G. Luhrsen, president of the American Traffic Dispatchers' association, 10 East Huron street. He claimed to be a relative of Luhrsen and gave names of members of Luhrsen's relatives in Germany. Luhrsen recalled that he had given Miller $10 on a similar occasion nine years ago. Miller was sentenced to serve 90 days in the Bridewell yesterday on a charge of impersonating another person, by Judge Howard W. Hayes in the Chicago avenue court.

Pick Champion Egg Layer at Fair

PRANKSTERS GIVE POLICE FORCE A BUSY HALLOWEEN

Aided by a bright moon and ideal Indian summer weather, the Halloween spirit ran rampant over all the city last night, much to the glee of prankish youngsters and the dismay of storekeepers, motorists, policemen, and firemen.

The celebration was, on the whole, a little more colorful than usual and also a bit more mischievous, with considerable petty property damage resulting. Wagons were burned, surface car trolley poles were yanked from wires, windows were broken, street car rails were greased, automobiles were chalked and even stripped, and fences were torn down and burned.

To Policeman Dan Leahy of the Woodlawn station the celebration wasn't humorous. Some one with a good arm threw a tomato at him at 61st street and St. Lawrence avenue. The tomato hit him squarely in the face. Policeman John Leyendecker of the Englewood station, nursing a fractured right hand, the result of a brick thrown at him at 73d street and Racine avenue, felt as did Leahy.

The most serious incident of the celebration occurred when William Zimmerman, 7 years old, 1430 Wellington avenue, tried to walk on a picket fence in front of 1440 Wellington avenue. He slipped and impaled himself on a picket. His condition was said to be serious at the Illinois Masonic hospital.

A parade of 10,000 school children, hundreds of them in costume, was held under the auspices of the South Chicago Business Men's association.

In other areas on the south side more than 100 fire alarms were reported. There were only ten actual fires. Many other disturbances were reported.

There were bonfires in North avenue near Crawford, an automobile was burned at North and Lheffield avenues, and there were many other instances of mischief on the north and northwest sides.

The west side was unusually quiet. Of the suburbs Oak Park reported the greatest activity by mischief makers, with many window breakings. Much damage was done to shrubbery, young trees, and lawns. Nearly 300 boys were held at the police station for several hours to keep them off the streets.

HOW TO OBTAIN A MEAL WITHOUT HAVING TO EAT

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Mae West styles and prohibition repeal likely would make Americans a more corpulent race, says Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical association.

"The Mae West renaissance and the cocktail will go hand in hand in adding pounds to the average American," he told the Oklahoma clinical conference here today. "The average highball is equal to three hard-boiled eggs. A cocktail is equal to three slices of bread and butter, and a bottle of beer is equivalent to a plate of ham and eggs."

Two Texans Shot to Death After Ejecting Farm Tenant

Paradise, Wise county, Texas, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Gib Womack, 23, and Coleman Miller, 24, young farmers, were shot to death tonight on the main street here after they had ejected a tenant from a farm owned by their grandfather, J. F. Womack. Tim Harlan, 40, farmer, surrendered a pistol to Deputy Sheriff E. C. Locke, who witnessed the shooting.

NANCY WEIGHS 4½ TONS; THREE STATES QUIVER

Pet of Mr. Getz Despises Trucks; Makes Trouble.

A project something on the scale of the Muscle Shoals or Boulder dam undertakings will be attempted tomorrow at Holland, Mich. An effort will be made to transfer Nancy, a four and one-half ton lady elephant, eight feet high, from the George F. Getz zoo there to the new Chicago zoological gardens near Riverside.

The governors of three states, a few squads of motorcycle policemen armed with rifles, a corps of trainers expert in the art of persuading elephants to do that which they do not wish to do, several scores of men engaged as pushers and pullers, all will join in the tremendous task of getting Nancy from the Michigan zoo to the Illinois zoo. Despite the awesome cast, there was some doubt last night as to whether a successful performance could be put on.

Nancy Just Hates Trucks.

The difficulty of removing Nancy has been caused by her aversion to all forms of automotive transportation. There are no railroads near to the Holland zoo and it is necessary to convey Nancy by truck to her new home. She is one of the collection of animals recently donated by Mr. Getz to the Chicago zoo.

Nancy, it was revealed, especially detests trucks. Some incident in her babyhood caused her to loathe the noisy, sputtering vehicles. Much in the same manner as proud parents encourage an infant in cute tricks which later prove to have outworn their cuteness, the attendants at the Getz zoo encouraged Nancy in her repugnance until she would lift her trunk and give voice to high, piercing squeals whenever a truck so much as passed near her on the highway.

"We thought she was mighty cunning," mourned Mr. Getz yesterday. "Whenever a truck passed by we knew of it because Nancy would raise a rumpus. But it has become a big problem now."

A Camouflage Scheme.

Several tentative attempts to load Nancy aboard a truck in the last few days gave the zoo attendants some idea of the really deep seated hatred entertained by the elephant for automobile trucks. An emergency call was sent out, the thinking minds of the animal industry were put to work, and a truck trailer was ordered which was completed at Brookfield last night.

Under the direction of Mr. Getz this trailer is to be camouflaged with foliage today after it has been driven to Holland. It is Mr. Getz's theory that Nancy may be persuaded to get into the trailer under the delusion that she is entering a leafy grove.

Mr. Getz shuddered when asked what would happen when the truck and trailer got under way and Nancy realized that she was aboard one of her pet aversions.

"We are having motorcycle policemen escort the truck," he explained. "If something should happen and Nancy should get free, they will shoot her down. Although Nancy is as gentle as a child, she might get out of hand in the countryside."

Three Governors Help.

Another obstacle to the passage was overcome when Mr. Getz wired Govs. Comstock, McNutt and Horner of Michigan, Indiana and Illinois for permission to pass the elephant through three states on the trailer. The size of the trailer puts it outside of the transportation laws. He triumphantly displayed permits for the trip from the three governors last night.

"Although," a cynic inquired, "what would a policemen do with an elephant if he did arrest it?"

"We do not expect to put over this trip in a day," Mr Getz stated. "If Nancy objects, we will delay the loading until her nerves are quieted down."

Up until a late hour last night, there had been no suggestion to Mr. Getz that Nancy be made to walk the 125 miles between the two zoos.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 31.—Dr. Benjamin Goldberg of Chicago, associate professor in medicine at the University of Illinois, yesterday was awarded an honorar. professorship in the National University of Mexico here. He has been for some years a recognized authority on the treatment of tuberculosis. Dr. Goldberg is one of fifteen distinguished medical men of the United States, Central and South America invited to participate in the centennial celebration of the National university.

Dr. Goldberg was formerly director of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium at Chicago, and during his tenure succeeded in establishing a remarkably low mortality rate from the disease. He has given special attention to the susceptibility of various races to the white plague, and concentrated on improving economic conditions among Mexicans in Chicago to reduce the large mortality in their ranks from tuberculosis.

U. S. DISCLOSES 2D PRISONER IN $27,500 HOLDUP

The arrest of Albert J. Kator, who has served sentences in Sing Sing prison and in a Georgia chain gang, on charges of participating in a $27,500 mail robbery on Jan. 3 in Minneapolis was disclosed yesterday when Kator was arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and held in bonds of $35,000. Postoffice Inspector C. R. Gant and Jack Stahl arrested Kator, who uses the alias of Louis La Marr, on Monday. "Silent Jim" Ryan, Touhy gangster, was arrested a few days ago on the charge of participating in the same robbery, on the day that he was acquitted by a Criminal court jury of the murder of John Rinella.

QUICK TRUE BILL VOTED IN NORTH SHORE RAPE CASE

Within a few hours after his arrest yesterday by Police Chief Edward Moroney of Highland Park, Robert Wetzel, 26 years old, was indicted by the Lake county grand jury at Waukegan on the charge of raping a 13 year old girl. He and the girl both live in Highland Park. The alleged rape took place Oct. 21, but the girl did not tell her parents about it for several days. Wetzel was also indicted on a charge of contributing to delinquency.

STRIKE TIES UP COLLECTION OF LOOP GARBAGE

A wage dispute involving a total of $4.20 a day yesterday caused Michael Carrozzo, boss of the street laborers' union, to call out on strike 100 laborers engaged in loading garbage on city trucks in the 1st, 2d, 3d, and 4th wards. The strike tied up all garbage collections in the loop and on the near south side.

The dispute grew out of the campaign of Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt for lower rates for disposal of city garbage. Recently the city has been dumping its garbage in pits at 103d street and Stony Island avenue, for which it paid 17 cents a cubic yard; at Narragansett and Grand avenues, at 22½ cents a yard; and in the old Illinois and Michigan canal, at no cost.

Recently, because the canal is nearly filled, Commissioner Hewitt gave the M. Huber company a contract to haul garbage away from a loading station at 25th street and the Illinois Central tracks, at 25 cents a cubic yard. The company was also to pay two city civil service laborers, members of Carrozzo's union, $5.60 a day each. Carrozzo called the strike to force the Huber company to replace these two men with other members of his union who get $7.70 a day.

"Who's afraid of the big bad wolf!"
With all due apologies to Walt Disney. While his little boy pigs are taking the nation by storm we happened to wonder what the little girl pigs would be a-doing! And we had a bright idea! They'd be keeping the big bad wolf from the door with none other than Stevens Accessories!

This little pig will huff and puff
And put the wolf to shame just to show off her new evening cigarette case of enamel with its smart dashes of marcasite. This case is an old smoothie, it's so flat and sophisticated and it holds a goodly number of cigarettes. Black, of course, for chic.

FOES OF RELIEF BONDS WIN COUP; HOUSE RECESSES

U. S. Administrator Fails to Turn Tide.

BY PARKE BROWN,
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Starting the fifth week of the special session today, the Illinois house of representatives suddenly quit work until tomorrow without any attempt to pass the Graham bills for the 30 million dollar winter charity plan.

The action was taken in a flurry of excitement following a coup by the minority opposition to the plan, which put things back just about where they were when the session opened on Oct. 3. The administration forces stood almost silently by while that victory was being recorded against them and then decided hurriedly on an overnight recess.

This resumption of the deadlock in an intensified form was brought about by house action which in effect struck out the amendments to the Lantz counter-proposal bills which had been inserted in the senate before that body passed the measures. One of the results, it is believed, will be the complete slaughter of the Lantz idea, but another is a severe upset for the plan of operation backed by the administration and the leaders of Democratic majorities of both houses.

Federal Relief Chief Speaks.

The sudden termination of the day's proceedings followed a new wave of optimism among the bond plan advocates caused by the appearance before the house of Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator. Upon invitation he discussed the attitude of the national administration concerning Illinois doing its part in relief work.

Except by implication he delivered no ultimatum. He said he had come to "ask" rather than "tell" the legislators to help meet the problems of the approaching winter. And he said it was not within his province to tell them just what fund raising method they should adopt.

Despite his silence so far as advocating the bond plan was concerned, the majority leaders were cheered by what they deemed the effect of his visit. Thus they appeared more dumbfounded than would otherwise have been the case when, upon the motion of Frank W. McClure [Dem., Abingdon], the senate amendments were stricken from the Lantz bills.

Motions Are Adopted.

The first of McClure's motions was adopted, 77 to 52, on a rising vote, more than a score of Democrats joining with the hostile Republican forces to achieve the result. Then his succeeding motions were passed by viva voce votes without argument.

Speaker Roe had opened the door for the coup by ruling against a point of order made last week that the changes proposed by McClure would put the Lantz bills outside the call. At that time Democratic leaders announced that McClure's efforts would be beaten easily.

The restoration of the Lantz program to its original form means that the bills now provide that Chicago must levy an additional tax on general property to care for all its own poor. And similar mandatory duty is imposed upon seventeen counties in the state now under township organization.

The Graham bond issue bills were squeezed through the senate only upon an agreement whereby the Lantz bills were passed there in revised form. That compromise now is a nullity and since two of the Graham bills must go to the upper house for concurrence in house amendments, it is doubted whether two-thirds support for that action can be obtained there.

Today's action is believed to doom the Lantz program itself because the house reinserted the emergency clause in the bills to make them effective upon passage.

Given Unusual Attention.

Administrator Hopkins was given unusual attention during his brief visit. All other business was suspended until he arrived on the third floor. When he appeared he was escorted to the rostrum of the house by Gov. Horner, Lieut. Gov. Donovan, United States Senator Dieterich, and State Treasurer Martin.

In presenting him Speaker Roe told the house that he was the "guest" of Illinois, thereby reminding the bellicose minded that he was entitled to courteous treatment. With a few exceptions the warning was effective. When apparently it had been forgotten, Mr. Hopkins handled some unusual questions with ease, more than once turning the laugh on the questioner.

His talk, for it was that more than it was a speech, was marked by the use of such expressions as "chiseling," "hunch" and "hold the bag." After he had talked for fifteen minutes he discussed questions for another half hour, and when he had concluded he was given a rising vote of thanks accompanied by applause.

Talks to Farm Element.

Without referring to the fomenting of opposition to the bond issue plan by the Illinois Agricultural association, the federal spokesman began his talk by underlining the plans of the administration for the further relief of the farmer. He spoke of his work as the head of the surplus relief organization which is intended to purchase farm surpluses and "put them in the kitchens of the unemployed."

"The government," he continued, "is determined to push the recovery program simultaneously on all fronts. Until men go back to work on real jobs, which we are determined they shall, many thousands of them must be given relief. No civilized government can in simple justice fail to care for them pending the return of decent farm prices and industrial jobs.

"I believe that relief should be given as far as possible in the form of work so that the communities will receive a just return for the taxes spent and the unemployed get an opportunity in a self-respecting way to maintain themselves."

Reviews U. S. Aid Received.

In making his point that he was present to "ask Illinois to aid" in meeting conditions, he recited figures on the federal aid already given the state.

"Since the depression started," he said, "the government has made loans of $55,443,721 to the state of Illinois and since May 23 I have granted the state $25,348,957. During this period the state has spent $18,000,000 and the cities and counties have appropriated approximately $11,000,000.

"During the last month the federal government provided all but $200,000 of the 6 million dollars spent on relief in Illinois. We believe this is no reasonable share. I know that you will agree with me that it is not the purposes of this meeting of the legislature to permit Illinois not to take its fair share of burden."

His only platform statement concerning the pledge of Gov. Horner and the delegation which persuaded him in September to turn over further federal funds for Illinois was brief.

"Assurances were given," he said, "that the state would do its part, and upon those assurances I gave the state another 10 million dollars.

He then said that he would make no recommendation concerning the method followed by the state in doing its part.

"It certainly does not devolve upon me," he said, "to suggest to the legislature how it should raise relief funds. There are more than 200,000 families in the state receiving relief. This means a million people are depending upon the action that you are to take."

Republicans Ready for Speaker.

The Republican minority forces appeared to have a set program ready for Mr. Hopkins. Its speakers included Clinton Searle of Rock Island, L. M. Green of Rockford, Fred W. Rennick of Buda, Frank McCarthy of Elgin, and Richard J. Lyons of Mundelein.

"I spoke for 15 minutes and you took six minutes to read your question," was one of the speaker's replies to a long, many-figured hypothetical query by Searle. "You can't expect me to answer it."

"For the life of me," he said to McCarthy, "I can't see why I should sit up nights and be breaking my neck days over these people of Illinois if Illinois isn't going to do anything about it.

"The President has stated his policy very clearly. The United States government doesn't intend to hold this bag. The responsibility belongs fully as much, if not more, to Illinois than it does to the United States."

After Mr. Hopkins left there was another flood of counter proposal bills from the Republican minority, three sets of six bills each looking toward setting aside the bond plan and providing relief funds through use of sales tax and gas tax funds for relief work.

FEARS GANGSTERS

[Acme Photo.]

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Miss Doris Duke, 20 year old tobacco heiress who travels incognito to avoid cranks and possible underworld plots, left here by airplane today when her identity became known.

She had been sightseeing and visiting about San Francisco four days.

When interviewers sought Miss Duke they were turned back by Walker Patterson Inman of Reno, who was identified as half-brother of the heiress.

He indicated precautions were being taken to shield Miss Duke from any possible danger from underworld characters.

TWO CONVICTED OF OBTAINING RELIEF BY FRAUD

One Cheater Gets Thirty Days in Bridewell.

Two men were convicted before Municipal Judge Jay A. Schiller yesterday of obtaining relief funds by fraud. The judge sentenced one to 30 days in jail and ordered the other to make restitution within 90 days. Robert J. Dunham, new chairman of the Illinois emergency relief commission, followed the convictions with an announcement that all relief cheaters are to be removed from the relief rolls.

Jail sentences will be sought for all those on the relief rolls who misrepresented their cases in seeking aid, Mr. Dunham said. "The cleanup campaign is not to be confined to Cook county alone, but will cover the entire state. He appealed to all citizens to send him any information they obtain on cases of relief fraud. He promised quick and thorough investigations and vigorous prosecution.

Sentenced to 30 Days.

Judge Schiller sentenced Tony Rizzo, 5521 South Natoma avenue, to 30 days in the Bridewell for obtaining $235.80 in relief fraudulently. He sentenced Emil Hofer, 843 West 68th street, to make restitution of $183.17 in relief funds within 90 days. The cases were prosecuted by Assistant State's Attorney Harry R. Pasner. James A. Peterson, head of the new fraud investigation department of the relief commission, appeared against the two offenders.

The testimony brought out that Rizzo applied for relief in December, 1932, and went on the relief rolls at once. He said then that he had worked at the Morton Manufacturing company, 5154 Lake street, until the previous July, but that he was then out of work. He is married and his wife has three children by a former marriage. He said neither he nor his wife owned any property other than their home.

Repeats Claims in Affidavit.

The following May Rizzo signed an affidavit making the same claims. Investigation has disclosed that he went back to work for the Morton company the month after he went on the relief rolls and has been working there since then, earning an average of $25 a week. Also it was found that his wife owned a flat building at 900 Milton avenue, a frame building at 5624 South Natoma avenue, and a vacant lot in Archer avenue that is leased to the board of education.

Judge Schiller pointed out that Rizzo made false representations twice to relief authorities, once when asking for aid, and a second time when he signed the affidavit.

"Reluctant as I am to send a man to jail for obtaining more food than he is entitled to, I must do so in such a flagrant case," the judge said.

Hofer was charged with listing a stepdaughter, Dorothy, as a dependent, when in reality she was working and helping support his family. The judge ordered restitution in Hofer's case, saying that he considered it a first offense.

These were the first two convictions for relief frauds. They follow an intensive campaign conducted by THE TRIBUNE for more than a year to eliminate relief cheaters.

"The conviction and jail sentence for fraud in obtaining relief funds from the Cook county bureau of public welfare, which acts as agent of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, by Tony Rizzo marks the beginning of a persistent, intensive drive by the commission to rid the relief rolls of cheating parasites throughout Illinois," Mr. Dunham said.

"Any man or woman who seeks relief money originated by taxation from a public source and obtains it based on withheld information, or misinformation as to the ownership of property, bank deposits, or any source of income, is in reality putting his or her hand into the pockets of the taxpayer and is no better than the person who robs the poor box in a church, as every dollar paid improperly is a dollar withheld from the needy and those for the benefit of whom the commission was created.

To Cover Entire State.

"The commission has created a flying squadron of investigators, free to come and go anywhere they will throughout Cook county and to follow up any lead to detect anyone improperly receiving relief. The policy of running to earth these fraudulent relief consumers will be gradually extended to all the downstate counties until every county of the state is covered.

"I am asking the case workers in every relief station in Cook county to make an intensive drive during the months of November and December to clean up our rolls of the unworthy and the undeserving. The activities of the commission's representatives will be unremitting and every imposter will meet not only a demand for the full restitution of funds improperly received, but will find a demand for a jail sentence staring him in the face.

"The Illinois Emergency Relief commission is determined that the people of the state must be assured that every dollar has been expended judiciously and honestly and only for the purpose which brought the commission into being.

"The commission's problem is a cooperative one and we earnestly solicit from all sincere people in the community any knowledge or information as to undeserving persons receiving relief, which cases will be carefully investigated and vigorous prosecution will follow if the conditions warrant. I therefore urge all such citizens to address letters to me stating facts, which will be treated as confidential if the writer so desires.

"The coöperation of the public is the keynote of this matter."

MRS. EVALYN M'LEAN WITHDRAWS DIVORCE SUIT AT WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, estranged wife of Edward B. McLean, former Washington and Cincinnati publisher, has withdrawn divorce proceedings in the District of Columbia Supreme court.

This action was taken two weeks ago, but was not made public until today. McLean was declared insane by a sheriff's jury yesterday at Towson, Md.

Mrs. McLean, in her lunacy petition filed against her husband, asked that a committee be appointed to manage his property. Action on this request is yet to be taken by the court at Towson.

The principal of McLean's trust estate is valued at about $5,000,000 and his personal property at $50,000, according to former Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, one of the three attorneys for Mrs. McLean. The income from the publisher's trust estate is said to total $666 a week.

WOODROW WILSON WIDOW CLOSING JEWELRY STORE

Galt & Bro. in Business for 131 Years.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Galt & Brother, 131 year old jewelry firm of which Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is sole owner, will start a "going out of business" sale tomorrow—a depression liquidation.

Gone are the days when Galts frequently handled as high as $200,000 worth of jewelry across the counter to regular customers, who weren't even required to sign receipts.

No longer do Washington hosts give parties to 50 or 75 guests with a $20 Galt gift as souvenir for each.

Incomes from great estates aren't going into glittering diamonds to be worn at the next ball or reception.

Trade Once Flourished.

So complete has been the stoppage of this form of trade, on which Galt's has flourished since before the war of 1812, that Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the world war President, "wants to liquidate her investment," William H. Wright, her store manager, says.

No compromise will she make with latter-day "commercialism." If some buyer would agree to operate the store as ethically as it always has been operated, and according to the same policies that made it famous, Wright said, "a very advantageous buy" might be made, but under no conditions would it be sold to any one who might market low-grade merchandise under the Galt name.

"A business that has lived clean for 131 years is not going to die dirty," Wright said.

Business Founded in 1802.

Since its founding in Alexandria, Va., in 1802, the firm has never been out of the hands of the Galt family. Mrs. Wilson inherited it from her first husband, Norman Galt, in 1908, eight years before she married President Wilson. It has been on Pennsylvania avenue since moving in from Virginia in 1825, and has been in its present location, at the corner of Eleventh and Pennsylvania avenue, since 1868.

Since her husband's death, Mrs. Wilson has continued to live in her home at 2340 S street, to which she and Woodrow Wilson moved when they left the White House.

TWO U. S. PRISONERS FLEE PATROL WAGON WITH AID OF WOMAN

Two federal prisoners, both known as accomplished counterfeiters, with the aid of a woman escaped last night from a patrol wagon as they were being conveyed from the United States courthouse to the county jail under guard of deputy federal marshals.

The men, Richard Adams and John Stadig, were handcuffed before the trip started. In the wagon with them were five other men and four women. One of the women, according to Chicago policemen, sat on the lap of Adams and enabled him to remove the handcuffs from his wrists and those of Stadig.

Seated near the rear door of the patrol was Deputy Marshal Henry Glaubke. Seizing a favorable opportunity when Glaubke looked out at a small boy who was struck by the patrol at Jackson boulevard and Racine avenue, Adams and Stadig struck the deputy down and leaped out. Glaubke and Deputy Marshal Ben Goldberg, who had been on the driver's seat, pursued the fugitives and fired several shots at them, but missed. The other prisoners were kept in the patrol wagon by Deputy Marshal Edward Smith, the driver.

An investigation of a report that the escape had been carefully planned was started by Chief Deputy Marshal Edward A. King. Adams was an escaped prisoner from the Staten Island, N. Y., detention quarters of the department of justice. Stadig was held to the federal grand jury yesterday in bonds of $60,000 as a counterfeiter.

BANDITS INVADE POLICE STATION; KIDNAP 29 COPS

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Nov. 1.—[Wednesday.]—About 100 bandits, dressed in Manchukuo military uniforms and carrying Manchukuo flags, kidnaped 29 policemen today from a prefectural police station near Fushun.

Entering the station without arousing suspicion, they held up the staff, demanded guns and ammunition, shot the chief of police, and ransacked the station.

When they fled with their captives they were hotly pursued by Japanese troops, but made their escape into the mountains.

Woman Held Insane at Hearing in Lake Forest

County Judge Perry L. Persons of Lake county yesterday adjudged Mrs. Emma Fitz Hugh Packard insane at a hearing held in her home at 360 North Mayflower road, Lake Forest. He named her mother, Mrs. Isabelle Scribner Fitz Hugh, her custodian. Mrs. Packard has been in ill health for several years, Judge Persons was told, and the sanity hearing was necessary in order to settle the estate of her father, Carter Harrison Fitz Hugh, insurance broker.

4 INMATES QUIT MICHIGAN CITY (INDIANA) PRISON

Honor Farm Scene of New Escapes.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Four prisoners—the fourteenth in the last 40 days—escaped from the Indiana state prison at Michigan City in the last few days.

One of the missing prisoners is Charles Harris, 35, from Kosciuske county, serving a three to ten year sentence for second degree burglary, and three others.

The others are John Gorham of Fort Wayne; Walter Shepard of Indianapolis, and Elmer Baker of Boone county. Gorham entered prison about four months ago to serve a 1 to 5 year term for carrying concealed weapons. Shepard had been in prison since January, 1930, serving out a 5 to 21 year term for robbery. Baker, charged with petty larceny and sentenced to 1 to 5 years, had been confined since February, 1930. They left the honor farm today.

Harris Fades Away.

Harris, working as a truck driver on one of the prison farms southwest of Michigan City, was missed at roll call yesterday. It was assumed he disappeared some time Sunday. He was regarded today as officially missing. Harris was sentenced Oct. 6, 1932.

Ten other prisoners escaped Sept. 26 after seriously wounding a prison clerk and taking as hostage Charles Neal, sheriff of Harrison county, who had just brought in a prisoner from Corydon.

One of those ten, James Clark, was caught a few days later in Hammond, and another, Joseph Jenkins, was shot and killed on a street in Beanblossom, by a group of citizens.

New Highway Barricades.

New machine gun barricades at important spots in highways were formed tonight. Al Feeney, state director of safety, who is in general charge of the National Guard and state police anti-crime movements, withheld the exact situation of the new barricade sites. But the guardsmen today established a machine gun barricade on United States road 31, near the Hamilton Tipton county line.

Angry Soldier Smashes Glass; Bleeds to Death

Belleville, Ill., Oct. 31.—(AP)—In a fit of anger during a quarrel with a woman he was visiting, Sergt. Lawrence Soloway, 35, on furlough from Camp Custer, Mich., drove his fist through a door glass yesterday and bled to death from a severed artery. Witnesses said he had been drinking.

EXAMINE BOOKS TODAY IN INDIANA UTILITY INQUIRY

Prosecutor Robert G. Estill of Lake county, Indiana, will begin an examination today of the books and records of the Northern Indian Public Service company to sift charges that the company's funds were transferred to Insull holding companies.

The accusations were made by Howard W. Duncan, former assistant treasurer of the north Indiana utility, who is now out on bond awaiting a sentence on a plea of guilty to embezzlement of $1,500 of the company's money. He has confessed total defalcations of $132,000. Duncan will sit with Prosecutor Estill during the examination of the records in the Hammond offices of the company.

Duncan made his charges of corporate misdeeds when arraigned before Judge W. J. Murray at Crown Point two weeks ago. He offered to submit his evidence to the Lake county grand jury and his offer was accepted. The federal authorities also have begun an inquiry to determine whether any of the funds of the Indiana company went to the bankrupt Corporation Securities company.

6 Foot Snake Recaptured; Pasadena Sighs with Relief

Pasadena, Cal., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Pasadena sighed with relief today for Elmer, a six foot trained boaconstrictor, was safe at home. Elmer's owner, C. C. Stickney, took him for an automobile ride on Sunday and "lost" him when the cage came open. Today a pedestrian saw the reptile dangling from a parkway tree. Stickney whistled and Elmer slithered down the tree and crawled into his cage.

He was represented by Attorney George Crane. The relatives said friends raised funds to employ private counsel and it caused embarrassment to them by saying the public defender handled the case.

Zeppelin Reaches Spain on Flight from Chicago

New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin arrived at Seville, Spain, at 3 p. m. [central standard time] today on its flight from Chicago, a wireless message to Radio Marine corporation said.

A radiogram from Mrs. Peter Holland, 74 years old "flying grandmother" from Chicago who is traveling to Germany on the Graf Zeppelin, was received yesterday by one of her six grandchildren, William Young, 1548 East 61st street, a son of J. W. Young, owner of an art gallery at 428 North Michigan avenue. The message congratulated William, a High Park High senior, on his 17th birthday, which he celebrated yesterday.

WEST SIDE GROUP OPPOSES CHANGES IN STREET NAMES

The West Central association, in a resolution sent to Mayor Kelly and the city council yesterday, protested against the policy of changing street names on the ground that such changes result in confusion and loss of money to business houses affected.

Before any changes are made, the association declared, the matter should be submitted to an impartial and non-salaried citizens' advisory commission.

The association said that distinguished personages could be honored in other ways than by naming streets after them. Tablets or plaques bearing their names and deeds could be placed on public buildings, on bridges or in parks, or an avenue of such tablets could be established as a sort of street of fame, the association suggested.

SAMUEL INSULL FREED BY GREECE; HELD INNOCENT

Fugitive Is Praised by the Judges in Decision.

with Insull after the hearing, and his lawyers kissed him on both cheeks.

The court's decision was in substance that Insull had not acted in bad faith, even if he had violated the letter of the bankruptcy laws, and that there was no fraudulent intention in his payment of $558,000 in dividends on Corporation Securities company stock nor in transferring collateral for loans.

The decision was made up of nineteen typewritten pages in Greek and took President Panegyrakis of the court 40 minutes to read. It was heavy in references and explanations of what constitutes extradition.

It is understood that the decision was reached with three judges against and two for extradition. President Panegyrakis, who is a Liberal, and one other judge, who is a Populist, favored extradition.

Decision Expected in Athens.

To those who had followed the last ten days' complexities, this decision was not unexpected and American observers had begun to look for an unfavorable decision, especially when they saw the long delays and adjournments taking place.

There appeared no doubt, either, at the last session of court that the mere mass action of Insull's three lawyers, who talked fifteen hours against less than three hours by the prosecutor, would have an important bearing on the case.

Since early this morning it was everybody's secret in Athens that Insull would not be extradited.

Matters over which diplomatic vexations might arise in view of this second fiasco in the effort to extradite Insull after such a long and careful preparation by United States authorities are said to be loan negotiations on which Greece is seeking favorable terms. American funds have also gone largely into subscriptions to near east relief work which has been a great aid to Greece. Greece is also seeking to get in on American markets with exports of wine and liquors as soon as prohibition is lifted.

SUMMARY OF DECISION

The decision whitewashing Insull and proclaiming him a great benefactor of humanity began with a statement that the modern conception of extradition gives the court right to examine the substance of the charges of the demanding country to see whether they are well founded.

Then it said the court could not consider the claims of Insull's lawyers that the charges against Insull do not constitute a crime under American laws, but would confine the examination strictly to whether Insull's acts constitute a violation of Greek law.

After citing five counts in the American indictment the court decision said that these charges are covered by Greek commercial law on bankruptcy in articles 680 and 685, which makes it an offense to pay dividends when a company is bankrupt. But, said the decision, there must be proved specifically that fraudulent intent was involved in the act. It maintained that documents submitted by the United States do not prove there was fraudulent intent.

Calls Insull "Great Man."

The decision adds:

"The court has ascertained that the defendant is already an old man suffering from a serious disease; that he has been a great business man, a great engineer, and a collaborator with Edison; that he is a great man who has worked for industrial progress in the world and that he is a man who succeeded in producing cheaper electric power, and who extended the use of electricity for home and industrial uses.

"Insull established an electrical empire worth 3 billion dollars and his business activities served humanity in various ways. He so conducted himself that every one believed his very name would guarantee prosperity and the public rushed to buy his shares simply because they bore Insull's name. Thus he became the controlling power of 52 corporations, most of which are flourishing today."

The decision then reviewed the history of the organization of the Corporation Securities company and the reasons for it and concluded that Insull had complete confidence in the future of his group of companies and had no fraudulent intentions when he gathered up the savings of small investors in stock purchases and used the money to keep control over his companies.

Says Public Was Cheated.

Nor, said the decision, does the fact that Insull contracted a loan under his personal signature for the needs of his corporation prove that he had any fraudulent intent.

"It leaves the impression that the unfortunate end of the career of the defendant has come tragically and has hurt him with undeserved cruelty in view of his previous humanitarian efforts," the decision added.

Then the decision continued:

"It is indisputable, however, that the defendant and others have not hesitated to commit an act condemned by ethics and punished by laws everywhere—namely, the act of maintaining fictitious values for stocks. Thus the public was cheated into the belief that the stocks had value when they were worthless. Though such acts are immoral and not becoming to those who respect themselves, still they are not unusual in the operations of corporations in which an effort to save credit is predominant."

Cites Economic Collapse.

The decision went on to say that Insull's difficulties arose under the special circumstances of an economic collapse and that he did everything to save the companies and their credit in an admirable way.

The document then dealt with Insull's transfers of collateral to banks to get loans. It said:

"Regarding the other counts in the indictment on the transfers of securities, it should be noted that there was no evidence that these transfers were made because of any ties of interest on the part of Insull to safeguard the interests of bankers as against the interests of small investors. The bankers' policy of putting pressure on borrowers and asking for more collateral obliged the defendant to proceed to these transfers to save his corporation from a premature death."

Says Bankers Forced Deal.

Referring to Insull's efforts to negotiate standstill loans from the bankers, the decision asserted:

"But the categorical refusal of the bankers obliged the defendant to agree to transfer more collateral in order to save what could be saved in looking forward to a better future. By such actions the defendant certainly did not have fraudulent intentions nor did he aim to break the bankruptcy law.

"It should be remembered that the bankruptcy was declared many months after the company became insolvent and the prosecution of Insull came still later. Insull left the country with the blessings of a large number of the community and gave over before his flight all his fortune and all his real estate."

Then the decision almost gave an open invitation to the United States to supply more proof of Insull's guilt in a new extradition demand. It concludes:

"From all said considerations, the court comes to the conclusion, for the present, at least, that no evidence has been produced justifying commitment for trial of the person claimed."

Therefore the court ordered Insull's immediate release.

THE COURTROOM SCENE

Today's was the fifth session of the Greek court and was a fitting climax to the Aristophanic scenes enacted in previous hearings. It was an exact duplication of what took place last Dec. 27, when Insull was freed the first time on a request for extradition on an Illinois indictment charging larceny and embezzlement.

Insull and Denis Lazarimos, one of his lawyers, came into the tiny, stifling courtroom just before 5 p. m. while another set of Greek judges was settling a squabble arising out of evicted tenants.

Insull shook hands with Harness and sat down on a wooden bench almost beside him. Later Insull moved away from Harness. The latter looked uneasy and grave about the outcome of the case. Insull's face had a hectic flush and he appeared worn and tired. Gradually the court filled with a curious nondescript looking crowd such as is generally seen in the highest gallery at a vaudeville show.

Insull sat in a huddle with five lawyers—three full time and two assistants. At 5 o'clock the presiding judge, Panegyrakis, came in and rang the dinner bell. There was a hush in the court. Panegyrakis called Insull to the bar and asked him if he had anything to add to the case. Then he started reading the 19 page decision, which was roughly drafted in writing on scrap paper.

The whole courtroom was tense as Panegyrakis' voice droned through the long document. Prosecutor Reganakos sat with a sphinxlike look on his face. The faces of Insull and the lawyers were also studies in expression as Panegyrakis continued.

"Insull was a victim of the economic depression. He had no fraudulent intent and left all his fortune to his creditors," said the droning voice.

Insull Smiles at Praise.

Then Panegyrakis praised Insull as a benefactor and for having made every admirable effort before the deluge struck him down.

Lazarimos whispered in Insull's ear and Insull wore a broad smile from then on.

Refusal of extradition was forecast long before Panegyrakis finished reading and there was a movement by the crowd. When the reading ended howling cheers were set up by the crowd, which Insull's lawyers quickly turned around to hush up. Then they grabbed Insull and embraced him in accordance with Greek custom.

Meanwhile, rooms had already been reserved for him at the Hotel Grand Bretagne and Insull slipped out as quickly as he could and got into the waiting car.

One of Insull's first acts was to send several telegrams and cables to the United States and other countries announcing his victory.

Copies of today's decision will be sent by the court to the ministry of justice, which will forward it to the American legation here through the foreign ministry. There is no appeal from the court's decision, but the United States may again seek Insull's extradition on other charges.

U. S. MAY DROP CASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—The United States government apparently is not going to make a second attempt to bring Samuel Insull back from Greece to stand trial in Chicago.

Defeated today by the decision of the Greek Court of Appeals, federal lawyers were disposed to believe that the case against Insull was closed and that he is definitely beyond the immediate reach of either the United States or the state of Illinois, which conducted the first attempt to return the fugitive utilities magnate.

A final decision, however, will await the receipt here of a full report from Greece, where Forrest Harness, special assistant to the attorney general, who conducted the case for the United States, is preparing a report. Officials of the department of justice said they were particularly anxious to examine the grounds on which the Greek court freed Insull.

Martin Insull Elated.

ORILLA, Ont., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Martin J. Insull, whom Cook county, Illinois, authorities seek to bring to trial on charges of embezzlement and grand larceny, said today he was "elated" over the refusal of Greece to permit the extradition of his brother, Samuel. Justice A. C. Kingstone is expected to hand down in a few days his decision in the extradition proceedings against Martin Insull.

LAWYER BARES AID TO INSULL

Attorney Millard B. Kennedy, 1 North La Salle street, whose deposition was submitted to the Greek court in the Samuel Insull extradition proceedings, made the document public yesterday. The deposition, headed: "In the District court of the United States of America for the northern district of Illinois, eastern division," was sworn to before Len Young Smith, a notary public.

Mr. Kennedy gave as his opinion that the laws of Illinois on Sept. 15, 1931, and Sept. 21, 1931, did not prohibit the distribution of paid-in surplus or capital surplus in the form of dividends to shareholders. This was one of the points on which the federal government sought Insull's return.

"The laws of the state of Illinois in force on such dates made no distinction between the use of paid in surplus, capital surplus and earned surplus, so far as its availability for dividends was concerned, on either common shares or preferred shares," the attorney said.

"It is my opinion," he added, "that directors of a corporation who in 1931 declared dividends while a corporation was insolvent, which dividends were paid while the corporation was in such insolvent condition, did not violate the laws of the state of Illinois in declaring such dividends, provided they relied in good faith in the declaration of such dividends upon the books of account of such corporation or upon a statement presented to them and represented to be correct by the officer in charge of the books of account of such corporation or certified by a public accountant to fairly reflect the financial condition of such corporation, and where from such books of account or statement it appeared that the corporation was in a financial position to pay such dividends."

Attorney Kennedy was active in the drafting of the present Illinois corporation act which prohibits payment of dividends out of unearned surplus. This law was passed at the last session of the legislature.

HERE'S HISTORY OF INSULL FIGHT TO STAY ABROAD

Samuel Insull, monarch of a utilities kingdom that failed, was living in Paris when a Cook county, Illinois, grand jury on Sept. 4, 1932, indicted him for larceny, embezzlement, and larceny by bailee.

The United States government immediately took a hand in the proceedings and one month later, on Oct. 8, the American embassy in Paris handed the French foreign office a request for his provisional arrest.

But the action came too late. Insull already had quietly left Paris. He went to Italy, but remained there only a short time, then went on to Greece.

The United States asked the Greek government to extradite the Chicagoan on the basis of the Illinois indictment, but encountered difficulties, due to the fact that an extradition treaty was then only in process of negotiation between the two governments.

The Greek courts refused the American request in a verdict rendered on Dec. 27, 1932. In that decision the court took consideration that the transfer of money in the Midwest Utilities company by Insull to the brokers of Martin J. Insull, his brother, was a loan, the purpose of which was to save the price of stock in which the company was greatly interested.

The ruling held that Insull had no fraudulent intention, that he committed no offense, and that, therefore, the petition for extradition should be rejected and the arrest warrant annulled.

The United States department of justice renewed the fight, however, on Aug. 25, 1933, with a formal rquest to the Greek government for Insull's extradition upon a new indictment.

This new indictment charged the former utilities operator with violation of the bankruptcy laws. The indictment was also voted in Chicago, but this time by a federal grand jury. The present hearing was based upon this request.

U.S. PROSECUTION OF INSULL CASES WILL GO ON HERE

Other Defendants to Be Tried, Green Says.

The refusal yesterday of the Greek Appellate court in Athens to extradite Samuel Insull to the United States on a federal indictment charging bankruptcy frauds will not prevent the trial of Insull's associates on two indictments returned by federal grand juries in Chicago, District Attorney Dwight H. Green announced.

"I am disappointed in the ruling of the Greek court," Prosecutor Green said, "but this will not deter prosecution of the Insull cases. We will proceed."

Basis of the Indictments.

Both of the federal indictments grew out of the operation of the Corporation Securities company, bankrupt Insull investment trust.

One indictment charges Samuel Insull, his son, Samuel Jr., the elder Insull's brother, Martin J. Insull, who is resisting extradition from Canada, and 16 others with use of the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of the common stock of the investment trust. The second indictment charges the three Insulls and eight others with transfer of assets of the company with the purpose of defeating the operation of the bankruptcy act.

The mail fraud case is to be tried first. The defense lawyers have entered a motion for a bill of particulars, which is to be argued in the federal court on Dec. 1.

Court Right, Attorney Says.

"I feel the Greek court's action is right," commented Floyd Thompson, one of Insull's Chicago lawyers, when he learned of the ruling yesterday. "I have studied the statutes and decisions of the United States courts and Greek courts, and I have studied the indictments, and it is my honest opinion that there is no merit in the prosecution. A year ago the federal Circuit Court of Appeals in New York held in a similar case that there could be no prosecution."

State's Attorney Courtney has pending in his office a state indictment charging Samuel and Martin Insull, among others, with embezzlement in connection with advances made by Insull companies to bolster Martin Insull's brokerage accounts. A Greek court refused last year to extradite Insull on this charge.

Asked for comment yesterday on the new ruling of the Greek court, State's Attorney Courtney said: "That's all up to the government."

Bandits Raid Roadhouse on Milwaukee Avenue

Bandits late last night raided the Lone Star inn, Milwaukee avenue near Waukegan road, Niles, held up the owner, Charles Horton, and a dozen patrons, and escaped with an unreported amount of loot. County highway police said that Horton gave them little information on the crime and that they could not learn who was robbed nor how much money was lost.

REPORTS INSULL WILL TAKE GREEK NAME AND RUN FOR OFFICE

Samuel Insull intends to take a Greek name, become a citizen of that nation, and stand as a candidate for its parliament, according to reports received yesterday by Peter S. Lambros, publisher of the Greek Star, from his correspondent in Athens.

The correspondent reported that Insull is popular with the Greeks because of the prosperity which he has brought to the citizens of Athens in the form of enormous legal fees to members of the Greek bar, income to hotels and guides from tourists who have flocked to the country, and the millions of drachmas which have accrued in telegraph and cable tolls on dispatches to American newspapers.

Writing before the Greek Appellate court refused yesterday to extradite Insul to the United States, the correspondent predicted that this popularity, which has won Insull the title among Athenians of the "New Prometheus," would be a decisive factor in influencing the ruling of the court.

"According to report," wrote the correspondent, "Insull will soon change his name to Insullopoulos and stand for the parliament. Already there is keen rivalry between the Venizelist and Royalist parties to enroll him as their candidate. It is even rumored that he may get a seat in the cabinet."

POLICE BUREAU HEAD SENTENCED IN TAXI DISPUTE

Municipal Judge Eugene Holland, sitting in the Traffic court, yesterday sentenced Lieut. James J. Killackey, head of the police vehicle bureau, to 15 days in jail for contempt of court. A stay of mittimus until tomorrow was arranged to permit Lieut. Killackey to arrange for an appeal.

The sentence grew out of Judge Holland's controversy with police over arrest of drivers for the Eagle Taxi company, a new cooperative, low rate concern which is operating without city permits. Monday Judge Holland imposed 10 day sentences on Policemen Rocco Filetti and William Foley of the vehicle bureau for arresting Eagle drivers. The judge had ordered that the men who had once been arrested and given continuances before him not be molested until their cases had been disposed of.

Yesterday Lieut. Killackey, accompanied by Police Commissioner Allman, appeared before Judge Holland and admitted that he had ordered the arrests. Judge Holland then sentenced him, announcing at the same time that he would take no action against Commissioner Allman because the commissioner was not in court when he ordered the arrests stopped.

Commissioner Allman said nothing in court. After the session was over he said: "I wasted two hours in Judge Holland's court."

The police order for the arrest of Eagle drivers was not countermanded. Last night Policemen Foley and Filetti, unabashed, took into custody two cabmen. They are Edward Schwandt, 4202 North Kimball avenue, and Harry Raitz, 1231 Nelson street. Both were locked up at the Sheffield avenue police station.

when he cleans your teeth

Outlasts Tooth Paste 2 to 1

THERE is nothing known that will clean and polish teeth so quickly and leave them so gleamingly white—as POWDER.

That is why your dentist, when cleaning your teeth, as you know—always uses powder.

As it is only the powder part of any dentifrice that cleans, a dentifrice that is ALL POWDER just naturally cleans best.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder is ALL POWDER—100% cleansing properties. This is more than twice the cleansing properties of tooth pastes.

● Dull Teeth Become White

Dentists everywhere recommend Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder, because—teeth simply cannot remain dull and film coated when it is used.

It cleans off all stains and tartar, and polishes the teeth in a harmless and practical way that leaves them sparkling—many shades whiter.

● No Grit—No Pumice

Free from all grit or pumice, Dr. Lyon's cannot possibly scratch, or injure the softest enamel, as years of constant use have shown.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder keeps your teeth REALLY CLEAN and clean teeth mean—firm, healthy gums, freedom from pyorrhea and the least possible tooth decay.

● Lasts Longer—Costs Less

Once you use Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder, you will never be satisfied to use anything else. It leaves your teeth feeling so much cleaner, your mouth so refreshed, and your breath so sweet and pure.

Dr. Lyon's is not only doubly efficient, but it costs only half as much to use. Even a small package lasts twice as long as a tube of tooth paste.

EXPERTS PLAN NEW CURRENCY BACKED BY GOLD

Offer Alternative to Idea of Roosevelt.

bills came due, the treasury would pay them in gold, but under the reduced valuation. Thus the treasury, in the event of a 50 per cent devaluation, would pay the reserve banks only half as much gold as it had taken three days prior.

The remainder of the gold, retained by the treasury, could be used for the issuance of new gold backed currency by the treasury, or paid out in settlement of government negotiations, spent for public works or to reduce the tax burden.

Banks Without Gold.

This plan, devised by the treasury experts, would require enabling legislation, to permit the federal reserve banks, during the three day period, to be without gold. The sound money advocates believe, however, that if the President adopts the plan he will have little trouble obtaining enabling bills from congress when it convenes in January.

The sound money men declare also that such action will forestall action by congress to set the government on the dangerous road to the printing press money type of inflation. If the government will inflate the currency by fixing a new and definite gold valuation of the dollar, thus paving the way for issuance of sound and gold backed currency, there is no danger of the inflationary excesses which brought disaster to Germany, it is declared.

While the President's present program of purchasing gold in foreign markets was hitting several snags today, the indications were that he intends to give it a full test if the obstacles can be overcome.

Buying Not Yet Begun.

Legal difficulties in setting up the program for the actual purchases were encountered, but were not regarded as insurmountable, it was learned. Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, through which the purchases are to be made, said this evening, after a meeting of the President's recovery council, that "progress was being made." He asserted that he expected, within a day or two, to begin the purchases of gold in Paris, Berlin, London and other foreign capitals.

The purchases were to be made through the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, but tonight it was said that they probably would be made through the large member banks of the federal reserve system.

The more serious difficulty was in the perils of a possible currency war with Great Britain particularly, and with other nations also. England was said to have obtained a promise from the President's advisers that a way around a currency war would be found, but difficulties were in the way of that solution.

REFUSES TO SET ASIDE SAM HUNT BOND FORFEITURE

Municipal Judge Matthew D. Hartigan yesterday refused to set aside the forfeiture of $11,000 in bonds posted for Sam Hunt, the "golf bag gunman," even though Hunt later surrendered and is now serving six months in the Bridewell for carrying concealed weapons.

"Hunt did not appear and surrender until it pleased him to do so," replied Judge Hartigan to the plea that the forfeitures be set aside because Hunt was now in custody. "Neither Hunt nor any other public enemy can be a law unto himself, appearing in court only when he wishes. I will not encourage bondsmen in obtaining the release of gunmen for whose appearance they cannot vouch."

The bondsmen are Harry Goodman, 1132 East 45th street, who posted $10,000 for Hunt on the concealed weapons charge, and Harry Volin, 1137 South State street, who posted $1,000 on a vagrancy charge.

NRA Headquarters Likened to Mad Hatter's Tea Party

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Were you at the tea party the Mad Hatter gave in "Alice in Wonderland?"

Neither was I.

But I feel as if I'd just left it. For I've spent the day at the NRA headquarters, over on the fourth floor of the Commerce building.

Under my mind is a dizzy blue. Long corridors leading to infinity, flanked by thousands of doors, each placarded with a name and a title. Professors with horn-rimmed glasses and Phi Beta Kappa keys. Millionaires with Newport accents. Labor leaders who chew. The distracted elevator girl trying to crowd all the members of the cloak and suit industry into one car so they can talk over their code in cozy fashion. Typewriters clicking; buzzers buzzing; economists thinking.

Yes, It's Very Confusing.

It's all very confusing.

One of the officials, a friendly fellow, suggests that Divisional Administrator [I told you the place was full of titles] Malcolm Muir would have a good story—"he's a swell guy; does more work than any other four fellows, except Johnson, put together."

On my way to Muir's office, another official, also a friendly fellow, shrugs his shoulders as he warns: "Get a story if you want; but he's all for big business; I'm tellin' you. If you want a real guy go see Ed."

"Ed who?" Ignorance forces the question.

One person tells you that Mrs. C. C. Rumsey, socialite head of the consumers' advisory board, is a "whirlwind." Somebody else says she's merely "flighty."

Fast Changing Scene.

A friend of Father Francis Haas, the Milwaukee priest, shouts his praises. But a woman counters with the suggestion that it'd be much more to the point to drop in to talk to Rose Schneiderman of the Woman's Trade Union league. It's a lit'' like a Midway, with barkers doing their stuff.

At least the list is made up. But the troubles are just beginning. Things change so rapidly over at the NRA that not even the occupant of an office knows whether he is its tenant when he goes to work in the morning.

Every night, it seems, they start pushing furniture around, and in the morning the man who was in room 4826 finds himself in 4387. Just like the Mad Hatter's tea party. And with the dirty dishes, too. In the way of brief cases and papers; old gloves and textbooks.

They've had to put on several extra telephone operators, I'm told, just to keep track of their personnel.

That personnel now numbers about 2,000; of whom 1,100 are in the headquarters here with steady jobs, and 900 out in the field on a per diem basis.

Fat Salaries For Aids.

Gen. Hugh Johnson, the administrator, refused to reveal specifically the salaries of any of the employes.

Two in the outfit receive $12,000 a year. One of the two is Donald Richberg, the Chicago attorney, who is general counsel for the NRA.

Johnson gets $6,000 a year, and so do 19 of his subordinates.

Eleven employes are drawing annual salaries between $5,000 and $5,999; 38 are in the bracket from $4,000 to $4,999; 56 come in the $3,000 to $3,999 classification; and 43 get from $2,400 to $2,999 a year.

That makes 170. The others either receive something less than $2,400, or give their services voluntarily, as do the Swopes and the Harrimans on the industrial board.

Sometimes it's not merely a matter of tracking your man to his new room. Frequently he has been promoted to a new job. Young Robert Straus, son of Jesse Straus, our ambassador to France, had a job sticking pins into a map. He's got something else now. Or he may have resigned. The clipping bureau in the department has a thick folder marked "resignations."

Suppose you get the right man in the right room. The secretary has to be cajoled. The best—or newspaper people are likely to say the worst—secretary is Frances Robinson, the comely Cerebus who guards Gen. Johnson. Just try to get past her.

Barkley Waits and Waits.

Others, too, are difficult. There's the story of Kentucky's Senator Barkley, who tried to get in to see some deputy administrator. The lovely lady at the desk smiled and said, "Mr. —— is very busy; you'll have to wait."

Senator Barkley waited. At the end of 30 minutes he repeated his request. She went in; came out; with the same sweet smile, said her boss was extremely busy; wafted the senator to another chair. An hour passed. Senator Barkley told her to take in his name again. She did. And returned with the pleasant suggestion that "the senator dictate to me anything he wishes Mr. —— to know."

Senator Barkley's voice is large. Remember, he keynoted at the Democratic convention in Chicago. He bowed out:

"It will not be necessary to dictate what I wish to say. Just stell Mr. —— that congress convenes Jan 5." And stormed out of the office.

Here's Setup of NRA.

The set-up of the NRA, as it is on Halloween, the year of Our Lord, 1933, is, briefly, this:

At the top is Johnson, the administrator.

Directly beneath him are two coequals: Col. R. W. Lea, Chicago banker who is assistant administrator for industry; Edward F. McGrady, the man whom Frances Perkins didn't want but finally took as her first assistant of labor, who is assistant administrator for labor. Then, off at an angle, is Alvin Brown, the executive officer.

Recent reorganization has developed the following four-fold classification in the code-hearing section:

Kenneth M. Simpson, metallurgist, administrator in charge of extractive industries [metals, coal, automobiles, shipping and related industries].

Malcolm Muir, publisher, administrator in charge of construction and machinery [including lumber and metal products].

Gen. Charles C. Williams, a general from Georgia, administrator in charge of chemicals, leathers and other manufactures.

Arthur F. Whiteside, suave and gentle president of Dun and Bradstreet, administrator in charge of trades and services, textiles and clothing.

Sol Rosenblatt, hard-boiled attorney for theater folk, is in charge of a special division for all amusement industries. Technically, he will be attached to Administrator Whiteside's department, but actually, he will report directly to Gen. Johnson.

SEEK U. S. LOAN TO HOUSE FIRST MERRY GO ROUND

Trustees of the American Museum of Public Recreation meeting in the Palmer house last night voted to seek a $300,000 federal loan to build a suitable structure for its museum collection now inadequately housed on Coney Island. The collection, showing the development of amusement devices, is made up of hundreds of antiques and models. Among them is a merry-go-round of 1666 from the Place du Carrousel in Paris. The museum is an affiliate of the National Association of Amusement parks which is holding a convention in the hotel.

CANADA ASSAILS BRITAIN IN SOVIET TIMBER DISPUTE

Ottawa's Secret Note Is Sent to Moscow.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The Canadian high commissioner to London, G. Howard Ferguson, challenged tonight the action of the British government in sending a confidential Canadian report on the alleged unfair competition in the soviet timber industry to the Moscow government.

He emphatically took issue with a previous announcement by the British board of trade that "with the approval of his majesty's government in Canada a statement has been sent the soviet government for that government's comments."

Canada Demanded Embargo.

Ferguson said he protested last Friday against a suggestion to send the memorandum to Russia "because I knew it would mean almost interminable delay and defeat our claim to have the treaty recognized and implemented."

Under provisions of the Ottawa agreement between Britain and Canada the latter government demanded an embargo on Russian timber.

The Canadian government claimed to have proof that Russian timber had been cut and exported under unfair conditions.

It was recalled that frequent attacks have been made by leaders in the lumber industry both in the United States and Canada against the so-called forced labor in Russian lumber camps.

Treaty Stumbling Block.

This timber dispute has been a serious stumbling block in current negotiations for a new Anglo-Soviet trade agreement.

Russian representatives here objected to the possibility of a sudden stoppage of British imports of soviet timber because of Canada's attitude.

The Canadian high commissioner said he and Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada had written letters to the board of trade setting forth Canada's claims. These were presented to Timber Distributers, Ltd., who buy and distribute Russian timber here.

"I said I had no objection if the letters were shown to them, but sending them to Russia has not the approval of the Canadian government," Mr. Ferguson said.

City Employe Found Dead, Result of Hemorrhage

Raymond L. Omo, a field inspector and clerk in the city controller's office, was found dead in bed yesterday in his apartment at the Etheline apartment hotel, 1636 East 69th street. A coroner's physician said a hemorrhage caused death. He was 46 years old and is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Helen Carpenter, 7350 Phillips avenue.

FRIENDS GET READY FOR THANKSGIVING WITH MR. ROOSEVELT

Warm Springs, Ga., Oct. 31.—(AP)—On the wide verandas and in the halls of the rambling old Meriwether inn eager patients today watched the start of preparations for Thanksgiving dinner with President Franklin D. Roosevelt, their "chief."

The people of the Warm Springs Foundation, organized by the President for the treatment of after effects of infantile paralysis, in the President's own words, "have the will and the determination to get rid of small physical handicaps, which, after all, do not amount to a "hill of beans."

Mr. Roosevelt will arrive here after he speaks at a celebration of Georgia's bicentennial at Savannah Nov. 17.

The President's Thanksgiving here will be spent in his little white cottage on Pine mountain. It is a simple structure, whose porches and windows command a view of the winding mountain roads over which Mr. Roosevelt delights in driving a dilapidated little touring car.

Adolphe Menjou Declares He's to Wed Miss Teasdale

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Adolphe Menjou today declared that an engagement "existed" between himself and Verree Teasdale, actress. He added that he would discuss a marriage date after the divorce decree obtained by his ex-wife, Kathryn Carver, became final. Miss Carver's interlocutory decree can be made final next August.

NELSONS MIXED AGAIN; OSCAR F. NOT WINE AGENT

Ald. Oscar F. Nelson of the 46th ward arose again yesterday to point out that he is not Oscar Nelson, the former state auditor.

The former auditor is now head of the Oscar Nelson company, 33 North La Salle street, agents for imported and domestic wines and liquors. The aldermen said that salesmen for the company, stating that they represent the Oscar Nelson company, but failing to state that that means Oscar the auditor and not Oscar the alderman, have been doing a thriving business in orders for future delivery from tavern keepers in the 46th ward.

"It's got so people even call me up at home and ask the price for champagne," said Ald. Nelson.

Once before, two years ago, the similarity of names caused trouble for the alderman. He appeared at a bank which had just been closed by Auditor Nelson and was nearly mobbed by depositors who thought him responsible.

Charges 3 Got Her Drunk and Robbed Her of $2,400

Mrs. Bella Butman, 6743 Irving Park boulevard, had Mrs. Adela Pikel, owner of a tavern at 1816 South Halsted street, and two men arrested yesterday on charges that they got her drunk and robbed her of $2,400, which she had sewed in the lining of her dress. The men were Frank Kazmarskis, 2635 West 39th place, the tailor who sewed the money into Mrs. Butman's clothing, and John Gajeske, 3039 South Throop street.

If You're Past 45 and Feel "Low" and Upset Look for Acid Stomach

You Can Get Rid of It Quickly!

The Signs of Acid Stomach

What To Do For It

TAKE—2 Teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

OR—Take the new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets—one tablet for each teaspoonful as directed above.

Authorities say a large number of people suffer from acid stomach. And think, often, that there is something far worse the matter with them.

If you have Acid Stomach, you can easily trace it. Headaches, stomach pains after eating, "gas," "upsets," nausea are the usual indications.

To get rid of it, all you need do is this:

TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed. Or—you can take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets, substituting one tablet for each teaspoonful of the liquid and get the same result.

Try It—You Will Be Amazed

Try this. It may make a great difference in your life. For this small dosage of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia acts to neutralize the stomach acids that cause distress.

After-meal pains and discomfort go. You feel freedom from dull headaches. That "afternoon-fag" you think is "nerves" disappears. You feel like another person.

Get REAL Phillips'

But all "milk of magnesia" is not alike. When you buy, be sure to get the REAL article — Genuine PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia. This is the kind doctors endorse—judged the safest and most effective laxative anti-acid known.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM

SEN. DICKINSON HITS CODE RULE AT NRA DEBATE

Ohio Congressman Extolls Merits of New Deal.

The value of President Roosevelt's recovery program was debated last night by United States Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa and Congressman Charles West of Ohio before more than 500 civic, political and social leaders at a banquet held at the Palmer house under the auspices of the Economic club.

The fallacy and weakness of the NRA was the theme of the Iowa senator's arguments. He was temporary chairman of the Republican national convention here last year and is a leading G. O. P. opponent of the present administration's policies.

His adversary, who is one of the younger Democrats in congress, extolled the strength and merits of the emergency project.

Denounces Rule by Code.

Senator Dickinson, who spoke first, denounced the code system of government. He asserted that the basic fallacy of the project is the belief that our complex national life can be arbitrarily run by a few men in a "brain trust" at Washington.

"It is not my belief that the people expected to forsake all the principles that have contributed to American greatness when they voted last November for a change," Senator Dickinson said. "No one dreamed that the funiamentals of our government were to be destroyed.

"The brain trust believes that Washington can perform every economic function more efficiently than those individuals who have been devoting their lives to business. The policy seems to be to give all authority, all power, all control to the government. The result is that business is being put in a straight jacket.

"The President has flatly reversed himself on his promises made to the country at the time the national recovery act was under consideration, that he had no thought of the control being permanent and that the codes were to be a purely voluntary proposition. His recent speeches indicate he was not being honest with the country in his original explanation, but intended the codes to be permanent and compulsory."

Centralizes Business Control.

The speaker declared that there has probably never been a step taken in the United States that will centralize business control in the hands of a few to such an extent as the present NRA program.

"The whole new deal program has been ill advised," he contended. "The reason that the codes are violated so universally is not that the American people are unpatriotic, but that it is impossible to abide by half a dozen different codes when, as in many cases, they are conflicting and contradictory.

"The government made a desperate effort to establish a situation in which they could directly control and censor American newspapers to prevent the publication of things the administration doesn't want published. The situation was far more serious than the public realized. Gen. Johnson tried to force the newspapers to remove from their temporary code a clause which says that the freedom of the press shall not be abridged in any event. If the leading American papers had not opposed him, this government today might be under complete government censorship."

In appraising the values of the NRA, Congressman West contrasted the nation's previous industrial maladjustment with the "amazing accomplishments of the last six months." He enumerated the difficulties and emergencies encountered by the present administration, the collapse of industrial activity and the demoralization of public confidence.

"The most significant achievement has been the revival of public morale and a nationwide response to the President to cooperate in fighting the depression," he asserted. "Whether or not it is believed that this particular program is the best plan, the fact remains that it is the one definite course which has received nationwide support."

He pointed out the action taken by administration authorities to halt paralysis of the economic system, expand purchasing power and decrease unemployment. The record of the last six months, he said, shows that production has gone down, while employment and wages have increased.

"With the continued wholehearted cooperation of industrial units and the enthusiastic support of all sections and groups of the American people," he said, "there is no question as to the ultimate success of the recovery program."

WARNS NRA SLACKERS

A policy of live and let live has come to stay under the NRA, Frederick Vining Fisher of Washington, national field representative of the NRA, told 300 business men at a dinner of the Illinois Manufacturers' Cost association at Hotel Sherman last night.

He advised them to join the NRA parade, and to make the most of their opportunities under it. Otherwise, he intimated, they would find themselves on the industrial sidelines. He described the benefits of the recovery program up to the present, but added that full recovery cannot be expected in a few months or "by Christmas," but probably will take some time.

"I have been asked what will happen if the NRA fails," he said. "If it does fail, we will never go back to the old helter-skelter scramble, the rugged individualism of yesterday. There are only two substitutes for the NRA.

"The first is a dictatorship, such as Mussolini and Hitler have placed into effect. The other substitute is a form of communism, such as we see in Russia. It is up to the industrial leaders of the country to see that the NRA does not fail."

INDUSTRIALISTS QUIT NRA POSTS

Here are three of the four prominent industrialists who have served on the NRA industrial advisory board since its beginning and who have decided to retire. The other is Austin Finch, president of the Thomasville (N. C.) Chair company. Formal announcement of their retirement is expected tomorrow.

G. O. P. TO MAKE NRA CHIEF ISSUE IN 1934 CAMPAIGN

'Kept Us Out of Chaos,' Democrats to Reply.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—The NRA, under fire from several angles, was clothed today with the likelihood of becoming the leading issue in the congressional elections of 1934.

The opening thrust in that campaign, Democratic and Republican circles agreed, was made in the issuance of a pamphlet by the Republican national committee charging President Roosevelt had broken pledges given in the party platform and in his speeches last year.

Initiative In Straight Jacket.

In that pamphlet, the NRA came in for scattered fire, but Republican leaders today were said to be planning to assail it soon as a "means of putting individual enterprise, ambition, initiative, thrift, foresight in a strait-jacket. These were the words used recently by Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican national committee, in describing the NRA.

The main charge of the Republican congressional campaign, leaders here said, would be that had President Roosevelt incorporated the NRA's principles in his platform, he would not have been elected.

Anticipating the attack, the Democrats tentatively have outlined a strategy which, rather than defending the NRA, will contend that it was necessary in an emergency created by the ineptitude of a Republican administration in dealing with the economic situation and that it represents emergency treatment of economic questions rather than fundamental party principles.

Pamphlet as Handbook.

In some Democratic circles it was suggested that continued support of the President would be emphasized, with the possibility that "He kept us out of chaos" would be the rallying cry.

The pamphlet that opened the campaign was not for circulation to the general public, but was issued as a handbook for the five hundred or more state Republican leaders as the opening step in the congressional campaign.

4 INDUSTRIALISTS ON NRA ADVISORY BOARD TO RETIRE

Swope Among Those Who Will Be Replaced.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Four prominent industrialists who have served on the NRA industrial advisory board since its beginning will retire tomorrow as the first step in inaugurating a new plan of service on the board, it was learned tonight.

The four are Gerard Swope, president of General Electric; Walter C. Teagle, president of Standard Oil of New Jersey; Austin Finch, president of the Thomasville [N. C.] Chair company, and James A. Moffett, former Standard Oil official.

It was understood that their retirement from service on the board will be announced by Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper tomorrow, with careful explanation that their retirement does not in any sense mean a resignation.

Take Turns at Service.

The industrial advisory board, it was said, is to be changed from a permanent group of industrialists into a rotating body on which various leaders of industry will take turns of service. It was said that the four members retiring tomorrow probably will eventually return for another period of service on the board.

Mr. Swope and Mr. Teagle, it was understood, are to remain members of the national labor board, an independent organization set up by President Roosevelt and headed by Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York.

Mr. Moffett, who also has been serving on the oil conservation board under Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, is to resign from the industrial advisory board outright, it was stated, to devote his entire attention to his duties in connection with the oil board.

No Friction on Board.

It was emphasized tonight by NRA officials and one of the retiring board members that the change in the policy governing the industrial advisory group has not resulted from any friction on the board. It has been reported on several occasions that certain members of the board were at odds with each other or with Gen. Hugh Johnson, the recovery administrator.

The change, in the language of one of the industrialists affected, is being made in order to permit the four principals to return to their private business interests for a period and to give other men "an opportunity to serve and get this experience."

Secretary Roper, it was said, will announce the successors of the four retiring board members tomorrow.

TAKE PRISONER BY AIRPLANE.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Charles Dotson, 28, charged with participation in the $9,000 First National bank robbery at York, Neb., last month, was brought to Nebraska by airplane today.

Chicago Republican Leaders Plan Party Comeback at Rally

Republican ward committeemen of Chicago together with several business leaders met yesterday at the Hamilton club to reorganize the Republican Cook County Central committee in preparation for an attempted come-back for the party at the April, 1934, primaries.

Because a number of the business men present did not wish to have their attendance at the meeting disclosed, the session was scheduled to be closed to reporters. A case of whisky was available in an adjoining room for the newspapermen, instructions having been given by the sponsors of the meeting to make the reporters comfortable while they waited. Several reporters, however, succeeded in gaining entrance and listening to the speeches of the committeemen.

Speakers Express Optimism.

The speakers expressed optimistic views on the chances of the Republican party at the next elections. They declared that President Roosevelt's plans for recovery have not as yet resulted in the manifold benefits claimed for them and that the people were becoming dissatisfied with the Democratic régime.

Among those present, in addition to the 48 ward committeemen and members of the county central committee, were Silas H. Strawn, George F. Getz, and Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor of THE TRIBUNE, sent a letter in response to an invitation in which he pointed out that it was contrary to his policy to take a personal part in the selection of candidates for any office. He wrote that he would be "keenly interested" in the progress of the movement and expressed a hope that the committee's actions would reflect credit upon the Republican party.

The meeting was called at the behest of William H. Weber, chairman, and Edward F. Moore, secretary of the Cook County Republican Central committee.

Sees Labor Opposing NRA.

Ald. Oscar F. Nelson, committeeman of the 46th ward, declared at the meeting that there was a growing sentiment in labor circles against the NRA movement. He advocated a return to the principle advanced by Samuel Gompers of "voluntary, mutual agreements." The names of candidates to be selected by the party should be submitted to the press and to civic leaders for approval or criticism before being placed on the ticket, he advised.

A statement issued after the meeting declared that a program had been adopted, which would eliminate all factionalism and group leadership. It read:

"Locally, we propose to select candidates for every public office of the highest type and caliber obtainable, to be approved and endorsed by an advisory committee consisting of outstanding and most respected citizens. We are also vitally interested in electing men to congress who will support the present administration in all laudable undertakings, but who will raise their voices in protest against any violation of our constitutional rights or any deviation from our traditional American doctrines."

Committeemen Made Free.

Referring to the hoped for removal of all factional prejudices, a second statement asserted:

"Heretofore, a number of our committeemen were obligated to certain leaders whom they supported as a matter of gratitude or in payment of political debts. Every committeeman henceforth will be a free man. No one has any claim upon him.

"Patronage should be incidental to party politics and not its principal objective. It should be dispensed with due regard to competency, honesty and efficiency."

Empty Your Gall Bladder
And You'll Feel Like a Billion Dollars!

Sleepless nights, dog-tired days, headaches; pains in all parts of the body—indigestion—gas. Do you suffer from one or all?

And have you tried every medicine under the sun, only to find yourself back where you started?

No wonder; for you, like thousands of others have probably been treating yourself for everything but the right thing. Get at the unsuspected cause—your gall bladder. If sluggish, it won't pour into your small intestines the most important digestive juice necessary for neutralizing gastric acid, quickening digestion and disinfecting the intestinal tract. If this juice doesn't flow freely, then your food sours, putrifies, stomach becomes filled with gas and acidity.

From Germany's greatest chemists comes a simple, pleasant means to make this digestive juice flow freely, and put you on the sunny side of life. Magnesia Oxoids, little white tablets that release pure oxygen. This amazing oxygen—purer than the air you breathe—plus magnesia, gently stimulates the gall bladder, neutralizes burning acidity and sweeps that poison-packed bowel clean.

Take two Oxoids after each meal—and before retiring—drink plenty of water—put your gall bladder to work—and you'll jump out of your skin for joy. Rush new health! Such robust vigor! Get Magnesia Oxoids today from your druggist. Advertisement.

G. O. P. CHIEF HITS DEMOCRATS' WAR OVER CANAL CASH

Chicago Is Loser, Says George F. Harding.

"Quarreling over the spoils" was the way George F. Harding, Republican leader, former county treasurer, characterized the sanitary district situation yesterday. He declared that while Public Works Administrator Ickes and the sanitary district trustees continued their warfare over which is to spend federal "easy money" on the Chicago sewage disposal program the program itself has been shelved.

Mr. Harding asserted that the public of Chicago is entitled to a "new deal" in the completion of the $120,000,000 sewage treatment program made necessary by the mandate of the United States Supreme court. The mandate was that the water diversion from Lake Michigan for the drainage canal be cut to 1,500 cubic feet a second by the end of 1933. The construction of plants to dispose of the sewage now handled by the canal was halted a year and a half ago because funds were lacking.

Deadlock on Canal Sale Plan.

A plan pushed by Howard W. Elmore, only Republican trustee of the district, and his Democratic colleagues is for the sale of the main drainage canal and the Sag channel to the government for $100,000,000, this money to be used for completion of the sewage treatment works. Public Works Administrator Ickes has thrown cold water on this proposal, and instead contends that the government should carry out the construction.

"It would be possible to debate the question as to who is to spend the money from now on until the year 2000, but that won't build the plants," said Mr. Harding. "Mr. Ickes down in Washington and the trustees here in the city are all ostensibly of the Democratic faith, but they are fighting a civil war."

National Question, Harding Says.

Sale of the canals to Uncle Sam would be one of the steps in the plan to make the Sag channel the main northern terminus of the lakes to gulf waterway. Trustee Elmore has contended that it is the government's business to run waterways and the district's job to treat sewage.

"This is indeed a national question," said Mr. Harding. "If Chicago hadn't built the canal with taxpayers' money there wouldn't have been a deep waterway, which benefits the whole Mississippi valley, in the heart of America."

He pointed out that taxes would be reduced if the government purchased the canals and footed the expense of operating and improving them. Any other plan, Mr. Harding declared, including the Ickes scheme, would mean an increase in taxes.

$8,000,000 CONTRACT READY.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Lloyd H. Landau, solicitor of the public works administration, is planning to leave here tomorrow or Thursday with a final copy of the contract which the Chicago sanitary board will be asked to sign before receiving 8 million dollars of easy money.

In announcing the loan, which is solely for the completion of work started and halted by lack of funds, Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes said that the final contract would have to include three conditions. They are that 30 per cent of the loan will be held back until the other 70 per cent is repaid, that the government shall supervise the work, and that none of the easy money shall go to pay back bills.

CHICAGO PURCHASES MORE FORD CARS IN SPITE OF NRA BAN

The NRA ban in Washington on Henry Ford's products has not yet extended to the city of Chicago, the city council finance committee demonstrated yesterday. It recommended the purchase of 38 Ford cars for city use.

Two of the cars were bought for the health department, for $1,177. The remaining 36 were for the police department, and will cost, after a trade in allowance on 19 old police cars, $29,060. The S. & L. Motor company made both sales.

In both cases the department heads concerned sent in requisitions for Ford cars, so bids were not asked on any other makes. The finance committee has a membership of 18 Democratic aldermen and 5 Republicans. The purchase recommendation passed unanimously.

MILK POOL MAY HOLD UP STRIKE IN WISCONSIN

Likely to Get in Line with Farmers.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Arnold Gilbert, president of the Wisconsin Farmers' Holiday association, today telegraphed from Des Moines, Ia., to his followers here, informing them that the farm strike of the association, which has been in effect since Oct. 21, has been called off.

Gilbert has been attending the conference of midwest governors in Des Moines. He announced that they desired the breakup of the strike, and that their attitude toward farming interests was "very satisfactory."

Alvin A. Hendrick of Manawa, secretary of the Wisconsin Holiday association, said he was informed by Gilbert that the governors will present the farm demands to President Roosevelt.

Milk Pool May Follow.

William S. Rubin, attorney for the Wisconsin Coöperative Milk pool, which had ordered a sympathetic strike to support the holiday association, early in the evening was quoted in dispatches as saying the pool would rescind the action and continue to make deliveries.

Later Rubin said:

"I communicated with Milo Reno, head of the National Holiday association, who is in Des Moines, and he informed me that the strike would not be called off until farmers were given relief from Washington."

Rubin declared he also had talked to Walter Singler, head of the milk pool, tonight.

On Singler's behalf, Rubin released a statement from Singler, calling a meeting of all farmers, whether they are members of the pool or holiday association, for Madison on Friday at 11 a. m.

Singler's Statement.

"This strike is the strike of all the farmers," reads Singler's statement, as given out by Rubin. "It is not a strike of the milk pool or the holiday association alone. It's a strike of the farmers for existence. Let all the Wisconsin farmers decide what they want to do at this Madison meeting."

Singler was in Mosinee, Wis., where he addressed a meeting of farmers.

Fred M. Bergelin of Denmark, state vice president of the milk pool, said he had received no information the strike was called off.

In Eau Claire county the strike of the holiday group was formally declared off this afternoon following a meeting in which the farm members voted 607 to 501 against its continuance. Resumption of regular deliveries of milk and other supplies was promised tomorrow by F. Wertgen, president of the strike committee in the county.

FARM STRIKERS AGREE TO TRUCE; GOVERNORS ACT

Group to See President on Relief Plans.

BY PAUL POTTER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Governors or their agents from eleven states decided here tonight to urge a hastening of the farm relief program by President Roosevelt.

The governors obtained from Milo Reno, president of the National Farmers' Holiday association, and E. E. Kennedy, secretary of the Farmers' union, a pledge that farm strikes and picketing would be stopped temporarily while the governors were negotiating. Reno calls it a truce.

The President has agreed to confer on Thursday in Washington with four governors who are leaving here with Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief director, Gov. Langer of North Dakota; Herring of Iowa; Olson of Minnesota, and Schmedeman of Wisconsin.

Plan for Price Pegging.

The governors, having agreed with the executives of six other mid-west states upon additional steps needed in the farm recovery program will seek federal price pegging of the basic farm commodities, a speeding up of the farm credit administration's refinancing program, emergency embargoes on fats, oils, corn, and meat products; some form of controlled inflation, and the declaration of a moratorium on farm foreclosures pending return of higher prices. The governors recommended the adoption of a code for the entire farm industry.

The price pegging operations recommended by the governors would call upon the secretary of agriculture to use powers given him under the farm adjustment act to set minimum prices below which no sales would be permitted in the nation. It would be enforced by the issuance of blanket licenses to all sellers and buyers of designated commodities by the AAA.

It is proposed by the governors that the minimum prices be based upon commodity price index figures issued from time to time by the department of agriculture. Penalties for violation of the price fixing licenses would be those set up in the farm act.

To Retain Embargo Policy.

Gov. Langer of North Dakota prepared a minority report for an embargo on foodstuffs shipped from western states until farmers were assured of prices covering the cost of production. Gov. Langer added the wheat in embargo in his state would remain indefinitely to provide for seeding and for the feeding of the needy this winter and next spring.

Farmers, who appeared before the governors, repeatedly denounced the restricting of acreage in corn and the reduced marketing of hogs, if the benefit payments are applied too late for the existing crops. Some regard it as "unrighteous" for the government to destroy food and potential wealth.

Raps the Brain Trust.

To Langer's proposal for a wheat embargo for the whole Mississippi valley Gov. Olson [Minn., Farmer-Labor] conjured for the farmers visions of holding the surpluses on their farms while eastern "speculators" sold on advancing prices.

"When we go to Washington," Gov. Olson declared, "there is one bunch we don't intend to meet, and that is the brain trust which figured up this plan to keep farmers in tow while industry stepped ahead." That was greeted with cheers.

COAL STRIKE LEADERS DEFY ORDERS TO GO BACK TO THEIR JOBS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Great confusion prevailed tonight in the ranks of 20,000 idle employés of steel owned [captive] soft coal mines, as they received "definite" orders from high union leaders to return to the pits without formal recognition of the the United Mine Workers of America.

If obeyed, the order, made in conformance with an agreement with President Roosevelt yesterday, would mean a minimum wage of $4.36 a day for each man—operators say more than $90,000 a day in pay.

This is an increase of more than 50 cents a day for every man and in addition the miners are promised an opportunity to elect representatives to negotiate contracts with their employers.

Martin F. Ryan, "insurgent" leader who has been adamant that his followers not return until "Frick signs the union," termed the President's agreement "no agreement at all" and predicted none of the H. C. Frick Coke company mines will be reopened.

Sam Rhoades, leader of the Vesta Coal company [Jones & Laughlin] mines, said: "The agreement doesn't recognize the union. That's what we went out for. I don't think the men will accept."

MRS. PINCHOT ASSAILS STEEL CHIEFS IN GARY

4,000 Hear Governor's Wife Urge Unions

More than 4,000 men and women packed the Indiana National Guard armory in Gary last night to hear Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, fiery redhaired wife of Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, urge the organization of labor unions in the steel industry.

Wearing a wine colored satin dress, a string of pearls and pearl earrings, and speaking with a markedly patrician accent, Mrs. Pinchot, long a supporter of union labor and a veteran campaigner among steel workers of Pennsylvania, excoriated steel companies and their leaders as representing an order doomed to die.

Assails Steel Masters.

"The steel trust has always been against American standards," she said. "It has always used its power to beat down wages to a subnormal standard. It has been up to now a law unto itself, unscrupulous in its relationship to the public, ruthless and brutal in its relationship to its workmen.

"It is time to educate these men.

"Washington is trying to start the teaching. The NRA is quite a stiff kindergarten for gentlemen of that kind. The real teaching, however, must come from the American Federation of Labor."

Rights Under the NRA.

The NRA she declared, has given rights to both business and labor, giving business and industry the right to keep prices up and put down unfair competition, and giving labor concrete recognition of the right to organize in trade unions.

"What is more," Mrs. Pinchot declared, "is that the NRA has in a sense put the whole power of government behind the unions. The government can't deal with workers as individuals, but in groups, and the only groups that can be effective in the long run will be trade unions. The company union just won't work."

The meeting was sponsored by the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America. Mrs. Pinchot flew to Chicago from Harrisburg, the Pennsylvania state capital, yesterday and drove to Gary from here. After her speech she departed for the east by train.

DIXIE INDUSTRY FEARS NRA WILL PERIL OPEN SHOP

Admits It Has Raised Pay, but Buying Lags.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—A reaction against "industrial dictatorship" under NRA is now appearing in the south, home of "rugged individualism" and state rights.

Some industries are complaining that although NRA has lifted the anti-trust barriers and encourages practices which under the old order were deemed destructive of competition and unfair to trade, they also got some things they do not want.

"Open shop" versus "closed shop" is a growing issue in the south. There is increasing resistance to what industries regard as union recognition under the codes.

Control Output and Prices.

For instance, the hardwood lumber industry under the code, now has controlled production and price fixing, and is applauding these things vociferously. It is permitted to do things which under the anti-trust laws were prohibited.

Also it is giving tacit recognition of labor unions. Not so sweet from the millmen's point of view, for the south has been traditionally open shop and unions have made scant headway. Today, some mill owners from South Carolina and Tennessee were declaring that rather than recognize organized labor they will close down their mills.

Likewise on minimum wage rates, they complain NRA has increased production costs without so far furnishing big consumers.

Many Take Sides with Ford.

One interesting phase, which may be a symptom or not, is that on this tour from Jacksonville to Memphis prevailing sentiment appears to be largely with Henry Ford in his battle with Gen. Hugh Johnson and NRA. One hears this even among persons who are helping enforce NRA.

Possible disruption of southern industry is feared in some communities through the operations of the Tennessee valley authority, whose experiment in social and economic planning is getting started. If the government goes into the electrical business by selling government owned power at Muscle Shoals in direct competition with existing privately owned utilities, some look for an upsetting in several fields.

Fear Industries Will Move.

If industries are attracted to Sheffield, Tuscumbia and Florence, near Muscle Shoals, by cheap power, Memphis industries fear the shoe may pinch them. Some of them fear a possible movement of industries from Memphis and Nashville towards Knoxville when the Cove creek project is built.

The Tennessee Valley Authority [known as the TVA] has indicated to Memphis that it will build a power line—estimated cost $6,000,000—from Muscle Shoals to Memphis if a market is found. It is reported to have intimated that it would sell the power directly to the Memphis Power and Light company with the city's consent, providing the TVA rates decreed for customers are adopted.

Officials of the Memphis Power and Light company have declared they can generate power from coal as cheaply as power can be delivered from Muscle Shoals.

MAYOR FROWNS ON MILK STRIKE BY CONSUMERS

Says All He Wants Is Fair Price Hearing.

A consumers' strike against the 11 cent a quart price for milk, which goes into effect in Chicago on Friday, was urged again yesterday by Ald. David L. Sutton [8th], chairman of the city council subcommittee on milk. The proposal met opposition, however, from Mayor Kelly.

The mayor and members of Ald. Sutton's group sent a telegram on Monday to George N. Peek, administrator of the agricultural adjustment act at Washington, urging AAA authorities to hold milk hearings in Chicago so that consumers and small independents who lack the means of attending hearings in Washington might be heard. The telegram also urged consideration of cash and carry and delivered milk prices, for which no differential is established in the present milk marketing agreement.

Mayor Tells His Views.

"We are behind all of President Roosevelt's measures," said Mayor Kelly. "There is no intention of muddying the waters, but we don't think that the government has been fully informed. It appears that local people haven't had a chance to be heard. If it appears, after hearings here and an analysis of the evidence, that the price should be 11 cents, that's all there is to it.

"I'm emphatically against any strike. We want a hearing here and I have confidence that the final analysis will be satisfactory to the public. We are all in favor of the farmer getting more for his product and the workingmen getting a living wage, but it has been stated in the council subcommittee hearings that there is too much profit on watered stock. We want a hearing in Chicago to see where the profit goes."

Ald. Sutton's Suggestion.

"I'm in favor of calling on consumers not to pay 11 cents a quart for milk, but to buy milk for children and invalids from the more than 400 cash and carry stores at 8 cents a quart," said Ald. Sutton. "Let adults use canned milk in an effort to show the milk trust that consumers are entitled to consideration.

"Arthur R. Seelig, attorney for the Edgewater dairy, has assured me that company will pay farmers the increased government price and still sell milk, cash and carry, at 8 cents a quart. It's wrong to deprive children and invalids of necessary milk.

"If drastic action isn't taken now, the milk companies will be in the same position as the gasoline companies, able to raise prices without the consumer saying a word."

Starts Annual War on Cheating Coal Dealers

The annual campaign against "snow birds," cut price coal dealers who make their profit by short weighting their customers, was launched yesterday, it was announced by City Sealer Joe Grein. The dealers are "fly by nighters," according to the city sealer, and householders should protect themselves against fraud by learning the measurement system of checking coal deliveries.

FEELS YEARS YOUNGER!

Look at him! Used to be so grouchy . . . now he's the livest fellow in the crowd

You never saw such an improvement in anyone. He used to be so irritable his own family wondered how they could stand it. And naturally! For he felt himself slipping. Achy, pepless, he simply couldn't figure out what was wrong. Yet in a few weeks he shook off years. Now he acts and looks like a new man.

What was wrong with him? And with millions like him—dragging along only half-alive—wondering, worrying? The answer is simple.

It's ASTHENIA
(Run-down condition, usually caused by Constipation)

That's the insidious thing about Asthenia . . . it drags you down, slows your mind, robs you of your joys and pleasures, yet you hardly realize you're slipping.

Would you like for once to brush the cobwebs from your eyes—be ready and eager for any task—experience all the glories of this glorious old world? Then rid yourself of Asthenia and stay rid of it.

You think that you're not the least bit clogged—you say that you're "regular" as can be—but physicians will tell you that it is only too easy to deceive yourself in this respect and stay doped with poisons. Thus millions of micro-organisms accumulate in the intestinal tract and produce that dull, achy, pepless feeling known as Asthenia.

MRS. ROOSEVELT BIDS GOOD-BY TO CHICAGO WOMEN

Dinner at Palmer House Closes Busy Day.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

As pacemaker for Women's day at A Century of Progress, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt set her course yesterday by the old rule about a straight line being the shortest distance between two points. Ergo, each phase of the crowded program was met and passed so smoothly that when she vanished from the teeming ballroom of the Palmer house with a fifteen minute margin to make her train, she left no loose ends, oratorical or literal, to mar the memory of her visit.

In the many events of the emphatically feminine program, she was seldom the White House occupant, often the diplomat, once or twice the business woman, now and then the neighbor, and always the charming and charmed guest. As when she prefaced her departure from the dinner given in her honor by the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs in the Palmer house, with reiterated expressions of appreciation to the women of Chicago in general and her hostesses of the day in particular, and with especial references to Mayor Kelly and to Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Fair, who were seated beside her.

Her Parting Message.

"One thing we have gained, I think, by the dark days we have been passing through," was her parting message. "We have a greater neighborliness, a greater sense of responsibility for each other. I have great faith in the work that you have done for your members, and that you can do for others if you will.

"This I can say—I never remember a group of women who were doing something with me who let me down, and I have worked with groups of women for many years. All of us agree that we love our country, but we don't always agree on what patriotism is. Isn't it possible that it means we are willing to subordinate ourselves, to study what our country needs and then put our shoulders to the wheel?"

Presidents of seven clubs of business and professional women sponsoring the dinner formed a receiving line in the foyer of the hotel as Mrs. Roosevelt and the official party entered. Miss Celia Howard of Elgin, state president of the federation, introduced the speakers, who were Mrs. Henry W. Hardy, president of the Chicago and Cook County Federation of Women's Organizations and general chairman of the day; Mayor Kelly, Mr. Dawes, Mrs. Dawes, honorary chairman of Woman's day, and Judge Camille Kelley of Memphis.

Opera Star Sings.

Miss Margery Maxwell, opera soprano, sang the "Star Spangled Banner" in a colorful tableau as the honor guests took their places. The shimmering background of gold cloth and greenery behind the rostrum and the massed American flags draped above the balcony were suffused with a rosy glow from indirect floodlights that faded as the song ended.

A double file of Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls in uniform formed an aisle through which their honorary national president, Mrs. Roosevelt, made her entrance.

Earlier in the day, which was soft and balmy, a throng of women attended a mass meeting in the Court of States at the Fair, at which Mrs. Roosevelt spoke. Thousands packed the balconies and stairways as Mrs. Roosevelt made a plea for cooperation of every one, particularly the women, to make the government's great experiment in social control a success.

Luncheon Precedes Mass Meeting.

A luncheon for 200 women, heads of women's organizations and wives of officials of the Fair, preceded the mass meeting. It was held in the lounge of the federal building with Mrs. Dawes as official hostess. Following the outdoor exercises, Mrs. Carter Harrison, Mrs. Paul Steinbrecher, and Mrs. Herbert L. Stern, official hostesses at the Illinois "Host House" greeted the presidents of the women's organizations, together with Mrs Dawes, Mrs. Hardy, and Mrs. William F. Farrell, president of the Illinois State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Henry Pope, an old friend; Mrs. Lawrence Houghteling, Mrs. Roosevelt's cousin; Mrs. Kelly, wife of the mayor, and Mrs. Clarence N. Goodwin of Lake Forest poured tea at this reception, which was unique in that handshaking was taboo, to save Mrs. Roosevelt's strength.

A military review of the troops from Camp Whistler officially started off the day in the Court of States, where Mr. Dawes and other executives welcomed the President's wife at 11:15 o'clock.

But Mrs. Roosevelt hadn't waited for the day to get under way according to program, for she was in the State street area even before that, to see a display at Marshall Field's of some of the furniture from her own Val-Kill factory in the east. Next she went to the Art institute to see the Century of Progress art exhibit which closes tonight.

Mrs. Roosevelt left the Roosevelt road station at 9 p. m. for New York City over the Michigan Central.

BREWERS GIVE 2,000 BARRELS OF BEER FOR LIBERTY DAY AT FAIR

Ald. John Coughlin [1st], chairman of the council committee which is rustling free beer and sandwiches for the celebration of Personal Liberty day, Nov. 8, at the World's Fair, announced yesterday following a meeting of the committee with brewers and packers that the beer and meat supplies have been obtained.

The brewers, he said, are willing to give 2,000 barrels of beer, provided they do not have to pay the federal and state taxes, totaling $11,400. The committee will solicit prominent advocates of personal liberty for the tax payments, Ald. Coughlin said.

The packers agreed to give 8,000 pounds of meat, enough for 85,000 sandwiches. The bakers' association has already agreed to give 15,000 loaves of bread, and women of the ward political organizations will be asked to make the sandwiches, the alderman said.

Final Decision to Rest with Members.

BY EARL MULLIN.

Decision as to the reopening of A Century of Progress Exposition in 1934, in line with the requests and suggestions of President Roosevelt, Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, and business and industrial leaders throughout the country, will be made Friday afternoon at a meeting of the World's Fair association.

At this meeting Rufus C. Dawes, president, and Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager of the Exposition, will tell the association members the exact status of the Fair, the demands that have been made for the reopening, and then leave the entire question to the members. The trustees will act in accord with the wishes of the membership.

Expect Affirmative Answer.

Little fear is felt by those interested in seeing the Fair reopen that a negative answer will be given. The members of the World's Fair association, it is pointed out, are men of vision who were able to foresee the magnitude of an international exposition five years in the future. Now with much of the routine eliminated and little to be done to realize a second year of benefit from their dreams, it is expected the reopening will be voted.

There are two types of association memberships — foundation memberships, in which a fee of $1,000 was paid, and sustaining memberships with a fee of $50. From these groups there was elected a board of 92 trustees. At Friday's meeting the foundation and sustaining members will decide whether to open the Fair, and their decision will be final.

Legislation Being Prepared.

While no member, trustee or official would comment for publication on the forthcoming meeting, it was known that all felt the decision would be favorable to reopening. The necessary legislation is now being prepared in Springfield. Legislative leaders feel that the bill, amending the Fair's charter so that the same group can operate the Fair a second year, will pass with little discussion and no dissension.

Following the adoption of state legislation the south park board is expected to pass an ordinance removing the last legal barrier to the 1934 Fair.

The financial setup necessary for the operation, although exceedingly involved, is being worked out, and will be announced at a later date. It can be said at present, however, that, in all probability, there will be no concerted drive for funds as there was before the opening of the 1933 Fair. It is the belief of officials and business and industrial leaders that the guarantees for the second year of the Fair should in justice come from those who profited the most from the Fair this year.

Support Is Promised.

In line with that thought a great deal of support will necessarily come from transportation agencies, hotel and business associations, and similar institutions and industries. Much of this support has been promised.

Yesterday was originally scheduled as the last day of the 1933 Fair, but in compliance with the demands of business leaders and city and state officials the Fair was extended to Nov. 12. Since that announcement the attendance at the Fair, contrary to expectations, has averaged fairly high. The attendance yesterday at 11:30 p. m. was 63,405.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

"Injun Summer," the famous cartoon by John T. McCutcheon, reproduced in colors two weeks ago in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE, was presented in life size yesterday at a ceremony in the Horticultural building, attended by Mr. McCutcheon and the artist and designer, John A. Servas. The reproduction, using cutout figures, a diorama and genuine pumpkins, corn shocks and like fall festival equipment, is on display in the main hall of the building.

The scientific and educational features of the Fair will continue through until the closing Nov. 12, officials said yesterday. One or more lectures each day will be given in the lecture rooms of the Science building.

Specimens of the largest variety of chrysanthemums, a single blossom measuring almost a foot in diameter, are on display at the Horticultural building in connection with the current Fall Flower show, it was announced today.

The Fair will not cut admission charges between now and Nov. 12, it was announced yesterday by Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager. There have been reports that the general admission would be reduced to 25 cents during the twelve day extension. Admissions will continue to be 50 cents for adults, 10 cents for children under 12 years of age, and 5 cents for children on Fridays.

44,432 VISIT ART INSTITUTE IN DAY; BREAK 3D RECORD

For the third consecutive day the Art institute yesterday set a new all-time world record for attendance at an art exhibit. When the doors were closed at 10 p. m. a total of 44,432 visitors had entered. Monday's crowd was 40,279 and Sunday's 38,419.

The peak crowds arrived after 6 o'clock and it was necessary to hold thousands of patrons waiting at times until the congestion was relieved.

Today will mark the end of A Century of Progress Art exhibit and the borrowed treasures which have been here through the summer and fall will be returned to their owners. In anticipation of a final record smashing throng the management announced last night that the doors will be open at 8:45 a. m. and that the closing time has been extended to 11 p. m. Attendance since the opening was approximately 1,600,000.

Mayor Kelly, who designated today as Art Institute day, and Mrs. Kelly will be guests at a luncheon to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick in the museum dining hall.

Brewer's Daughter Faints as Bandits Stage Holdup

Miss Margaret Webb, daughter of John J. Webb, president of the Acme Brewery in Joliet, fainted yesterday when two bandits threatened her and her sister, Mildred, and two men employés in the company offices at 12 North Scott street, Joliet. The robbers, one of whom carried a submachine gun, escaped with $700.

PENNSYLVANIA MAY ELECTRIFY CHICAGO LINES

New Rumor Involves Big U. S. Loan.

New York, Oct. 31.—[Special.]—The Pennsylvania railroad was reported today to be considering extension of its electrification program in response to the national administration plans for stimulating employment.

President W. W. Atterbury made no comment on the rumor that the trackage between Philadelphia and Chicago would be electrified with the help of a federal loan of $100,000,000.

The road is completing electrification of its line from New York to Philadelphia and Washington, and is operating electrically as far as Wilmington.

Done with Federal Loan.

To finance that project the road last year borrowed $27,500,000 as a "work loan" from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, but this summer it repaid the RFC for this, as well as for a $2,400,000 loan for equipment repair.

In view of the efforts of the Pennsylvania to get out of debt to the Reconstruction Finance corporation and thus free itself from the many measures of control exercised over carriers that have done such borrowing, it was considered unlikely in banking quarters that the road would undertake a $100,000,000 commitment except under pressure from Washington and on favorable terms.

Power to Help Railways.

Under the national industrial recovery act the public works administration is authorized "to aid in the financing of such railroad maintenance and equipment as may be approved by the interstate commerce commission as desirable for the improvement of transportation facilities."

If a loan were obtained from that source, it was pointed out, attractive borrowing terms might be arranged. In the case of the steel rail orders which have been urged by President Roosevelt, roads wishing to buy immediately will be able to finance their purchases through the public works administration with loans without interest for one year and payable in ten years at a rate of 4 per cent.

TO SPEND MORE HERE.

H. E. Newcomet, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad in Chicago, announced yesterday that the board of directors of the road have approved an appropriation of $360,000 to be used on further improvements in the Pennsylvania's $3,000,000 elevation project on the Englewood Connecting railway.

The work, which is to be started immediately will include regrading and repaving of streets in 22 subway structures and the construction of sidewalks. Streets to be improved run north and south and lie between Halsted street on the east and Hoyne avenue on the west.

The Englewood Connecting railway runs between 58th and 59th streets. It connects the Fort Wayne line of the Pennsylvania with the Pan Handle line of the same road. I. W. Geer, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania in Chicago, has charge of the improvements.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Declining to resign, Dr. Walter Scott Athearn, president of Butler university since 1931, has been dismissed by the board of directors.

Charging "dual administration," Dr. Athearn said "real control was vested in a small board in a down town office," which he described as "financial, political, noneducational."

Emsley W. Johnson, a director, said Dr. Athearn apparently referred to the Butler Foundation, a separate holding corporation concerned with endowments, real estate, and resources amounting to $4,000,000.

During Dr. Athearn's administration, Butler was recredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, from which it had been suspended on charges which included overemphasis on athletics.

KIDNAPERS ROB MICHIGAN FACTORY OWNER OF $45,000

Marshall, Mich., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Two men and a woman kidnaped Louis E. Brooks, millionaire manufacturer and social leader, today, beat him, forced him to open a safe in his office, and then released him after obtaining about $45,000 in cash, bonds, and jewelry.

The estimate of the loot came several hours after millionaire manufacturer, beaten and bruised, had been found at his farm home near here. Brooks declined to discuss the kidnaping and robbery. He had been seized on a highway early this morning.

"Those kidnapers were no amateurs," said Prosecutor W. J. Kearney. "They were professionals and knew what they were after. They told Brooks they had been watching him for a long time.

First knowledge of the kidnaping came when Louis Waltz, night watchman at Brooks' Rupture Appliance factory, was found before 6 o'clock by a janitor, bound and gagged. Waltz informed officials that the two men and a woman, with Brooks in custody, forced their way into the factory office shortly before daylight, and ordered Brooks to open the safe.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Oct. 31.—Official statistics issued tonight indicate that the steady rise in the Free State population, which began in 1931, continued in 1932. The total now is 2,974,000, an increase of 17,000.

While the birth rate has fallen, the increase arises from the stoppage of emigration and the return of large numbers of emigrants from abroad, chiefly from America. The marriage rate also has dropped slightly. Catholic marriages totaled 12,177, or 93.5 per cent of the total.

The birth rate was the lowest on record, births totaling 56,240 or 18.91 per 1,000 population. Illegitimate births numbered 1,819, a slight decrease. The death rate dropped, the figures show. Deaths from tuberculosis were the lowest on record, totaling 3,876. Heart disease took the biggest toll followed by cancer, pneumonia, bronchitis and cerebral hemorrhage.

Girl Is Sentenced to 10 Days in Jail for Perjury

Miss Angeline Labarber, 19 years old, 1850 Clybourn avenue, was sentenced by Judge Michael Feinberg yesterday to 10 days in the county jail for perjury. The girl testified on Oct. 29 that two accused youths, since convicted of automobile theft, had been at a party in her home when the car was stolen. Later they changed their plea to guilty, disproving her testimony.

CITY'S SUPPORT NEEDED FOR AUTO HIGHWAY LOAN

Carter Harrison Suggests Council Act.

BY HAL FOUST.

In view of the plans for a mass meeting on Friday to urge a federal loan for the construction of an elevated highway system in Chicago, Carter H. Harrison yesterday advised proponents of the project that the request for "easy money" must be made through local governmental units. Mr. Harrison is chairman of the advisory board on federal emergency administration of public works.

"I haven't given the project detailed study," Mr. Harrison said, "but my impression is that the city council will have to pass a formal resolution, outlining the proposal for presentation to the government. It may also be necessary for the state legislature and county board to act.

"I'm not in position to comment upon the merits of such a government loan until the proposal is formally presented to this advisory board."

Must Be an Agreement.

Ald. John A. Massen, chairman of the council traffic committee, said that the county and the state will have to reach an agreement with the city on a construction program and a financial scheme before the government can be petitioned for a loan.

"The government loan would be repaid from the revenue from the state gasoline tax allotted to the state highway department, the city of Chicago, and the county of Cook," the alderman said. "It is likely that the construction would be by the city under supervision of the state and of the government.

Horner Favors Project.

"Gov. Horner and President Whelan of the county board have both indicated their desire to plan the future highways of the metropolitan area in collaboration with the city. There should be little delay in agreeing upon such a plan after the legislature determines how much of the road money is to be given to charity."

Dr. Miller McClintock, head of Harvard university traffic research bureau, who directed the traffic survey of Chicago recommending elevated highway construction, arrived in Chicago yesterday from Cambridge, and will address Friday's mass meeting of civic and political leaders seeking "easy money" for the project. The meeting, called by the Chicago Motor club, will be held in the La Salle hotel.

Charges Bank Secretary Short $37,000 in Accounts

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Harry Hogan, president of the Dime Savings and Trust company, said today that Marion F. Shookman, assistant secretary of the institution, is short about $37,000 in his accounts. Hogan said the alleged loss is covered fully by bond. It was alleged by officers of the bank that Shookman used the money in stock market operations.

6 BECOME ILL AT FAIR; BLAME FOOD POISONING

Six persons were treated for sudden illnesses diagnosed as food poisoning at the F. W. Baylor hospital on the World's Fair grounds last night, and attendants at the hospital reported that a number of others applied there for remedies for similar though milder complaints and departed without giving their names.

The six victims were Mrs. G. Harner, 53 years old, 6550 Yale avenue; Mrs. F. N. Cole, 51 years old, of Madison, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scognamiclo of Jersey City, N. J.; Miss Rose Sernick, 25 years old, 3939 West Chicago avenue, and Thomas Hasselton, 34 years old, of Atlantic City, N. J., who said he was secretary of the Atlantic City Chamber of Commerce. All were reported out of danger late last night and were permitted to go home.

Charles H. Thurman, director of public safety of the Fair, announced that he would ask Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the city board of health, to make an investigation and inspection of supplies on the grounds today.

LINDBERGHS MAY HOP TOMORROW; HOLLAND IS GOAL

PARIS, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh may resume their journey on Thursday by flying to Holland, it was learned today, although the colonel was silent regarding his plans.

The Americans were received at the city hall today by the president of the municipal council, who presented Mrs. Lindbergh with a book on Paris museums.

It was said at their hotel that the Lindberghs' mail from admirers has now increased to 100 letters a day.

install GAS HEAT

at the new low rate

To prove that every home can now afford to heat with gas, we install it at our expense — remove it at our expense, if you don't like it.

EVERY day you're without automatic gas heat, you miss many, many conveniences of this modern-day means of heating. You miss the luxury of getting up on chilly mornings to a warm house, the even, regulated heat that promotes the health and contentment of the entire family—and many other advantages.

Why not install gas heat now and end all heating worries forever—daybreak fire-fixing, back-breaking coal shoveling, dirty hours of ash shaking and hauling, chopping kindling, and above all else—everlasting watching and regulating.

No sir. There's no need for all this. It's so easy to install gas heat. Every home—even the most modest, can now afford to heat with gas. Rates are one-half of what they were during the 1930-31 season.

We take the risk

We want to prove that you can afford to heat with gas. And to do so we'll take the risk. Without one cent of investment by you we'll install a modern, efficient gas burner in your furnace or boiler. We pay the cost. You try gas heat one month, two months or a year. During this period you pay only $3.00 a month rental for the equipment in the average home. This charge is included with the bill for the gas you use. If you decide that you can't do without the luxury of gas heat, the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment. But if for any reason within the first year you decide that you don't like gas heat we'll take it out and replace your former heating equipment in good workmanlike order. The rental charge stops immediately.

Mail coupon TODAY

Don't delay. Try gas heat now. The long winter is still ahead. Mail the coupon for full facts.

"The greatest of World's Fairs ends November 12. Be sure to see it."

Now in effect
NEW LOW COST
for Heating Homes with GAS

YOU INVEST NOTHING!

Without ONE CENT of investment by you, we install the most modern burner in your furnace or boiler. If you are satisfied, it stays. If not—and you are the sole judge—out it comes and your former heating system is re-installed—AT OUR EXPENSE. We make this offer because of our confidence in the perfection of gas heat.

UTILITY TAXES

Taxes are your personal problem and a major problem to the utilities.

The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company sets aside about thirty per cent of the revenue of the company, after deducting ordinary operating expenses, to provide for the payment of taxes. This means that the property of the company is operated a little over two days of each week for tax payments and a little less than five days for the investors in the company's bonds, notes and capital stocks.

Taxes give your gas service company grave concern, while it continues to give you satisfactory 24-hour service. The company has no magic, elastic dollar with which to meet increased expenses.

DOUBLE OF DUTCH FIREBUG APPEARS IN ARSON TRIAL

Defense Case Bolstered in Reichstag Mystery.

BERLIN, Oct. 31.—(AP)—An amazed audience in the reichstag arson trial beheld today the double of the young defendant Marinus van der Lubbe in the person of a 26 year old student surnamed Perl. His unexpected appearance strengthened a defense contention that witnesses might have mistaken him for Van der Lubbe at various times in the reichstag.

The striking resemblance was noted between the Dutch brick mason and Perl, who formerly kept the files for the communist party in the reichstag offices.

Perl is somewhat smaller than Van der Lubbe but has the same features, tousled hair, and even similar postures.

Keeps Eyes Glued to Floor.

While the court room buzzed with astonishment Van der Lubbe, in the defendant's box, kept his eyes glued on the floor.

Perl's appearance furnished the second sensation today, the twenty-eighth day of the hearings in which five alleged communists are accused of setting fire to the German parliament building on Feb. 27.

The other was the accusation of Gustav Lebermann, now serving a prison term in Hamburg for robbery, that Ernst Torgler sought his aid in firing the structure several times in 1931 and 1932. Torgler was once the communist whip in the parliament.

Perl's name was mentioned in the Oct. 5 hearing when Torgler's attorney, Dr. Alfons Sack, told the court that an American attorney, Arthur Garfield Hays, had pointed out the student as having a strong resemblance to Van der Lubbe.

Similarity Noted in London.

Dr. Sack said Hays had noticed the similarity during an unofficial attorney's investigation of the fire conducted in London before the opening of the present trial.

Perl denied having met Torgler the afternoon of the fire, when a Nazi reichstag member said he saw Torgler with Van der Lubbe.

Thereupon the presiding judge, Wilhelm Buenger, declared that "Van der Lubbe might have been identified mistakenly on several other occasions."

Perl testified that he carried a package into the reichstag on Feb. 27, but maintained it contained only materials for the files.

Georgi Dimitroff, one of three Bulgarian defendants, launched another of his bitter attacks on the methods of the supreme court when Lebermann was produced as a star witness against Torgler.

Torgler Calls Charge a Lie.

The prisoner related on the stand that the one-time communist leader had threatened to "plug him with bullets" and kept threatening him after he, Lebermann, refused to set the reichstag afire for about 14,000 marks [now a little less than $5,000].

"How can the supreme court listen to such monstrous lies?" Torgler demanded heatedly.

Dimitroff, who is his own defense counsel, declared sarcastically: "I would like to remark that the circle of testimony against the communist defendants is now complete. It was started by Nazi reichstag members, was continued by a Nazi journalist, and is now finished by a thief—a common thief!"

Pointing to Lebermann, Dimitroff scathingly shouted: "He's the prosecutor's darling!"

Lebermann said he first met Torgler in Hamburg Oct. 21, 1931.

"Torgler promised to use me," the witness testified. "He said he would have to do something that would start a great propaganda against the Nazis. He said one thing ought to be to fire public buildings, including the reichstag.

"He said because I was not well known no one would dream that the Communist party was involved."

Indignantly, Torgler interrupted: "I never saw this man in my life."

Lebermann went on, however.

"On March 6, 1932," he testified, "Torgler was going to meet me in Berlin and take me to the reichstag building to show me and two others how the fire was to be started. I was to be the person to attract attention to myself; I was to make commotion so I would be arrested while the others would escape.

Catholics Urged to Vote for Hitler's Foreign Policy

BERLIN, Oct. 31.—(AP)—An appeal to all Catholics to vote yes, not only on the foreign policy question in the Nov. 12 plebiscite, but also on the reichstag slate of Chancellor Hitler, was issued today by a number of persons, including Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen, himself a Catholic. The appeal especially was addressed to the solid Catholic sections in Suabia, Bavaria, Silesia, the Rhine valley, and Berlin. The appeal was signed by the "joint committee of Catholic Germans."

HITLER EMBLEM OVER CITY HALL STARTLES VIENNA

Police Hunt "Jokers" as Nazis Score Again.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Oct. 31.—Nervous enough already before the drive of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss and the Heimwehr Fascisti, the Socialist municipality of Vienna was upset today to see the swastika banner of Hitlerite Fascism slowly unfurl from the highest tower of its city hall.

The talented showmen of the Nazi party scored again, reminding the Austrian capital that though down under a government ban, they are not out. Thrilled with the success of their last prank, which consisted of breaking out their flag from the opera house during the rush hour, they schemed this time to break it from the loftiest tower of the monster Gothic rathaus where Socialism has been entrenched these 15 years.

The sight of a Nazi banner 30 feet long waving from the Marxist stronghold attracted thousands and incited students from the university across the way, a majority of whom are Nazis, to display wild enthusiasm.

Confusion in City Hall.

In the city hall there was commotion. All doors, even the secret emergency tunnel, were ordered locked while one squad of police scampered to the tower and another scoured the building for the jokers. They decided, however, that the flag had been placed during the night. It was rolled and sealed with wax, though wired so as to melt when an alarm clock was turned on by a battery at noon. Evidently, the persons who put it there knew a lot about the city hall.

Tipped off that somebody had taken a picture of the scene, police rushed off on the scent of a mystery man with a camera and found a Jewish photographer. Asked to explain how he happened along for the unveiling with his camera, he answered simply that a Nazi friend tipped him off. He was released, but the plates were confiscated.

Jews Become Perturbed.

The large Jewish population of Vienna, whose richer members have contributed heavily to the Dollfuss "fatherland front," were alarmed today when the second article inside of a week appeared in the Reichspost, the official organ, declaring that the preponderance of Jews in the professions is intolerable.

Anti-Semitic feeling invaded the opera, where two prominent singers, Zimmerman and Hammes, were ordered to appear before the disciplinary committee for having exhorted their colleagues not to sing before "such a Jewish pig pen."

FOUR NEW YORK MAYOR ENTRIES ON ONE PLATFORM

Only O'Brien Absent; Tell Solution of Problems.

New York, Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Four mayoralty candidates—F. H. La Guardia, Fusion; Joseph V. McKee, Recovery Party; Charles Soloman, Socialist, and Robert Minor, communist—appeared tonight at Carnegie hall under the auspices of the citizens' budget committee and told how they would meet the city's financial problems.

Mayor John P. O'Brien, Tammany candidate, was not present, but was represented by Corporation Counsel Arthur J. W. Hilly, Samuel Untermyer was another speaker. Members of 300 tax payers organizations attended.

La Guardia and McKee agreed that the budget could be reduced greatly and large savings made by elimination of waste.

Counter Attacks.

La Guardia promised that civil service employés would not be disturbed.

McKee, declaring for repeal of the increase in water rates and the nickel taxicab ride tax, said the budget could be balanced by effective economies and abolishing useless jobs.

Untermyer, special financial adviser of the board of estimate, then arose and said they had been talking "poppycock." If the state, he said, would give back to the cities 50 per cent of the money it collects from them in taxes the credit of New York City, as well as other municipalities, would be restored.

La Guardia made an attack upon Tammany Hall and its candidate for reelection, asserting it was the philosophy of government they represented that was responsible for the city's financial plight. He referred to his Recovery party opponent ticket as Tammany's "acquiescing partner to every extravagance."

McKee Admits "Straight Jacket."

McKee insisted that the four-year plan for handling the financial affairs in agreement with the bankers was a "straight jacket" for the city, but "one that was necessary to stave off bankruptcy." But even this plan, he declared, would be a futile gesture if drastic economies were not effected in the cost of government. He asserted that there should be no new taxes and that realty levies must be lower in 1934 than in 1933.

"When a man becomes a menace to himself and to society it is not unusual to put him in a straight jacket," he said. "That is what the four-year plan really is—a straight jacket for the city. It is a most humiliating confession of financial incompetence."

Hilly, representing Mayor O'Brien, created a laugh by remarking that "government, unlike business, is not run for profit." He lauded O'Brien's record and declared the mayor had reduced last year's budget by a total of $113,000,000.

Canal Zone to Try Navy Man as "Hit, Run" Driver

COLON, Panama, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Lieut. John H. Cross, U. S. N., was bound over to the Cristobal district court under $1,000 bail today by a magistrate's court. Lieut. Cross faces trial on a charge of hit and run driving growing out of the death of a brother officer several months ago. A naval court martial exonerated him of a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

GERMANY ASKS FOREIGN WRITERS TO BE "POLITE"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 31.—"Decency and politeness should compel a foreign correspondent enjoying German hospitality to send messages in a shape fitting for a guest in a foreign country," Adolf Wagner, Bavaria's minister of interior, said today. Referring to Noel Panter, British correspondent, who was arrested at Munich because he asserted he saw armed storm troopers and is being held by Nazi authorities pending an investigation, Wagner said:

"Any report about the arming of storm troopers and Hitler guards is a lie. Naturally Hitler's bodyguards and guards protecting other leaders must be armed. That is self-evident."

Wagner stressed the duties of foreign guests, but the German press is disregarding rules of hospitality. It is denouncing Panter as a spy and berating Britons for getting excited at their countryman's fate, while German officials are still assuring the British ambassador that an investigation is still pending and no charges have been formulated.

Herr Himmler, chief of political police in Bavaria, today said he gathered evidence against Panter while watching German journalists and that he suspected him of high treason or of spreading false news. He said the Panter case was referred to the Leipzig supreme court two days after Panter's arrest.

CUBAN PRESIDENT GETS ULTIMATUM FOR RESIGNATION

Radicals Threaten "Drastic Steps."

BY GUSTAVO RENO.

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

HAVANA, Oct. 31.—A delegation from the O. C. R. R. [Organization of Cellular Radical Revolutionaria] today presented to President Ramon Grau San Martin a demand for his immediate resignation. The organization, which is about 20,000 strong, charged that the president, by maintaining a government composed of undisciplined soldiers and demoralized students, has brought about complete disorganization of public administration, economic bankruptcy and business paralysis.

The country, the delegation said, is on the verge of a political revolution and communist anarchy. It warned that if the resignation is not forthcoming soon the O. C. R. R. will join other revolutionary factions and "take steps, no matter how drastic, to oust the administration."

As a result of yesterday's meeting of the student body of the national university to discuss whether the directory is faithfully interpreting the student mind regarding the revolutionary program of the government, six members of the directory resigned today. The students last night issued an ultimatum giving President Grau until Nov. 4 to comply with the student program or resign.

Eighteen thousand cases of malaria in Cuba were announced today by Carlos Finlay, secretary of sanitation. Finlay said he finds it hard to combat the disease due to lack of funds.

Soldiers and laborers shot it out at Ranchuelo last night. About 300 communists attacked the soldiers, who were transferring seven agitators from the Ranchuelo jail to Cienfuegos. Twelve Reds were reported seriously wounded.

Cuba's general strike, scheduled to begin last midnight, failed to materialize.

NEW YORK BUDGET 24 MILLION OVER CITY'S REVENUE

Board Refuses to Cut 140,000 Salaries.

New York, Oct. 31.—[Special.]—In the face of public wrath, and only a few hours after Wall street banks had advanced 25 million dollars to avert municipal bankruptcy, the Tammany controlled board of estimate tonight adopted a budget for 1934 which exceeds expected revenue by 24 million dollars.

The total budget amounts to $554,678,511, a reduction of only $1,298,483 from the tentative figures which aroused public clamor.

How the city hopes to make up the 24 million dollar shortage is not clear, but Controller George McAneny insisted that the budget is "balanced"—that the 24 million dollars excess represents an amount to protect bank loans to the city, and is not properly a budget item.

Untermyer Fights Budget.

However, Samuel Untermyer, financial adviser, is equally insistent that the budget must be cut approximately 25 million dollars or that much additional revenue provided. He proposed a horizontal cut of 5 per cent in the budget, but with the mayoralty election coming on next Tuesday, Tammany officials were unwilling to adopt any measure cutting salaries of 140,000 city workers.

While the time limit has elapsed for cuts by the board of estimate, there is still a chance for reductions by the board of aldermen. The aldermen have until Nov. 25 to make deletions. Some of them feel that Mayor John P. O'Brien and the board of estimate are merely "passing the buck" to them until after the election. The aldermen were further distressed when the mayor put through a resolution specifying that, while no salaries of city employes were to be cut, he had no objection to the aldermen cutting their own salaries.

Banks Hand Over 25 Million.

The four year agreement between the city and the bankers was formally signed today, before $25,000,000 was handed over to meet Nov. 1 pay rolls and $14,000,000 debt interest.

Under the contract, the city submits to first liens upon all of its real estate tax income for four years. In exchange it receives early refunding of approximately $200,000,000 of outstanding short term obligations, the creation of a revolving fund of $207,000,000, to provide for tax anticipation needs for four years, and a guarantee that the banks, in coöperation with savings banks and insurance companies, will purchase $70,000,000 of ten year serial relief bonds.

The banks will be released from all obligations to aid the city financially should there be a default on any condition of the agreement.

DIES OF SKULL FRACTURE.

Edward J. Jarolimek, 30 years old, 2349 South Kedzie avenue, a roofer, died yesterday in the Bethany hospital of a skull fracture received Monday when he was struck by a roll of roofing paper which fell from the roof at 3705 Flourney street.

BUY 151,144 ACRES FOR MONONGAHELA NATIONAL FOREST

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—The national forest reservation commission today announced approval of the purchase of 151,144 acres as an addition to the Monongahela national forest in West Virginia at a cost of $382,004.

The land is the Cherry River Boom and Lumber company property and lies in Pocahontas, Webster and Nicholas counties. It is within the 1,000,000-acre area approved for expansion of the Monongahela forest.

Representative Randolph [Dem., W. Va.], who has urged acquisition of additional forest lands on federal officials, said 160 men would be given employment at once in surveying parties.

FARLEY OPENLY SLAPS TAMMANY HALL LEADERS

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 31.—(AP)—The Rochester Journal today said Postmaster General James A. Farley definitely placed himself on record as vigorously opposed to the present leadership of Tammany hall before leaving this city this morning to speak in Batavia and Buffalo.

"Everybody who knows my political activities during the past two years knows how I stand," the Journal quoted Mr. Farley as saying in an interview. "There are thousands of good Democrats in New York city, but I am opposed to the present leaders of Tammany hall."

Mr. Farley addressed a state assembly political rally here last night and left this morning by automobile for Batavia and Buffalo.

CAPITOL LIMITED

First and Only Air-Conditioned * Train to Washington and New York

Air-conditioned is a scientific term. As used by the Baltimore and Ohio, which was the first railroad to develop air-conditioning and now operates more air-conditioned equipment than any other railroad, it means:

1 Air throughout the train continuously, automatically kept at an even, comfortable, spring-like temperature.

2 Pure, filtered air in constant supply. Conditioning freshens the air—keeps it free from cinders, dirt and other impurities.

3 Closed doors and windows keep out noise.

4 Double, air-tight windows. Complete protection from weather changes and outside dust and dirt.

5 Air circulation. Fresh air—without draft—as you ride, dine or sleep.

6 An electrician always in charge—assuring the comfort of our patrons.

The* CAPITOL LIMITED *gives you these EXCLUSIVE advantages to Washington:

Only all-Pullman service. Only air-conditioned train. Shortest line. Fastest time. Colonial dining cars and famous B & O Southern cooking. Train secretary. These are exclusive features on The Capitol Limited.

It also provides barber-valet, maid-manicure and shower baths; club and sun room observation lounge cars; choice of private sections, drawing rooms, compartments, double bedrooms and individual sections; observation car phone connections at Chicago and Washington stations.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE PRICE OF RAILS.

The administration at Washington is annoyed at the steel companies. The government was prepared to lend hundreds of millions of dollars to the railroads for the purchase of rails, provided the price was right, and called upon the larger steel companies to enter competitive bids for the business. All the companies offered the same price, $37.75 a ton, a figure which the government regards as too high and which, it is charged, is collusive.

The government's conclusions may well be correct, but it is difficult to see how government officials can consistently be annoyed by what has taken place. The new deal is dedicated to the destruction of competitive economics and the substitution of something else. The old idea that a fair price was the price which buyers were willing to pay and sellers to receive, without collusion on either side, has been abandoned. The Sherman act is in abeyance. Price fixing by trade associations and government officials is recognized in many commodities as fair and just. The government, which is in a state of mind at what it regards as a gouging of the railroads by the steel companies, is in no state of mind at all at the comparable treatment of bread eaters and cotton wearers. The gouging of the taxpayers is, of course, approved, as is instanced again by the reported refusal of the government even to consider a Ford bid for automotive equipment, though it was the low bid.

The ideal of a government of laws in this country is out. It has been replaced by a government of whim. Competitive bidding is unfair when Mr. Ford, whom the government does not like, is the low bidder, and noncompetitive bidding is unfair when the steel companies, whom the government also does not like, are bidding for rail orders. The steel companies must engage in what is called cutthroat competition, but it is a crime for milk dealers to do likewise, though some would like to. Meanwhile Mr. Ickes engages in controversies with the cement manufacturers because they present him with identical bids on their product, Brother Peek rages at the board of trade because it is a free market, and the administration wonders why business has hit the toboggan.

A PROPHECY COME TRUE.

The interstate commerce commission has announced that proceedings under the Hoch-Smith rate structure investigation are at an end. In January, 1925, congress passed the Hoch-Smith resolution as a gesture intended to convey to the farmer the impression of sympathy for his freight rate burden. Under its terms the entire freight rate structure of the country was to be examined to determine if each commodity and each individual movement was paying its fair share of the country's transportation bill. If not, readjustments were to be made. Industries in distress were to be given favorable consideration.

The interstate commerce commission took congress at its word and instituted inquiries into levels of western class rates, and rates on cotton, petroleum, furniture, iron and steel, grain, cottonseed, live stock, hay, sand and gravel, nonferrous metals and salt—as a starter. By the end of 1932 they had decided, as stated in their report, that Hoch-Smith cases had "developed into unwieldy proportions" and that "the country is too big to make it generally practicable to deal with it as a whole or even with the major classification territories."

After hearings relating to grain rates extending from 1925 to 1928 the commission reached a decision as to its idea of proper grain rate levels and ordered that they be made effective June 1, 1931. The Supreme court said of this case, "It is plain that a record which was closed in September, 1928, relating to rates on a major description of the traffic of the carriers in a vast territory, cannot be regarded as representative of the conditions existing in 1931. That record pertains to a different economic era and furnishes no adequate criterion of present requirements."

The same remarks will apply to the investigations into freight rates on other commodities. When decisions were made they suited nobody, added nothing to the revenue of the carriers, and generally forced a dislocation of markets.

When the Cullom act, which created the interstate commerce commission, was being argued before the senate in 1886, Senator E. C. Walthall of Mississippi said, "How long would it take the commission to perform even imperfectly the duty of gathering the necessary data on which to proceed advisedly, and then determining on the material collected what rates would be reasonable on all the interstate roads in the Union? So long, I venture to say, that before the completion of the work the changes in business in this active age and in the conditions of the railroads would make necessary a reëxamination of the subject and a readjustment of the rates."

The country will never know the millions that the Hoch-Smith gesture has cost the interstate commerce commission, the railways, and the shippers of this country. The net result seems to have been years of labor by the government bureau and worry for the carriers and shippers to prove that Senator Walthall knew what he was talking about.

THE COMRADES ARE COMING.

Comrade Litvinoff is on his way from Russia to open conversations in the United States looking to a possible or probable reëstablishment of diplomatic relations between the two countries. What is in the comrade's mind and in the minds of his fellow commissars at home can only be guessed at. But something may be revealed by an examination of doctrine. If the comrades are being true to themselves, which is being true to Dr. Marx, Dr. Engels, and Dr. Lenin, they will be very peculiarly placed in any negotiations with the American government.

Their chief doctrinaires have taught them that opportunism and expediency are crimes against communism. Whenever a socialist has revealed that he would compromise the doctrine of the class struggle, the abolition of classes, the dictatorship of the proletariat and the withering of the state he has been read out of the party as a traitor. The gospel according to Marx holds it to be the unforgivable sin to allow communism to be diverted from the abolition of classes and the destruction of capitalistic nationalism by any tempting advantages which might be offered anywhere along the rocky road to success. When a communist steps aside to pick a flower which entices him by its beauty or to pick up a piece of change because at the moment he could use it, he has sinned against the creed, and, being unfaithful to it, he is no longer useful. He has, in fact, become its greatest enemy.

The communists now appear to have yielded to considerations of material advantage offered by friendly relations with the bourgeois, capitalistic, nationalistic United States, a democracy representing, no doubt, the highest approach of the bourgeois to their ideals, but nevertheless containing every error which communism must upset. In the communist dealings with the United States, if on the square, there could be no withering of the state. Even the Russian state, if the dealings were on the square, would be aggrandized in a nationalistic sense and would recognize that it was seeking advantages in association with the nation representing bourgeois success in its highest and most formidable form.

People of the United States may do their own guessing and figure out for themselves on what side of the fence the comrades are prepared to be false. Are they turning traitor to their own doctrines or are they prepared to deal in conscious bad faith for what they can get out of it? If they promise to refrain from missionary work for the soviets in the United States they have ceased to be communists. If they do not cease to refrain but promise and break their promise, even Dr. Marx would call them unworthy hypocrites. The meat eater says he is going to live on spinach.

THE ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH.

The editorial from the St. Louis Post-Dispatch printed on this page requires a word of explanation. The Post-Dispatch is in error in saying that it participated in the Minnesota case to which it refers. This St. Louis newspaper came into the movement for the freedom of the press to obtain license for the printing of lottery news. When Postmaster General Farley changed the post office regulations and checked off the prohibitions against such publication the Post-Dispatch lost interest in the freedom of the press. It has all the freedom it wants.

NRA AND FREEDOM OF THE PRESS.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Prof. Lindsay Rogers of Columbia unversity has effectively answered the charge that for newspapers to submit to codes under NRA would imperil the freedom of the press. It has never been explained by those who make this charge how it is possible for a statutory enactment to nullify the constitution. That document, in article I. of the Bill of Rights, forbids congress to pass any law "abridging the freedom of speech or of the press." Yet they continue to make the charge and wax oratorical about it.

Prof. Rogers makes the point that the constitutional guarantee has never been construed to permit newspapers to ignore workmen's compensation laws, state child labor laws and hours of labor laws. The Milwaukee Journal, advancing the same argument, says that "newspapers can be punished for libel, and so severely punished that they are destroyed, or at least taken from their owners. And they have been."

Under an NRA code, newspapers would bind themselves to an agreement regarding minimum wages and maximum hours. If it were shown that they were violating the agreement, the licensing provisions of the NRA could be invoked. The President, says Prof. Rogers, may exercise licensing powers "only if he finds that 'destructive wage or price cutting or other activities contrary to the policy of the recovery act' are being practiced, and he must give public notice and hearing before he can act."

All this is remote from the principle of freedom of the press. It merely means that a publisher who does not honor his own signature is to be treated like any other chiseler in any other industry. If he persists in violating his agreement, he can, after public hearing, first be subjected to licensing and next have his license revoked. Similarly, if he persistently violates the libel laws, damages can be recovered against him in court that will destroy his power to operate.

The NRA operates toward newspapers in their character as businesses or as manufacturing enterprises, and not in their rôle as purveyors of news and opinion. As the Raleigh News and Observer puts it, "It would be a monstrous thing if the freedom of the press should be interpreted to grant to the press, as an industry, freedom from such regulation of its hours and its wages as are required of other business enterprises. To use the freedom of the press as a means of industrial escape for the newspaper business would be a greater blow to the freedom of the press than any regulation of its operations along with other industry could be." This sentiment is heartily indorsed by the Philadelphia Record, the Chattanooga News and many other newspapers. The Record says NRA can affect the freedom of the press no more than would condemnation of a ramshackle publishing plant by a building inspector.

Col. McCormick of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE says the fight for freedom of the press under NRA is similar to the fight against the Minnesota gag law. The Post-Dispatch participated in the latter fight, and we are unable to detect any basis of comparison. The gag law permitted a single judge's opinion of what was defamatory, regardless of the protection against defamation contained in the state's libel laws, to suppress a publication, without jury trial, and to hold for contempt all of a newspaper's employés if the injunction was violated. That was a violation of freedom of the press, and the United States Supreme court so held.

It may be that many persons are sincerely alarmed over what Col. McCormick and others have to say about newspapers and the NRA. However, the impression is fast gaining ground that it is not freedom of the press that certain newspaper elements are campaigning for, but freedom to escape keeping their agreements under NRA; that these elements, while editorially urging all other industries to coöperate with NRA, want their business exempt from its responsibilities.

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE DOLLAR. Forecast for next twenty-four hours.

Dollar rises at nine. Washington buys unminted gold and stops that. Dollar goes down three points, shifting to southerly. Washington jubilant. Goddess of Liberty on silver dollar gasping for air. Either the excitement is too much for her or she has adenoids. George Washington on the dollar greenback looks very gloomy. Government advisers urge taking George off the greenback because he looks so sad. Suggest a picture of Charlie Chaplin or Herr Hitler or somebody who will make the people laugh.

3 o'clock. Dollar will have another sinking spell if winds shift to the northwest and the temperature falls. Brain trust at Washington will suggest a dollar greenback made of wool and cotton so that it will shrink as it goes down. The size of the dollar, always remaining the same, fools people into believing it will still buy as much ham and eggs as it used to. If the dollar is made so that it will shrink as the market falls then people will know what it's worth by just looking at it.

Its cloth brocade from Tyre, its silver plate
The costliest ware that ever came to bless
A king; its golden goblets all ornate

And pheasant meat the weightiest cares dispel—
"Fall to, ye guests, make merry—all is well!"

Mute eunuchs wipe the cobweb covers from
The ancient flasks, and pour the red-cheeked wine—
Soft music sounds—harp, flageolet, and drum,
White slave girls wield the fan for those who dine.

But when I rise to toast my lord, the King,
And with majestic sweep raise high my bowl
Of wine, and proudly flash my signet ring—
Out of the past comes one unbidden guest, my Soul!

MR. HUTCHINS of the University of Chicago wants a secretary of education added to the President's cabinet in Washington. There are so many professors down there now in the brain trust that it ought to be easy to pick one of them out to be the secretary of education. It ought to be, but it won't. A professor just loves to get as far away from the educational thing which bores him to tears and romp around in finance and economics and farm management and business control and things like that. Whoops! Don't we have fun!

WHEN THE U. S. recognizes the Soviet Russians and they begin coming over here, what are we going to do about the other Russians, the grand dukes and second cousins of the late czar, who are now in our midst giving riding lessons, running elevators, and being doormen to night clubs? It would be very embarrassing to have both a Red and an ex-grand duke as guests at a dinner party. That's something the upper classes have to worry about. Personally it doesn't affect me. I'm willing to recognize all kinds of Russians, but I wouldn't give any of 'em a job washing the car. The grand duke always sneers at me haughtily and the Red Russian tells me that when things change around, as they will do very soon, I'll be washing his car and glad of the chance.

JUST AS MIGHT have been expected! Sam Insull was found nonextraditable by the Greek court in Athens on the grounds that he was a victim of the panic of 1929. Some day the U. S. authorities are going to act on my suggestion and tell the Greek court that Sam was the panic of 1929. At least as far as the northern part of the great midwest was concerned.

THE SOVIET CREED.

"Oh, when I die," said the Russian lass
With rapt expression, "I shall not pass
To a fairer and better world than this,
Where souls are steeped in eternal bliss.
I would not deign, with harp in my hand,
With a bunch of bourgeois angels to stand.
Nor do I expect reincarnation
Into a lower or higher station;
You see, I do not believe in 'class'"
Quoth the rapturous, radical Russian lass,
"Not I. But in the Sweet Bye and Bye, sir,
I hope to become good fertilizer."

CARROTS FOR COLDS.

THERE is some promise that the humble carrot may supply a preventive of common colds and of sinus infections as well. In fact, it may protect against sore throats, pharyngitis, and laryngitis. What is more, it may be a cure as well as a preventive.

For several years it has seemed that some one or more of the vitamins helped to protect us against winter-spring infections. Since vitamin D seemed to meet the bill of requirements for a general winter-spring invigorator, we were disposed to think it protected against the common cold and its relatives. Taking cod liver oil for a month or so after the first of the year became almost a vogue in spite of the taste, so disagreeable to some. The results did not quite come up to expectations. In fact, there was a group of investigators who contended that vitamin D, and the cod liver oil and other medicines that contained it, had no power to ward off colds.

Then came some proof that vitamin A is more potent than D in prodding the body to protect itself. This vitamin is soluble in oils. It abounds in carrots and in various other vegetables. Those vegetable oils that are pigmented, such as the yellow oil of carrots, yellow corn oil, and various other pigmented vegetable products, some of which are not yellow, seem to be the natural source of this vitamin. A substance out of the vitamin is named carotin, because it is found in abundance in that vegetable. So much is known about vitamin A, carotin, and other substances from which it can be built, or which can be derived from it, that we may yet be able to produce the vitamin in the laboratory and release for other purposes the soil now used for growing carrots.

Meanwhile there is some evidence that one way to build up resistance to the common cold is to eat plenty of carrots. For this purpose the yellow varieties grown in gardens are the best. It may be that the best way to prepare carrots for this purpose is to cook them in olive oil or butter. However, carrots cooked in soups and in various other ways contain this protective vaccine.

Nor is the carrot the only vegetable that supplies carotin and the makings for vitamin A.

SKIN RASH.

Mrs. J. D. E. writes: For the last two years, continuously, I have had the most annoying skin rash one could experience. It appears at first like a fine heat rash, burning like fire and itching like a swarm of mosquitoes attacking me. When rubbed or scratched the rash comes out in long elevated lines, or pimples, which disappear in a few minutes and come out again some other place. The only relief is application of cold water, but this is only temporary. I get it on arms, legs, back, and other places. It is worse when I am still, as in sewing, studying, and at night in bed.

Two years ago I used powdered ammonia in bath water. Could this be the cause? Does a nerve condition of any kind ever produce a skin rash?

REPLY.

Your skin is sensitized to something. If you can find what it is and avoid it you need do nothing more. While exposing the skin to alkalis, such as harsh soaps, is sometimes the cause, one such exposure is not enough. It is barely possible that the one use of ammonia set your trap so that exposure to harsh soap springs it. Something connected with your sleeping may be the cause. Is it feather pillows or something in your mattress? Or the warmth of the bed? Nerves is a large factor.

CHANGE YOUR DIET.

M. S. writes: I was troubled with canker sores and tried eating an orange a day. While doing this I did not have any cankers. When I quit eating oranges they came again, and I tried the same treatment the second time, but it did not help. I have tried painting them with tincture of iodine, and this did no good.

1. What causes canker sores?
2. What can I do to get rid of them?

REPLY.

1. They are caused by improper diet and improper eating and bowel habits.
2. Your first experience with oranges points the way. Modify your diet.

GO TO BED HUNGRY.

Mrs. M. C. H. writes: I have spells where I am nervous and can't sleep. Nothing hurts me. I'm just wide awake. It is usually every other night. I have a chronic stomach trouble. Could this cause it?

REPLY.

Try going to bed hungry. Eat no supper. Drink coffee only after breakfast and only one cup then.

SHARING ESTATE.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Oct. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A farm estate was left in equal shares among five children. The estate was closed a year ago. 1. Can one of the children demand his share of land through the Probate court? 2. If the farm cannot be distributed equally does the Probate court have authority to sell the place? 3. This party wants his share of land and does not want it sold.

E. S.

1. Unless there was a will authorizing the executor to sell, the real estate would descend to the children in undivided shares. It would not be the function of the Probate court to divide the real estate into specific particles.
2. No.
3. If the land is capable of division, this could be forced by partition proceedings.

PARTNERSHIP.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Mother and son went into business, the mother investing cash in the same amount as the son. They were to share alike. It became necessary for the son to get some employment outside when business became slow, the mother running same with the profits to be distributed equally. The depression forced them to sell. The son's account was overdrawn. 1. Is this difference still due the mother? 2. Can she collect? 3. Has she any right to any part of the amount the son earned outside? It was not turned in to the business. 4. How much?

L. E. L.

1. Yes.
2. Depends on the son's assets and income.
3. Yes.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS.—The French government's irksome problem of maintaining France's military strength during the lean years of 1934-1939 will have to be met shortly when the 1934 budget is put through parliament.

After years of planning ahead and discarding various solutions to the problem brought on by the small birth rate during the war, the government is said to have an ingenious plan whereby it will cover up the dearth of young men eligible for military training and at the same time effect an economy in the military budget.

Before giving the probable solution it would be well to outline the problem as a whole. France's military force is already below the desired 600,000 for land forces, since it comprises a total of 346,000 men, of which 106,000 are long term conscripts and the remainder youths doing military service. In 1927 the government estimated the number of annual recruits at between 255,000 and 260,000 men, but the figure is already closer to 200,000, and starting next year will be lower still.

Next year the number of youngsters will begin to fall and by 1935 will reach 150,000. In 1936, the worst year, it will be down to a little more than 100,000 and will continue to be small until 1939, when the class is estimated at 158,000. This means a loss of an average of 50 per cent in the number of recruits available during the lean years, and only in 1940 will France again have the number of men it considers necessary unless something is done to make up the deficit.

There are three ways in which the crisis could be met: The period of compulsory service, now fixed at one year, could be extended; reservists could be called to fill the dwindled ranks; or the shortage could be made up to some extent by allowing some of the recruits who are now becoming eligible for military service to wait a while longer, and by calling some due later before their time. For instance, if the men due to begin service this October were held over until next April, the lean April class would be increased and the men in service this winter would be nearly sufficient anyway.

Lengthening the term of military service would arouse criticism abroad as well as at home, and the calling up of reservists would be difficult for like reasons, and, moreover, would not fill up the gap well enough.

Thus the solution chosen is apparently a matter of juggling birthdays. Military service for some men will be delayed and for others it will be brought up a year. From now until 1935 some men will benefit by a delay, but beginning in that year the boys will be called before their time.

The total deficit is estimated at 510,000 men, and half of this will be made up by lowering the age of service from 21 to 20 in 1935, while storing up men due to serve before 1935 will account for the remainder. The authorities figure that they need to "hoard" men equivalent to the number of births in four and a half months, but this is not yet legal, since the law only permits hoarding for three months.

Government leaders have thought of a bait to get this plan through, however, in case there is difficulty. It saves money. Naturally, if there are so many men less doing military service in the next year because their terms have been delayed, the government doesn't have to support them. This will be an attractive item at a time when the budget is plenty difficult to balance anyway. When they do have to be supported it won't be hard to take either, for the hoarded men, plus the regular recruits between 1935 and 1939, will barely reach the total the government has to support this year.

CHURCH AND STATE.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—In THE TRIBUNE of Oct. 28 Miss Greta S. Deffenbaugh attempts to enliven the Halloween season by creating a menacing bogey-man in the form of the school bus bill enacted by the Illinois legislature last summer. The whole matter might well be dismissed as much ado about very little, but since the issue has been raised, may I, as a supporter of schools of all kinds, be allowed a word of comment?

The bill, as I understand it, merely provides that public school buses will pick up children en route to private schools. It offers an obvious, sensible and economical remedy for a problem which exists especially in certain rural sections where private schools are few and far between.

Does this relatively unimportant measure violate the state constitution, which prohibits public support for religious schools? Miss Deffenbaugh seems to think so. Most students of judicial review hesitate to speak dogmatically regarding complex constitutional issues, recognizing that only the Supreme courts can speak authoritatively, and that first-guessers, including attorney generals and similar officials, are very frequently wrong. One might hazard the opinion that the kind of public support contemplated and forbidden by the state constitution is something more direct and substantial than taking children for a ride to private schools in public school buses. The bill is designed, not to aid private schools, but to aid citizens, and suggests little or no additional expense. If, indirectly, it does help private and religious education, so for that matter do the tax-supported public libraries of the state when, as they frequently do, they set aside special books and space for the use of classes in private schools. Surely courtesy and coöperation of this sort is a far cry from state support of private education.

In any event, enthusiasts for public education will defeat their own purposes by harassing the struggling private schools and denying them even the smallest crumbs of public encouragement. In Illinois some 300,000 grade and high school pupils are enrolled in private religious schools, supported, without protest or complaint, by citizens who also contribute to the expense of public education. These religious schools save the taxpayers of Illinois some twenty million dollars a year. If they should be forced to close, as some throughout the country have been, could public education in this state survive the additional load which would be placed upon it? The answer is too obvious. Wise friends of public education ought to realize that the money spent by religious organizations and individuals in private education represents a grant to the public schools.

THE PROCESSES OF JUSTICE.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Here's one policeman murder that apparently has been overlooked by Prosecutor Courtney and his staff in the recent war on crime.

Patrolman William D. Lundy, 27 years on the force, was shot to death in a store at 4310 Ashland avenue by two holdup men the afternoon of Dec. 9, 1932.

Theodore Marcinkiewicz and Joseph Majczek are in the county jail charged with the murder. They were arrested in January of this year. The chief witness against them was Mrs. Walsch, proprietress of the delicatessen.

Countless cases have been disposed of in recent weeks, for which every citizen is thankful, but here is the amazing score in the Lundy case:

Continuances asked, 12.
Continuances granted, 12.

Three delays have been accorded the prisoners because of new attorneys entering the case.

Patrolman Lundy's family, his brother officers and the woman whose life he saved will not forget. From a purely vote-getting standpoint, neither will the New City or stockyards police districts soon forget the passing of the man who spent 24 of his 27 years on the force in those areas without a demerit against his name.

ADVENTURES IN CHICAGO.

Oak Hill, W. Va., Oct. 25.—After a ten day shopping tour and sightseeing trip to A Century of Progress we are safely back in these West Virginia hills without an encounter with a bandit or even a sight of a gunman or gangster.

We would like to extend our thanks to the city of Chicago for a most wonderful trip and to its citizens for the hospitality shown to us while there.

Until this trip to your beautiful city we have made periodical visits to the east for our merchandise, but now you may rest assured that at least once a year we will be in Chicago to buy,

We were told, before entering your metropolis, that it would be impossible for us to drive our car to the city proper, due to congestion, so upon arrival we had our car storaged in a garage on the south side. We then took an elevated to the city and found splendid accommodation at a reasonably priced hotel, suggested to us by a very obliging carman.

On our first day we made a trip to the wonderful Fair, going to the gates by street car, and this time a very courteous motorman took a genuine interest in explaining to us the best gate to enter and where to leave the Fair for a car on our returning trip to our hotel, even furnishing us with a detailed map of the business section of the city. The following day upon leaving the Fair grounds and boarding a car we were very much surprised to hear some one say, "Hope you are enjoying the Fair," and then recognized the motorman as being the one who had given us so much information the day before. This time I asked the location of a certain wholesale house and he again directed us with so much courtesy that we took the number from his badge, which was 5,891, and decided that we would try and take this same car each day from the Fair so we would not lose any time by getting lost or misdirected in the city. This, however, was impossible, as we were always so very much interested in the many wonders of the Fair that we never thought of the time. However, each day and in dozens of different ways the people of Chicago made us feel that we were welcome and civility that we did not dream existed in a city of its size.

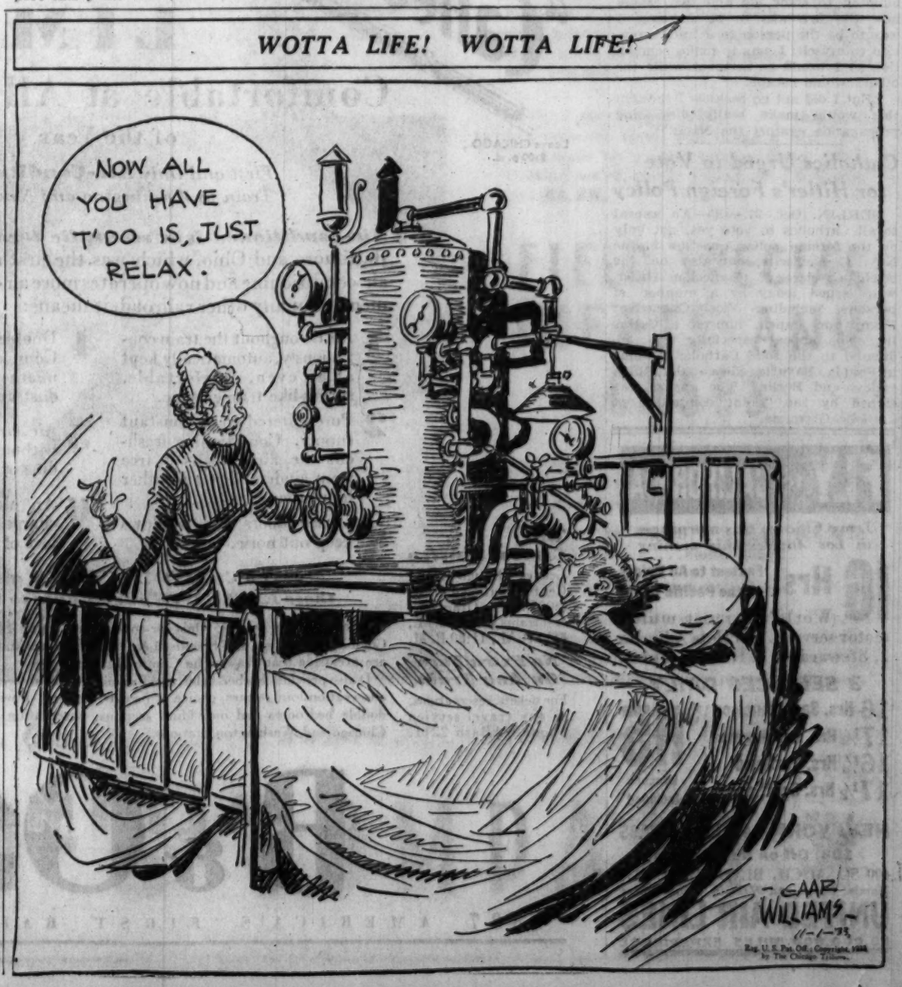
WOTTA LIFE! WOTTA LIFE!



PECORA TRACES PERSONAL BANK LOANS TO WIGGIN

Chase National Cash Used to Trade in Stocks.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Huge loans by the Chase National bank to personal companies of Albert H. Wiggin, then its head, for trading in the bank's stock and creation by Wiggin of companies in Canada to escape income taxes were traced today before the senate banking committee.

Along with a mass of evidence showing these actions, Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, presented testimony and data disclosing that Wiggin's personal companies loaned to the bank's officers and that he began selling the bank stock short just before the 1929 market crash.

Apparently irked by Pecora's figures showing profits running into the millions from stock transactions, Wiggin interrupted the questioning of himself by the counsel today to read a prepared statement, contending that net losses of his personal companies from stock accounts in which the Chase Securities corporation participated from 1917 through 1933 aggregated $5,139,697.

One Profit of 12 Million.

Pecora then brought out in questioning Wiggin and from data collected by the committee's investigators that a group sharing a giant underwriting account in Consolidated Oil stock in 1929 realized a profit of $12,200,000.

Arthur Cutten, wheat trader; Harry F. Sinclair, head of the Consolidated Oil corporation; Blair & Co., the Chase Securities corporation, and the Shermar corporation, the latter a Wiggin personal company, participated in the pool.

Pecora said his records showed a profit of $877,000 to the Shermar corporation; $1,755,000 to Chase Securities, and about $2,500,000 to Sinclair on the basis of a 25 per cent participation.

Pecora developed that in 1928 and 1929 the banker's personal corporations, the Shermar and the Muriyn, borrowed $11,820,000 from the Chase bank on collateral. He said it had all been repaid.

Later in 1929, Pecora showed through evidence and testimony from Wiggin, his companies borrowed $8,000,000 from the bank, with Wiggin adding that $6,588,000 was used to buy Chase stock from the Metpotan corporation, a subsidiary of the Chase securities corporation.

Sold Chase Stock Short.

Pecora brought from Wiggin a declaration that the banker began selling Chase bank stock short Sept. 19, 1929, a month before the market crash, and on Dec. 2 was short 42,500 shares.

"I suppose you read the financial trend and knew the break was coming?" asked Pecora.

"I don't think I'm that wise," replied Wiggin.

He said he wanted some "buying power" in the market and that he thought bank stocks were too high.

"Do you think that was ethical?" persisted Pecora.

"Yes."

Wiggin explained that his family held 116,000 shares of Chase stock during this period, in a net long position.

Pecora laid before the committee evidence to show that in 1927, 1929 and 1932, approximately $193,000,000 was loaned by the Chase bank to companies and enterprises in which the bank's officers were interested.

$40,000 a Year on the Side.

One of these was a $4,000,000 loan to Armour & Co. Wiggin told Senator Couzens [Rep., Mich.], it was made when he [Wiggin] was receiving $40,000 a year from that company as chairman of its finance committee.

The banker agreed many of the loans were not supported by collateral, but explained these were commercial ones and that such borrowers "ordinarily do not give collateral."

He told Pecora that he thought it was "entirely proper" for the bank to lend to its officers, adding:

"I think it is much better if an officer is going to borrow money to borrow it from his own bank, where all the directors know him."

Selling Stock to Employés.

Calling attention to Wiggin's pool operations, Couzens asked if the employés who bought the stock had been protected.

"Nothing ever happened to act to the detriment of the employés," Wiggin said.

"My information is to the contrary," Couzens replied.

Wiggin said when the stock was sold to bank employés the bank thought it was doing them a favor and that no pressure was used. Employés were sold the bank stock on the installment plan, 20 per cent down, with final payment in five years.

During the morning session Wiggin told the committee that his personal corporations had been formed "to help" on income taxes, and that the Canadian companies had been dissolved in 1931.

His Canadian Interests.

He said he did not believe they had helped toward reducing tax payments.

"The companies paid substantial dividends so the stockholders had to pay a tax on their personal incomes," Wiggin explained, after Pecora had brought out that Wiggin and his family owned them.

Formation of the Canadian companies, he said, was to escape income tax payments in the United States.

Look Up Wiggin's Income Tax.

New York, Oct. 31.—[Special.]—The income of Albert H. Wiggin, former head of the Chase National bank, and his tax returns for the last several years are being examined by agents of the department of internal revenue, it was learned today. This examination is caused by the revelations made before the senate investigating committee to Washington.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

STATE CLOSES ITS EVIDENCE IN BOMB TRIAL

Police Testify Against Palermo and Catuara.

The state yesterday completed its evidence in the case of James Catuara, 29 years old, and William Palermo, 28 years old, alleged associates of James ["King of the Bombers"] Belcastro. Catuara and Palermo are on trial before Judge Charles P. Molthrop in the Criminal court. They are charged with manufacturing and carrying explosives.

Members of the police squad that arrested the two defendants in an automobile at Lake and Sangamon streets last April 18 testified to finding a five stick dynamite bomb beneath the car. Policeman Thomas McSweeney said he saw a white package roll from the opened door of the hoodlums car and under it.

"What's this?" he asked Catuara.

"What's what?" was the hoodlum's answer, as the policeman dragged the "white package" out. McSweeney said he found the package to be the bomb fitted with a 40 inch fuse.

Tells of Bribe Offer.

At the detective bureau Catuara asked Sergt. Richard Johnson, the squad leader, if they couldn't arrange to "hold court right here and get it over with," McSweeney testified. Sergt. Johnson, when he took the witness stand, amplified this and said he had been offered a bribe of $1,000 to let the prisoners go.

Dr. Clarence Muehlberger, coroner's chemist and chemical expert for the Northwestern university crime detection laboratory, told of analyzing the dynamite seized. It was of unusually high explosive power, he testified. He said the fuse would have given the bombers 1 minute and 50 seconds to flee before the bomb exploded.

The license of the car Catuara and Palermo were driving was issued to Joseph Brigante, 751 South California avenue, a grocer. Brigante testified that he had not applied for the license plates or received them. He sold the car to Catuara after owning it for only a week, he said.

Catuara and Palermo will offer their defense today. A charge of vagrancy against Palermo in the jury court of Judge Robert J. Dunne was continued to Dec. 15 because of his presence at the bomb trial.

Grand Jury Praises Witness.

The grand jury yesterday complimented John Lynch, 308 Sigel street, a youth of slight build, who told the jurors how he had captured a robber. Lynch appeared as complaining witness against Stanley Knot, 19 years old. He charges he was robbed of $1.88 and his watch by Knot on Oct. 22.

Lynch did not resist the robbery, with a revolver prodding him in the back, he is said to have told the grand jury. But immediately afterward he went home and got a revolver, then started a search for the robber. He found him in Clark street, near Division street.

"I stuck the gun in his back, the way he did to me," Lynch is reported to have testified. "I took my $1.88 and watch back from him and then marched him to the police station."

After complimenting Lynch the grand jury indicted Knot on a charge of robbery and fixed his bond at $10,000.

Six More Sent to Prison.

Six persons were sentenced to prison in the Criminal court during the day, raising to 506 the number of criminals ordered to the penitentiary since the crime war began last August. Those sentenced yesterday:

GUY BASKETT, 28 years old; sentenced to one year to life by Judge Francis B. Allegretti for the robbery of a Walgreen drug store at 5256 South Parkway on July 9. A week later he was shot in the leg and captured by police. His leg was amputated.

THOMAS RHODES, 39 years old, colored; sentenced to 1 to 20 years by Judge Harry B. Miller for the robbery of Roy Harmon, 2113 North Kenneth avenue, on Sept. 1.

SAM KATZ, 30 years old, and JOSEPH GOLDSTINE, 38 years old; sentenced to 1 to 10 years each by Judge Michael Feinberg for defrauding Abe Plofsky, 1840 Humboldt boulevard, of $336 in a confidence game.

JOHN WILLIAMS and CLARENCE THOMPSON, both colored; sentenced to one year to life each by Judge Walter Steffen for robbing Robert Lang, 514 North Green street of $9 on Sept. 3.

SHOT BY TAVERN OWNER.

Edward Downey, 17 years old, 1140 West Madison street, was slightly wounded in the leg when he was shot and captured by Louis Drandani, owner of a beer tavern at 765 Milwaukee avenue, when he broke into the place early yesterday.

LONDON BANDITS GET $60,000 IN GOLD IN DARING DAYLIGHT RAID

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Modern banditry, modified to conform with the era of the one-horse dray, provided London with one of the most sensational robberies in many years today when a gang of hijackers robbed a railway wagon of gold bullion valued at about $60,000. The loot consisted of barred and powdered gold and a small quantity of platinum.

George Barran, a teamster, had started dobbin on his round of deliveries from the London and Northeastern railway station. He was en route to the Sheffield smelting works, where the gold was consigned.

On the way Barran stopped to deliver a small parcel, leaving his assistant, Arthur Coates, 22, in charge of the vehicle. A large sedan pulled up behind the dray and four men leaped out. One seized the bridle and began to lead the horse down the street. Coates let out a yell. The other three men jumped in, throttled the struggling youth, and began a search of the wagon while the horse was still plodding along the curb.

They soon found the gold, contained in a box measuring 2 feet long and 1 foot wide, and dumped it into the street. The robbers made for their automobile, but the box was heavier than they expected and they dropped it twice. They soon placed it in the machine, however, and sped away. They were spotted by a mounted policeman, who gave chase, but his mount was only one horse power and the six cylinder car soon disappeared.

JUDGE LAUNCHES GAMBLING WAR; URGES LICENSING

Police Captain Quizzed in Felony Court.

State's Attorney Courtney said yesterday that he was not ready to give his views on the recommendation of a coroner's jury that gambling in Chicago either be licensed or stopped. Judge Thomas A. Green of the Felony court acted upon the recommendation, however, and started a gambling inquiry of his own.

The recommendation was made by the corner's jury of business and professional men that investigated the murder of Gus Winkler, north side gang chief. During its sessions the jury heard many rumors of open gambling in Chicago but encountered only denials of these reports from the witnesses it questioned.

One of these witnesses was Capt. Martin Mullen, in charge of the gambling detail of the police department. Yesterday Capt. Mullen appeared before Judge Green as the representative of Police Commissioner Allman, who had been invited by the judge to coöperate in a campaign against gamblers.

Tells of Many Arrests.

Asked by Judge Green if gambling was rampant in Chicago, Capt. Mullen said his men had made many arrests this year for gambling. He was asked if he knew William Skidmore, reputed head of the gambling syndicate who told the Winkler jury that he hadn't been in a gambling house in twenty years. Capt. Mullen said he knew Skidmore but didn't know whether he had anything to do with the gambling situation in Chicago.

"Captain, I don't want to criticize you," said Judge Green. "I go to the race track and make a bet when I have the money. I don't mind a little card game or a handbook, but when gambling is controlled by a syndicate and when a little bookie has to have permission from the syndicate to open up, and the syndicate is taking money out of the coffers of the city, then a situation exists which causes murders and other crimes.

Would Help Pay Teachers.

"We need money to run our schools and if gambling were licensed it would provide cash which would help pay the teachers. In Hot Springs gambling is licensed and all the money goes to the city.

"I think it a good idea to license gambling and I am thoroughly in accord with the report of the Winkler jury. When a man like Winkler could dictate which gaming houses could run and which could not we had reached a fine stage.

"Bring me in the names of the men who control gambling in Chicago and I'll issue vagrancy warrants for their arrest. If you don't bring in the names I'll get them from some one else and issue the warrants anyway."

Police Commissioner Allman later said he was glad to have the help of Judge Green. The police will coöperate with the judge, he said.

Circuit Court Will Study Their Reports.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $507,646, making a total of $83,128,280 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
Oct. 31	$ 16,166	$ 50,644
Uncollected	16,759,227	44,694,642
	1930.	1931.
Oct. 31	$ 114,342	$ 326,554
Uncollected	70,834,359	72,309,158

The day's collection of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $61,261.

Receivers for 36 hotels and buildings yesterday made reports to the chancery judges of the Circuit court on the amount of taxes owed by their properties. The reports were submitted on the order of Chief Justice Dennis Normoyle, who has announced that the court's own investigators will study the statements to determine if the receivers are complying with the ruling of County Judge Jarecki to apply 75 per cent of their net income to the payment of delinquent taxes.

The reports showed that the back taxes have been paid in full on three of the properties. These are the 20 East Cedar street building, the 7808 South Shore drive building, and the Sheridan Brompton apartment hotel, 3520 Sheridan road. The other 33 properties owe an aggregate tax bill of $502,280.

Reports to Be Compared.

"These reports will be carefully studied," Judge Normoyle announced, "and the receivers' figures will be compared with those of the court's investigators. If there are any discrepancies, which the receiver cannot explain, he will be requested to resign. If the circumstances warrant it, we will cite receivers for contempt of court."

Judge Normoyle said that he expects to have 100 receivers report each week until the 3,000 receiverships in the Circuit court have been examined. The reports are assigned to the three chancellors who have jurisdiction in the respective cases. The chancellors are Judges Hugo M. Friend, William V. Brothers, and Harry M. Fisher. Thirteen more receivers will report today and thirty-three reports will be received Friday.

Judge Brothers refused to approve the report on the Sherwin hotel, 1205 Sherwin avenue. The statement showed that the hotel owes taxes totaling $30,000 for the years 1927, 1928, 1929 and 1930, although the receiver has $21,000 on hand. Judge Brothers ordered a further hearing and an investigation of the report.

Investigate Another Report.

Judge Brothers also ordered an investigation of the report on the Lincoln Park West apartment hotel, 2136 Lincoln Park West, which owes $11,000 in taxes. The statement showed that the receiver had $6,143 on hand.

Pearson hotel, 100 East Pearson street	79,296
Albion Shore hotel, 1217 Albion avenue	61,493
Churchill hotel, 1255 North State street	28,508
4048 Sheridan road	15,236
6565 Yale avenue	13,618
3832 Sheffield avenue	11,158
3216 North Cleru avenue	10,347
933 Belmont avenue	10,117
	9,955

Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the Superior court announced that questionnaires will be sent out beginning today to the 3,000 receivers appointed by the Superior court. The questionnaires will request information on gross and net incomes on the properties and the amounts of taxes paid. Judge Sullivan has previously indicated that the reports will be examined in the same manner as in the Circuit court and that action will be taken against all receivers who can not satisfactorily explain their failure to pay taxes.

TAX CONTEMPT CASE IS SHIFTED BACK TO JUDGE LINDSAY

Hearing on the contempt citations against seven directors of the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers was transferred to Superior Judge William J. Lindsay yesterday by Judge John P. McGoorty. Judge Lindsay set the hearing for Nov. 7.

Judge McGoorty sent the cases to Judge Lindsay because the latter issued the injunction last February restraining the directors from taking funds from the association treasury. The contempt citations were issued by Judge McGoorty on Oct. 6 when an opposing faction of six directors charged that the seven had withdrawn $70,000 from the treasury and had failed to account for $48,500.

The defendant directors of the association, which was a "tax strike" organization, are Thomas D. Collins, George F. Koester, Earle A. Shilton, Charles L. Schwerin, Jacob L. Kesner, Edward M. Bertha, and Lee J. Lesser.

McDONOUGH PAYS AUDITORS $8,350 IN FIVE MONTHS

Treasurer Answers Excessive Fee Charges.

County Treasurer McDonough last night answered charges made that the firm of McCoy, Holland, Arndt & Sweeney is receiving excessive fees for the auditing of accounts on properties for which the treasurer has been appointed receiver under the Kerner-Skarda act to collect delinquent taxes. The treasurer's report showed that for the five month period from May 1 to Oct. 1 the firm received $8,350 for audits in 2,904 cases.

"In practically all the tax receiverships," the treasurer said, "the auditors made an investigation of the property, which consisted of a survey of the premises, reports of the physical condition, number of tenants, amount of rents, and other necessary information. Fees for auditing are included in the periodic reports presented to County Judge Jarecki for approval or rejection. By his direction notice is given to all interested parties that the agent's report is to be presented on a certain day, giving to any one concerned the right to protest against any item of expense included in such reports.

Pay Salaries Out of Fees.

"The total amount of fees received by the auditing firm from May 1 to Oct. 1 is $8,350. Out of this amount must be taken the salaries and expenses of all the several persons employed by the auditing firm in the work of auditing the buildings. This amount covers all the fees of every character obtained by the auditors from all cases in which the treasurer was appointed receiver from April 28, when the Skarda act took effect, until Oct. 1."

The treasurer explained that he had been informed that bonding companies would not bond his agents for the properties unless the agents' accounts were audited periodically.

Active in 820 Cases.

It was charged yesterday that the auditing firm was receiving $30,000 a month from the county on the basis of $10 a month for each of 3,000 properties. The treasurer explained that although he has been appointed receiver for 2,904 properties, 528 of these receivership petitions have been dismissed because of prior receiverships in other courts; 1,169 receiverships have been vacated by Judge Jarecki on the payment of delinquent taxes, and in 287 other cases the properties are nonincome producing.

There remain only 820 cases in which the treasurer's agents are actively managing the buildings. According to the treasurer's report the auditing firm has received an average of $10 for each property over the five month period.

TAX APPEALS BOARD PLANS NEW COURT MOVE FOR 15% CUT

The formal mandate of the Illinois Supreme court ordering the board of appeals to expunge from its records a 15 per cent horizontal reduction on the assessed valuation of 430,000 homes and small flat buildings in Cook county was served yesterday by a deputy sheriff on Fred W. Brummel, one of the board members. Mr. Brummel said that he did not believe the board would ask for another rehearing in the Supreme court.

With the coöperation of the Chicago Real Estate board, the board of appeals plans another means of enforcing its order. The Chicago Real Estate board will file a test case before County Judge Jarecki on Nov. 13, presenting a writ of error, signed by the board of appeals and ordering the 15 per cent reduction on an individual property. Attorneys for the real estate board will then ask Judge Jarecki to make his ruling effective to the 430,000 properties.

County Assessor Jacobs, relying on the Supreme court ruling, has refused to enter the 15 per cent reductions granted in individual cases.

WORKER KILLED BY FALL.

W. H. Shafer, 23 years old, 6135 University avenue, a worker in the plant of the Corn Products Refining company at Argo, was killed yesterday when he fell 40 feet from a platform on which he had been working.

Others Lose 20 to 70 Lbs.

New Battle Creek Reducing Treatment Takes Off a Pound a Day—on a Full Stomach! Quick Loss of Weight Guaranteed—or No Cost

"I am so grateful for what BonKora has done for me that I want to shout it from the housetops. I have already lost 18 pounds in 2 weeks, taking only 2 bottles. Have reduced from 186 pounds to 168. I have lost 4 inches in bust and 3½ inches in hips. I used to wear 42 dresses; now I wear 38. My indigestion and headaches are gone too. I feel fine, never tired any more. My friends ask me what I have done for myself. I tell them I owe it all to BonKora."

Idaho, Mich. Mrs Frank Cole

How Many Pounds Would You Like to Lose Next Week?

5 pounds? 7 pounds? More? How many pounds would you like to lose altogether? 5 pounds? 20 pounds? 30 pounds? More? Then use BonKora, the new Battle Creek Reducing Treatment.

Don't despair if other methods have failed. Some people write that they had tried baths, exercises, diets, medicines—all in vain. They thought they had some kind of fat that couldn't be reduced. Then the BonKora Treatment took off a pound a day; 10 to 20 pounds in 3 weeks. One woman lost 41 pounds in 5 weeks. Another lost 70 pounds in 14 weeks.

Some who were fat only in spots, saw these ugly bunches of fat go while retaining their desired lines elsewhere. Others fat all over, reduced everywhere. Got rid of heavy chins, bulky shoulders, busts, waists, and limbs.

There are no dangerous drugs in BonKora. In fact, this treatment builds health while reducing fat the quickest way. Avoids wrinkles or folds as you get thin. Users say it made them look years younger. Try BonKora on money-back guarantee shown below. Your fat must go quick, or no cost. You don't risk a penny. So start treatment today.

Why "3-stage" Treatment Takes Off Pounds So Quick

BonKora Treatment takes off fat the new "3-stage" way. Triple action; triple results. That is also why it reduces fat when other methods have failed. All this is explained in BonKora package. You will understand why this treatment reduces fat and watch you have thinner of it before.

Don't starve. Never have a hungry moment. Just take a little BonKora daily to help body function properly and to remove heavy wastes and moisture from fatty tissues. And EAT BIG MEALS of nonfattening menus explained in BonKora package. Reduce faster or slower, as you wish, as shown in directions. But don't get too thin. Stop reducing when you reach the normal and healthiest weight. Then hold your new slender figure.

Chicagoans, Once Fat, Now Slender, Praise Bonkora

What BonKora Treatment has done for these people it should do for you. If you want to lose fat slowly, you can regulate the speed. Some of these writers who were very much over-weight reduced hurriedly. Others took it more gradually. These testimonials are genuine. They were written in gratitude by users of BonKora, the new Battle Creek Reducing Treatment, delighted at quickly losing their ugly fat this safe, harmless, pleasant way.

Lost 61 Pounds

"I weighed 200 pounds before taking BonKora. Now weigh 139. Lost 61 pounds in 10 weeks. Reduced bust 6 inches; hips 9 inches; waist 12½ inches. Used to wear 44 dresses. Now wear 18. Headaches and indigestion all vanished."—Miss Lillian Kahn, 3004 Roosevelt Rd., Chicago, Ill.

Lost 32 Pounds

"I lost 32 pounds in 8 weeks taking BonKora. It also helped my entire system and made me feel fine. I like it, too, because it is so pleasant to take."—Mrs. Grace A. Mattick, 3431 South Parkway, Chicago, Ill.

Loses 25 Pounds Reduces Hips 9 Inches

"I consider BonKora the surest, safe wonder medicine for reducing. I lost 25 pounds in 7 weeks. Now weigh 135 pounds and expect to continue reducing until I weigh 118. I have reduced hips 9 inches; waist 6 inches; bust 6 inches."—Miss Catherine Stevens, 1054 W. 47th Street, Chicago, Ill.

Loses 33 Pounds Feels 20 Years Younger

"I used to be so fat and always ailing. I couldn't do my work. But BonKora did wonders for me. I lost 33 pounds in 8 weeks. Did not starve myself either. BonKora also ended rheumatism and other ailments I had suffered from for 11 years. I feel 20 years younger."—Mrs. Katherine Lukes, 7447 Parnell Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Hockey Team of Past-Debs Shows Skill

Players Regain Their Pep of School Days.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Town and Country club, organized by a dozen post-debutantes who feel the need of some fresh air and exercise to offset the busy lives they lead, is going full swing and the members are having two or three afternoons a week of exhilarating sport at the Skokie playfield in Winnetka. Among the ardent hockey players are Miss Lydia Swift, Miss Marion Gordon, Miss Ethel Dixon, Miss Geraldine Swift, Miss Helen Marie Castle, Miss Jane Brooks, Miss Elizabeth Bunting, and Miss Betsy Needham. Miss Isabel Gordon and two or three others are going to "fry out" for the team shortly.

Last week the Town and Country club played the Roycemore school and ended with a nothing to nothing score, which transported the "T. and C." players into wild flights of joy, for many of them hadn't had a hockey stick in their hands for over two years, and most of them were so short winded that they were panting heavily after running two lengths of the field.

Now that they are a bit more in practice the Town and Country team is becoming more of a threat to other organized teams. This afternoon they will be practicing for the big match tomorrow afternoon that they will play with the high school team of the North Shore Country Day school.

Needless to say, the hockey equipment of the "T. and C." is a bit depleted after two or three years out of school. Most of the correct accessories, such as blazers, bloomers and middies with class colors, are packed away in basements or attics, or have been given away. However, the outfit means nothing to these sportswomen, and they put on anything warm and unhampering that is handy around the house—with amusing and amazing results.

Miss Dixon, who was a star of the University School for Girls' hockey team when she was there, is probably wearing the white sneakers she did then, with "Standing Room Only" and "Single File, Girls," inked on them, according to the fashion of that day.

Society to Attend Ice Hockey Opening.

On Thursday night of next week the ice hockey devotees of society will be wending their way westward as far as the Stadium, where the Blackhawks will play their first game of the season. The other November games are all to be on Sundays, the 12th, 19th and 26th, with the New York Rangers, the Ottawa Senators, and the Boston Bruins, respectively, which means that there will be numerous before-the-game suppers on those nights. In boxes to watch the opening game with the New York Americans will be the Frederic McLaughling, of course; the Lester Armours, the Thorne Donnelleys, the Robert A. Gardners, and numerous others who count watching hockey one of their favorite indoor pastimes.

Century Club Will Hold Farewell Party.

When several hundred of our fashionables put the padlock and chain on one of their favorite World's Fair rendezvous, the Century club, in the wee small hours of Nov. 11 they will not promise that they will never return for another party. It would be putting the cart before the horse, Arthur Meeker, the president, explains, to say that the club will continue another year when it hasn't yet been determined whether we are to have another season of A Century of Progress but at the same time Mr. Meeker doesn't say that the club won't have another spring and summer.

Invitations for the farewell party the night of Nov. 10 . . . stiff white folders printed in heavy black ink . . . were in the mail the other day, so before the end of the week the reservation list will be about ready to be sealed. Because the little pink and blue Century club cannot possibly accommodate more than 300 of its members at one time . . . and there are at least 700 . . . this "farewell flair" is going to overflow into the Blue Ribbon casino below.

There will be hors dœuvres and all that goes with them beginning at 7 o'clock upstairs. Then the party will move to the casino for dinner and dancing. The committee on arrangements which inclues Mrs. Ford Carter, Ernest Byfield, and Niles Trammell, promises to have at least a dozen and a half stage and screen celebrities on hand to entertain with a lively floor show.

It's to be a formal affair, but not too formal. Dinner clothes, according to the invitations, will be the order of the evening.

Of course most of the members of the club directorate . . . and that includes such names as John R. Winterbotham, Willoughby G. Walling, Robert McCormick Adams, Louis C. Sudler, Rush C. Butler, Robert F. Carr, Edison Dick, and Charles F. Glore . . . will be on hand for the farewell flair, but they're also to have a more exclusive "good-by" ceremony of their own.

On the evening of Nov. 7 . . . the directors will entertain in the club's

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

THE latest slang to come to attention is from the lips of Dean Meeks, head of the architectural and art schools of Yale university. When he was in town recently he spent most of the two days at the Art institute. Passing through the galleries one morning with Director Harshe he ran into three of his students.

Slang—
Snobbery—
Parasol—
Thrift—
Authors—Critic.

"Gentlemen," said the dean, "are you not cutting classes?"

"Yes," said one of the lads, "but we had heard so much about this show we had to cut for a couple of days to see it."

The dean turned to Dr. Harshe with a wink and said, "Apple polishers!"

It's New Haven slang for the kind of lads who bring teacher a nice shiny apple.

A NICE illustration of snobbery was offered by a woman who went to Sinai temple Monday evening, when Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, Prof. Mordecai Ezekiel, and Norman Thomas were on the program. She hunted up the executive director of the temple, S. D. Schwartz, to complain that she could not get a seat on the main floor, and he told her that if she wasted any time she probably would not be able to find one in the balcony either. At this point she drew herself up and said haughtily:

"My dear sir, I am not dressed for sitting in any balcony."

BESS STREETER ALDRICH, here last week-end to see the Fair and be a guest at the first luncheon of the season to be given by the Society of Midland Authors, bought a ruffled chiffon parasol with the first money—$5 in cash—she ever received from a story, she told the authors. The fact that she had nothing suitable to wear with it did not prevent her from enjoying its possession. Mrs. Streeter's "Lantern in Her Hand," which was largely the life of her mother, a Nebraska pioneer, has had 52 printings and is still selling.

ALTHOUGH the parasol incident was hardly in keeping with her Scotch ancestry, Mrs. Streeter's son showed his Scotch heritage the other day. He found he could have six ties cleaned for a dollar. As he had only five soiled ones, he put in a clean one to make it six.

WHILE we're mentioning books and authors, we might point out that Margaret Ayer Barnes' "Within This Present," just off the press and inclosed in a handsome black and yellow jacket, is dedicated to her three sons, Cecil, Edward Larrabee, and Benjamin Ayer Barnes, "three boys who bear the names of a schoolmaster, a priest, and a lawyer who loved Chicago and served it."

Good Morning!

Egyptians, Arabs, scientists [a scientist, rather—let's be exact, for goodness' sake!], villains, monkeys, elephants, lions, deer, and a blonde whose makeup survives her most harrowing experiences, assist Buster Crabbe in his latest Tarzan venture—story by Edgar Rice Burroughs.

It's pretty infantile stuff. There's not a situation in the piece that will appeal to the average adult be he never so naive. But the kids—the Roosevelt was crowded with excited, laughing youngsters Saturday—loved "Tarzan, the Fearless," and greeted with a shout the announcement flashed on the screen at the film's conclusion stating that there is to be a new episode each week of this jungle thriller. [?]

The present installment is a feature length, but the coming pictures will be short and shown in addition to the usual feature photoplay.

The action, of course, takes place in the jungles of—darkest Africa, isn't it?—where Tarzan, the white man who was raised by lions, is discovered bossing the wilds as usual. He saves a white scientist who is about to be put to death by some Egyptians whose rites he has crashed in on.

The scientist has a daughter he's parked at a distant camp in charge of several white men—one of whom appears to be her fiancé—and, yes, I'm sure of it—some Arabs, though, of course, there are regular jungle blacks also.

The daughter and her entourage start out to locate papa. Tarzan, who has been sent to find the maid by her father, rescues her from the jaws of an alligator. Following which coup life becomes just one thing after another and . . . continued in our next. . . .

To me "Tarzan, the Fearless" came pretty nearly being zero in entertainment.

National Fur Week Attracts Wise Buyers

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Since every one is celebrating fur week in all the shops and stores, the good buys are going fast . . . . from swagger coats to opulent evening wraps.

You can find some new nutria coats in one collection that will make you hold your breath. They are as soft and supple and luxurious as thick velvet . . . made in a new sleek way in wide squares of the fur. . . . They have new moderately puffed sleeves that end a bit below the elbow [the newest models to be worn with long suede gloves] or you can find them with swanky loose simple sleeves that reach the wrist.

These coats are stunning for daytime wear, just about the best looking affairs you can wrap around your anatomy.

Taupe kidskin is another new "smoothie." . . . One knockout model is made with dropped shoulder seams and a fitted silhouette that will slice inches off the body. . . . The taupe shade is amazingly becoming and the coat is one of exceptional beauty. The belt is optional.

Steel gray kidskin, with lovely shadings of darker iron gray, are ideal buys for general wear. . . . They are fashioned in a slim sleek manner with or without belts. . . . Some of the warmer models are lined throughout with gay wool plaid.

For the first time in ages you can go on a shopping binge and buy exquisite evening wraps of incredibly lovely chinchilla [rabbit], superlatively snooty models in this hitherto rather unobtainable stuff. The pelts are as soft as velvet and the glamorously lovely gray shade is as flattering and beautiful as the fabulous genuine chinchilla. One model is made with intricate draped sleeves with a swinging cape silhouette in the back. Another is made wide and loose, with loose sleeves and an ascot tie at the high neckline.

Kiepura, Polish Star of "Be Mine Tonight," Coming to Hollywood

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Jan Kiepura, romantic singing dramatic star, is to be brought from Europe as Hollywood's newest movie "find," according to announcement from Universal studio.

The Polish star, whose European-made movie "Be Mine Tonight," was a hit in America this season, is coming on contract to sing, woo and act in four Universal films, the first being "A Song for You." Joe May, German director, is being imported to handle Kiepura's American debut. Kiepura declined to come to this country on a former occasion.

Three Artists in Concert of Unusual Form

BY EDWARD MOORE.

A recital program of somewhat uncustomary form was presented at Kimball hall last night. Michael Wilkomirski and Doriss Wittich played a series of works composed for violin and piano, their appearances being varied by George Dopp, who sang two groups of songs for baritone voice.

Mr. Wilkomirski and Miss Wittich are artists of great merit. They are brilliant individually, and in addition they have learned the art of working together in the team play of ensemble playing. This was particularly the case of Miss Wittich, who was not only an effective coadjutor for Mr. Wilkomirski but an accompanist far beyond the ordinary for Mr. Dopp.

They played sonatas so well that the only wonder was that they did not insist upon following the usual course of presenting a program without outside help. They were able to give artistic importance to the Beethoven sonata, opus 30, No. 3, which is by no means Beethoven's most outstanding contribution to the cause of music, not to mention the great sonata by Cesar Franck and three "Mythes" by the Polish modernist, Karol Szymanowski. It was a performance of a style that would seem to demand future dating.

Mr. Dopp's two appearances were divided between the ancients of Peri, Legreuze, an arrangement by A. Walter Kramer, Arnold, and Handel, and the moderns of Clara Edward, Richard Hageman, Richard Kountz, and Deems Taylor. He has an excellent voice.

THIRD AND LAST

By NORVAL RICHARDSON

SYNOPSIS.

Sheila, known as "Bun" O'Reilly, an American, makes a comfortable living abroad by helping fellow countrymen out of difficulties. Fred Crawford, a Paris newspaper man, is her friend and counselor. Bun agrees to help James B. Finlay, an elderly, wealthy American, find his young wife, Helene. He wants no publicity. He had met Helene after the war at Bucharest. He had installed her family, the Bobianoffs, in a villa on the Riviera at Grasse. Her brother, Ferenz, he had brought to America. No trace can be found of Helene and her parents since the last time she returned to visit them. Bun's suspicions are aroused by Finlay's niece, Mrs. Craymer. A recent newspaper picture showing Helene standing with a tall woman in a group at Biarritz is the only clew Bun has to go on. That same night Finlay is murdered. Bun's apartment is broken into, her maid, Liberté, bound, and the money Finlay had given her as advance payment stolen. Finlay's son, Robert, arrives from America. His unlikeness to his father and his desire for secrecy puzzles Bun. In Biarritz the photographer who took the group picture identifies the tall woman as the Countess Vernadon, who has a villa at Grasse. Bun motors to Cannes. There she meets the real Robert Finlay. The other was an impostor. Bun is attracted to him, but believes he's in love with Helene. He urges her to continue the quest with him. Mrs. Craymer appears at the hotel. That night Bun and Robert call on Countess Vernadon at her dreary villa. She denies knowing Helene. As they are leaving they see a woman fall from a window. Back at the hotel Bun sees Mrs. Craymer drop a note surreptitiously to Robert. Bun and Robert call on the Prefect of Police in Grasse.

INSTALLMENT XXVII.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION.

Bun's glance had traveled to the papers in the dossier and saw that many more were there than were necessary for the information just given her. She tried her most gracious smile. "That, of course, Monsieur, is the official information. What Mr. Finlay is looking for is what might be called unofficial. He would like very much to know what those other papers might indicate, that is, if it would not be a breach of official etiquette to tell him."

The prefect looked at her over the steel rimmed spectacles and showed no disposition to respond to her smile. "The notes you refer to, Mademoiselle, are for our private use."

"Yes, I know—and just what we want. In a way, the Bobianoff family are connected with Mr. Finlay. As a matter of fact the daughter married Mr. Finlay's father. For the last three months he has been unable to get into communication with her or with her parents. They have replied to neither letters nor telegrams. Did they leave no forwarding address?"

"If they did, it might be furnished you by the bureau des postes et telegraphes."

"Then you can give us no reason for their leaving here—or where they can be found?"

For a second his eyes met Bun's; then he grudgingly looked at the papers spread out before him. "The record here is satisfactory. They lived quietly, employed three servants, paid their bills promptly, and lived as many other foreign families do here."

"And their associates were?"

"They had no friends among the French population. Their associates were confined strictly to the foreign element."

"Is the Countess Vernadon mentioned among their friends?"

Again there was a quick glance from the prefect. This time he took off his spectacles and faced Bun inquiringly. He might have just as well said: "I find you an exceedingly inquisitive young woman who knows more than she is telling." However, he nodded after a slight pause and admitted that Mme. La Comtesse was mentioned as being known by them.

Bun wondered how much more information she could drag out of this arid source. Nothing risked, nothing gained, she decided and put another question. "I suppose you naturally have a dossier of the Countess Vernadon?"

"We have a dossier on all foreign residents here."

"But isn't she French?"

"Her husband is. She is of Polish origin."

"Could you tell us what her household consists of here. I ask this." She hurried on as a warning scowl told her the prefect would not stand for much more questioning, "because last night Mr. Finlay and I called on her. As we left an accident occurred. Her maid fell out of a window. We were asked to leave a message with Dr. Vernier to go at once to the villa. I thought perhaps you had heard whether the accident was serious or not."

For the first time the prefect showed stirring interest. "And did you find Dr. Vernier?"

"We did. He said he would go there at once."

The prefect's interest faded as quickly as it had come to life. "Then he would be the one to give you the information you seek."

"If this is the sort of help we're going to be given here," Finlay complained as they left the building, "I doubt if we get very far. What was the great idea in telling him about the accident?"

"I only wanted to see if he had any incriminating reports on the Villa des Roses."

"Well—has he?"

"If he didn't have before—and I'm not so sure that he hadn't—he will from now on. I venture to say that mummy assistant is already on a motorcycle blazing the countryside for details. Let's hope your banking agency will show itself more expansive."

The agency was composed of one man who filled the position of president, cashier, and teller combined, besides being a sort of general tourist agent for motor trips in the vicinity. His English was fluent, exceedingly so when Finlay presented a letter of introduction from his lawyer in Paris. When he learned that Finlay was the son of the man who had bought the villa for the Bobianoffs his enthusiasm became almost unmanageable.

"But I, Monsieur—it was I who arranged that purchase. It was I who signed the deeds. You will find my name on them—Marius Sigare—of Marseilles. The Bobianoffs are among my best clients here."

Finlay's face brightened. "Then you probably cashed the checks my father sent them."

"Yes, yes—of course. All of them." His face fell: "Alas—until they left here."

"Have you heard from them since they left?"

"No." Here his voice showed a confidentially lowered tone. "And as a matter of fact, Monsieur, that has impressed me as a little strange. They have never written me since their departure. I shall be glad to have news of them. Monsieur Bobianoff was a delightful gentleman. And madame!"

"I have never met them," Finlay stated; and saw the agent's eyebrows rise to the middle of his forehead.

"Then you have a great pleasure before you. They were—how shall I say!—a bit exclusive. But that is easily explained by their desperate experience during the war. I believe they have never quite recovered from the shock of losing everything they possessed."

"Did you meet their daughter—my father's wife—when she spent several summers here with them?"

The agent nodded. "I once had that honor."

Bun, listening and watching him intently, saw his expression change. The same look she had seen in Crawford's eyes when he looked at the photograph, the same that had shown in Finlay's when he spoke of her, was to the fore again in this voluble little agent's. The effect of this glamorous woman was indeed far reaching. No man she had yet met seemed capable of escaping her influence.

"I should say your father was very much to be congratulated. She was the most beautiful woman I have ever seen—really beautiful."

Finlay was silent a moment. "Yes—we all felt that way about Helene." Then: "Did you see her when she came here this spring—last March?"

The agent's eyes were now sad. "No—I regret to say I did not."

Finlay leaned forward. "But she was here?"

"Yes, she was here—though I must admit I was not told so by Monsieur Bobianoff. I learned it quite accidentally." He smiled deprecatingly. "We heard it from our cook. Her sister was the Bobianoff's cook. She told us that Monsieur Bobianoff went to Paris to meet his daughter and brought her here a few days before they left for Rumania. So far as I know, no one saw her while she was here."

Finlay sat back with an exclamation of relief. "That's the most important thing I've heard since I arrived—to know that she was actually here. I shall tell you, in the strictest confidence, that my stepmother has not been heard from since she left America. That is my reason for coming here. I must get into communication with her family—and through them with her."

"Yes—and no. I know her by sight. I think she was a friend of Monsieur and Madame Bobianoff."

"Then why should she have told us that she did not know them?"

"She told you that!"

"Yes. Last night when I called at her villa."

Norma Shearer Retains Beauty of Early Years

Competition Fails to Dim Enduring Charm.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

HOLLYWOOD. — [Special.]—Some years ago when screen personages were asked to vote for the one "more beautiful than all the rest," Norma Shearer proved entitled to the distinction. This was in the comparatively eary days of Miss Shearer's screen career. I remember saying at the time she had the quality of beauty that would endure long after others of her day had passed into oblivion.

Seeing and talking with her the other day, I was again impressed with the enduring type of beauty that is hers. Only it is not a type. It's not a period. It's not an age. It's beauty that always did, and always will, earn tribute. Though girl styles may come and go, as they have in screen history, types and personalities registering for a time, the pictorial glory that is Miss Shearer's is never dimmed by contrast. No more than the rose is dimmed by orchid growths, by flame colored petals of any name, or by hybrid growths that startle with their unusualness.

Not a day older does this beautiful screen star look today than at that earlier period in her screen career. Younger, if anything. For she has added to her natural great beauty equipment a great chic in dress, a smartness of grooming, and an air of distinction surpassed by none other in this community of smartly dressed, well groomed, beautiful women.

Too, she radiates a happiness not commonly noted in the feminine residents hereabout. She must be rarely happy in her marriage and in her success to look so vividly alive and gay.

Her setting is charming, as a beautiful woman's home background should be. Modern, sophisticated, elegant, yet with a simplicity (expensive, true) that is impressive. The same descriptives apply to her clothes and her general appearance, modern, sophisticated, elegant, and "extensively" simple. Ready for the street, she was wearing an exquisitely simple black dress, with a small monk's cowl lined in white hanging from collar back; black suede pumps, immaculate white gloves, and a stunning small black antelope tam tipped smartly over an eye.

She wears very little makeup and no bright nail coloring, no bracelets, a magnificent diamond ring her only jewel adornment.

She swims a lot. She does a ten minute morning setup and, like the smart modern she is, attaches great importance to sane health upkeep without being fanatic.

Lupe Becomes Disturbed in Movie Theater

She Can't Find Seat Next to Johnny.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—When the new Mrs. John Weissmuller decides to display domestic dudgeon she does it with witnesses, or at least that is what the entire left side of the balcony in Warner's Hollywood movie theater thought last Saturday. Lupe and Johnny, who were just getting ready to announce their Nevada wedding, visited the theater for a stolen honeymoon hour. Johnny with his hair bobbed long à la Tarzan and Lupe with hers bobbed slightly longer à la Lupe.

Spying two vacant seats, Lupe uttered a few little yips of encouragement to Johnny and dodged her way through the broken field, scooting the length of one aisle east and thirteen rows down, while the rest of the theater turned and stared.

The stares must have stirred Johnny's latent inhibitions, for he hung back while Lupe leaped into one of the vacant seats and turned to look for Johnny. The theater lights flickered, the performance resumed, and Johnny, making a delayed start, fell over the first step in the stairway. While he was getting up some other man took the seat beside Lupe.

The onlookers' amusement irritated Lupe, who wrapped her fur coat around her and quit the seat and the balcony. Johnny found himself a single seat farther back in the house and sat tight. A little while later Lupe came back, sat down on the carpeted steps of the aisle beside Johnny, and the war was over.

It was during the making of "Hoopla," just completed at the Fox lot. The maid brought Clara Bow, who is on a diet, her allotted morning portion—piece of toast and cup of coffee. Clara moodily ate the toast and drank the coffee. When she finished her mood was more pronounced. Clara dispelled general tension by hailing her maid: "Now bring me some scrambled eggs and a regular breakfast."

Georgie Raft, whose rôle in Paramount's "Bolero" parallels the story of the late Vernon Castle, has seven sensational dances which he must do in the film. Like Castle, he does his dances with many changes of dancing partners. Two of them will be with Carole Lombard, others with Adrienne Ames and with Frances Drake. Raft is also taking lessons in bull fighting technique and matador strutting from Bebe Ortiz, a bull fighter.

Miss Anna Walsh to Be Bride Today.

In a ceremony marked by quiet simplicity, one of the most popular of society's post-debs, Miss Ann Elizabeth Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Walsh, will be married to Roy Leonard Flannery, son of John Leason Flannery of New York, at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the tiny chapel of St. Chrysostom's church. The Rev. Dr. Dudley Stark will read the service before a candle-lighted altar.

Miss Walsh and Mr. Flannery are to be unattended and there will be no reception following the ceremony since the young couple expect to leave almost immediately for a cruise that will take them to the West Indies and various South American ports. Upon their return on or about Dec. 1 Mr. Flannery and his bride are to make their home in a small apartment at 926 Hinman avenue, Evanston, which they have already started furnishing.

Only the immediate families have been invited to the ceremony. Mr. Flannery's father is expected from the east this morning and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Woolverton and their daughter, Betty, relatives of Mr. Flannery, will come today from South Bend, Ind.

Announce Luncheon for Mme. de Gramont.

The Alliance Francaise and Le Cercle Francais have cards out for a luncheon they will give on Saturday, Nov. 18, at the Casino for Mme. Elizabeth de Gramont, following the Town Hall lecture she will give at the Drake that morning.

Mme. de Gramont, an aristocratic and extremely modern Frenchwoman who is the representative of the two oldest ducal families in France, will talk on "Chateaux and Chateau Life in France." Mme. de Gramont will arrive on Friday, the 17th, and that night Mrs. Welch Dickinson will entertain at dinner for her at her Walton place apartment.

On Tuesday, the 21st, members of Le Cercle Francais will hear this distinguished Frenchwoman speak in French and on the 22d she will speak on "Chateau Life in France" at the first of the Alliance Juniors' programs, which is to be given in Mrs. Charles S. Dewey's home on State parkway.

Mrs. Brewster Will Entertain Juniors.

Mrs. Walter S. Brewster is having the December meeting of the Juniors in her home, and she and Miss Barbara Wendell, chairman of the Juniors' programs, are arranging a delightful surprise. Although the Juniors have been organized only one year, they have already had three chairmen — Mrs. Malcolm Henderson [Paula Wilms], Mrs. Charles S. Dewey Jr. [Marjorie Goodman], and Mrs. Allen Earle Whitman [Betty Brown]—for marriage eliminates girls from holding a membership in the Juniors. Just who the next chairman will be is still undecided, but there are sixty members to choose from.

Throughout the winter season the Alliance clubrooms in the Fine Arts building will be filled with the seasonal activities of both the Alliance and the Juniors. The Saturday noon conferences start this week-end with a talk by René Weiller, French consul general, who will speak on "La Salle, the First Governor of Illinois." The classes in French, which are offered free to the Alliance and Junior members, given by Prof. Marius Jean, start today at noon for beginners and tomorrow at noon for the intermediate students, and in the evening for the advanced pupils. These three classes will continue weekly.

As soon as the Fair is closed the Thursday afternoon causeries will be resumed. Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes has joined the causeries, and Mme. Weiller will be hostess at the first one.

John W. Roots to Give Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Root are planning a dinner party for Saturday evening at their East Walton place apartment for their house guest, Mrs. Michael Dearth. Mrs. Dearth is a former Chicagoan who left the city three years ago to live in Florence, Italy. After their dinner Saturday the Roots plan to take their guests to the Mae West ball which the North Avenue Day Nursery is having at the Drake hotel. Later in the winter the Roots hope to get away for a sea voyage, perhaps a Mediterranean cruise.

There were many who regretted seeing Mrs. James Miller, Brazil's attractive representative to A Century of Progress, take leave of Chicago yesterday, for in the few short months she has been here she has won for herself a host of new friends.

Characteristic of her sincere, friendly personality was her thoughtfulness of reporters. Never was she tired or rushed when bombarded with questions, and if asked her own name or that of any of her guests she took the trouble to write it for the person who inquired . . . signatures that more than one reporter has safely tucked away. Mrs. Miller left by plane for New York and will sail the end of this week on the Ile de France for Europe. There she will spend at least two months before returning to her own country.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hyde Ball III. of Winnetka are being congratulated on the birth of a son on Oct. 18 at the Evanston hospital. The baby has been named David. He has a sister, Kathleen Elizabeth, and two brothers, Edward Hyde Ball IV, and John Fleming Ball.

Frank J. Loesches to Return Today.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Loesch are returning to their apartment at the Drake hotel today after an extended vacation at Mrs. Loesch's former home in Cooperstown, N. Y. With them will come the very much beloved Mrs. Stephen G. Browning, Mrs. Loesch's mother, who this next March is to celebrate her 97th birthday.

Among the guests invited to the dinner that President and Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago are giving tonight for Prof. Alexander Meiklejohn, who is visiting the university, are Mr. and Mrs. William A. Nitze, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Linn, the Chauncey S. Bouchers, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Works, the Gordon J. Laings, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Gaus, and Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Sharp.

Prof. Meiklejohn, a past president of Amherst college and later head of the experimental college at the University of Wisconsin, is giving two public lectures at Mandel hall, one on "Education and Social Order" Monday evening at 8:30, and the second on "Significant Living" at 4:30 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon.

Among those who have boxes for the Mediterranean Cruise ball which is being held Saturday night in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel to benefit the Sunbeam league are Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Dewson, Dr. and Mrs. James Rupert Wolfenden, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Stevens and the women of the board of the Chicago Home for Convalescent Women and Children.

Chanel Touches Her Frocks with Brilliant Gold

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Chanel's winter collection goes definitely on the gold standard. This clever designer makes, as you probably know, her own materials, and gold threads have not been stinted in their weaving. Red wool with a gold thread underweave is used to make sports suits. Pure gold moire appears as the fabric of evening dresses, and simple frocks for afternoon have pure gold details like buttons, plastrons, and cravats.

A gold touched model is sketched. It is one of those perfect little frocks for which this creator is famous, and is the spirit of youth in velvet and gold. The frock is made of rich, reddish brown velvet, cut very simply, and buttoned part way down the front on small velvet covered buttons. The short, kimono cut sleeves are split on top from the armholes, and joined at the bottom by buttoning on two velvet covered buttons.

There is a pointed shoulder yoke at the back and front, a yoke that rises into a small flaring collar with points at the sides of the front. Under this collar is a gold and brown plaid taffeta cravat, knotted under the chin, and the two ends passed under slits at the sides of the yoke.

BY MARY MEADE.

If you're the type who waits until the last rose of summer has wilted and gone and the trees are shedding their leaves before you feel a spurt of energy and head kitchenward, you're most likely bemoaning the fact that you didn't take advantage of the bargains in luscious summer fruits and stock up your shelves with jams and preserves. But don't feel too downhearted, for the excess fruits have been dried and are now on the market for your use. And in case you haven't already grown wise to the fact, they make some of the finest jams and preserves you've ever tasted. What's more, when kitchens—or kitchenettes—have no shelves for lining up rows of jelly glasses small batches may be prepared every few weeks and the family kept just as satisfactorily primmed as ever.

To take off, let's do a comgiot in the form of:

MIXED FRUIT CONSERVE.
½ pound dried peaches
½ pound dried apricots
½ pound dried prunes
1 orange
½ cup seedless raisins, chopped fine
½ cup nut meats, broken coarsely
2½ cups sugar

Wash the dried fruit in several waters and soak overnight. Cook in the same water in which the fruit was soaked until tender. Then press through a sieve. Add the juice and grated rind of the orange, together with the raisins and nut meats, to the fruit pulp and simmer all together for ten minutes. Then add the sugar and cook until rich and thick. Pour into hot, sterile jars and seal.

PEACH BUTTER.
1 pound dried peaches
2 cups water
½ pound sugar

Wash the peaches, soak several hours, and cook slowly until soft enough to break easily. Mash to a pulp with a potato masher, then add the sugar. Simmer slowly until thick, then pour into hot sterile jars and seal.

SPICED PRUNE MARMALADE.
1 pound dried prunes
1 cup vinegar
1 1-3 cups sugar
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon

Soak the prunes in water overnight. Then simmer for one hour in the same water. Drain, saving the juice, and remove the pits. Cut the prunes in pieces, simmer with the juice, vinegar, sugar, and spices until thick. Pour into hot, sterile glasses, and seal.

Dinner and Dance Frock Combines Draped Neckline and Fitted Bodice

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DANCE OR DINNER FROCK.

The sheathlike lines and seamed detail of the bodice, coupled with the full hemline of the skirt of this lovely gown, are up to the minute details, and the conservative cut of the neckline is another feature. A wild blackberry velvet, bottle green velvet, white or black satin, bright red moire silk, and a mauve faille crêpe are pleasing suggestions.

The pattern, No. 3034, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure.

How to Order Clotilde Patterns.

Write your name and address plainly on dotted lines, giving number and size of such patterns as you want. Inclose 10 cents in stamps or coin [coin preferred; wrap it carefully] for each number, and address your order to Clotilde Patterns, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central station, New York City.

Note—Clotilde patterns are made in New York exclusively for THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE. They are perfect in fit, up to date in style, and the easiest of all patterns to use.

Wife's Salary Often Cause of Screen Divorce

BY DORIS BLAKE.

HOLLYWOOD. — [Special.] — The difficulty of a man, no matter what his vocation, adjusting himself in marriage to a wife of greater earning capacity was cited yesterday by an executive as one of Hollywood's marriage problems.

It happens frequently in the unstable Hollywood atmosphere that a girl marries a man whose position in the stellar rôle is at first superior to hers. All is well for a time. Then by the vagaries of fate that mark screen triumphs, frequently the girl takes the financial lead. The man's popularity is waning, or has waned. He's conscious that he is slipping, or has slipped, and resents the woman's success bitterly. He sits around while he sees his wife going off to work jubilantly. And no man, actor, plumber, doctor, merchant, or chief, can view this scene with equanimity.

And women, earning a terrific wage in this salary fairyland [plenty for two to live on], are found resenting this inferior male wage earner. It's not a quality peculiar alone to Hollywood women of the interchangeable husband type, but to many wage earning women the world over. Only here the wage of the big feminine earner allows her to indulge self-willedness if she chooses. It's a fault of so many modern wage earners of the female variety to want the great financial independence and at the same time enjoy the sensation of the "big strong man" support, too.

Anyway, this is cited as one clause in the Hollywood marriage contract not looked forward to or prepared against.

Then, another phase of married life here that couples in other walks escape is the frequent separation necessary to the work. For days, weeks, months, at a time, one of the united pair may be on location, the other left at home. As Dr. Poponoe, well known student of marriage, says, "It requires unusually strong character in both man and wife to endure prolonged and repeated absences."

And perhaps nowhere else on the face of the earth is there presented such alluring temptation to a "deserted" husband or wife as abounds hereabout.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Clotilde Pattern No. 2950, a dress pattern, appeared here on Oct. 19. Pattern No. 2953, a lingerie model, appeared Oct. 20, but because of a typographical error, the number that appeared in the order blank was 2950 instead of 2953. Readers who ordered the lingerie pattern, using the erroneous order blank, are requested to write, saying they desire the lingerie pattern and not the dress pattern. Address Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Station, New York City.

Prof. Arnold Toynbee Opens Lecture Series at Northwestern Tonight

The first six lectures on the birth and growth of civilizations will be delivered tonight by Arnold Joseph Toynbee, director of studies for the Royal Institute of International Affairs at London, under the auspices of the Norman Wait Harris Foundation. The lectures start at 8 o'clock in Harris hall on the Evanston campus of Northwestern university and are free to the public.

Prof. Toynbee is best known in this country as the author of the annual survey of international affairs prepared for the Royal institute. He is regarded in academic circles as one of the best informed authorities in the world today on international affairs.

The series will continue with lectures by Prof. Toynbee tomorrow night, Friday, and Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights next week. Before returning to England Prof. Toynbee will deliver the Lowell lectures at Harvard university.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—[Special.—The Turkish ambassador, Ahmet Muhtar, dean of the diplomatic corps, gave a large and brilliant reception tonight at the embassy to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the founding of the Turkish republic. The capacity of the apartments on the lower floors of the embassy were taxed to their utmost with diplomatic, official, army, and navy and smart resident society of Washington, fifteen hundred guests having accepted the invitations.

Lady Lindsay, wife of the British ambassador, has returned to the embassy after a visit of ten days in New York.

Mrs. Daniel C. Roper, wife of the secretary of commerce, was the chief guest at luncheon today of Mrs. D. A. McDougal, Democratic national committee woman of Oklahoma.

Parents Often Force Children Into a Pattern

Normalcy Does Not Imply Averageness.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

He was about thirteen with an older sister—the young lad in question. He had many friends his own age and got along well with them. But also he enjoyed the companionship of younger children of all ages. The four and five and six year olds as well as the nines and tens were his friends. The younger ones he talked to and sent off into peals of laughter—the others he took off on jaunts or frolicked with almost as if he were their age.

Somehow, his mother got worried over this. "I wish Dave would play with boys his own age all the time," she said to his father. "I'm afraid this interest in younger children will make him infantile, and keep him from maturing."

Dave's father, who had been a well known full back and all around athlete and had fought his way up against odds, began to have misgivings, too. Between them they got quite worked up over it.

Then one evening Dave's teacher was at the house for dinner, for the first time. After Dave had gone to bed his father and mother aired their misgivings to his teacher. She listened carefully.

"I don't think you need to worry about David," she said. "He's perfectly adjusted to his own age group—at home with his 'peers,' as we say. Of course he's full of spirits and likes to laugh more than any child I ever saw. But he has a fine mind and a lot of horse sense. He may not have much sense of responsibility yet—but that doesn't come to all children at the same time." She stopped and thought.

"Has it ever occurred to you that this fondness for younger children may be an outlet for an unconscious desire for younger brothers and sisters? Sometimes there is, too, a latent paternal instinct at work."

MINUTE MYSTERY
By H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]
[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BETWEEN 8:10 AND 10:10.

From the blood-stained edge (nearest the divan) of the hand-hooked 7x9 foot rug, Prof. Fordney picked up a revolver, the barrel of which also was blood-stained. He quickly hermetically corked the barrel, wrapped the gun in his handkerchief and put it in his pocket, observing that only one shot had been fired. His watch read 10:10 p. m.

"I'll probably be able to tell you tomorrow between what hours the fatal bullet was fired," he said to Inspector Kelley.

The latter snorted, looked closely at the body and remarked, "Death was instantaneous. See that wound—right in the temple! And look he hasn't his tie on! Another suicide."

"Not necessarily, my friend," was the reply.

Ralph Edgerton, the dead man's brother, stated the two had been alone, that he had been in the next room and on hearing a shot and finding his brother, had fainted. How long he'd been unconscious he didn't know. On reviving he had immediately phoned the police. He had disturbed nothing.

The professor went to his laboratory and made some tests in which he used distilled water, salts of lead, and ferrocyanide of potassium. Only blurred fingerprints were found on the gun.

Early next morning he phoned Kelley and told him, "That single shot from the gun was fired between 8:10 and 10:10. If Ralph had told the truth it was suicide; if he hadn't Edgerton had been murdered."

WHAT DID THE PROFESSOR MEAN?

Perhaps you have a story or problem you would like to submit to Prof. Fordney. If so, send it to him care of this paper. He will be delighted to receive it.

Women Writers Win All Three O. Henry Memorial Awards

The first prize of $500 has been awarded to Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings of Hawthorne, Fla., for "Gal Young Un," published in 1932.

Pearl S. Buck of Nanking, China, won the second prize of $250 for "The Frill," published in March, 1933.

The special prize of $100 for the best short story has been awarded to Nancy Hale of New York City for "To the Invader," published in March, 1933.

The Stage

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The marked decrease of activity on the legitimate stage in Chicago this fall is permitting the little theater groups to try their wings in the downtown atmosphere. Hence the Playwrights theater, established at the Punch and Judy, and now rehearsing a revue called "Headlines." The premiere of this entertainment, announced for this evening, has been postponed until tomorrow night.

The Uptown Players, who have been active in their little theater in the People's church on Lawrence avenue since 1927, have arranged to give performances in the Chicago Woman's club theater, at 72 East 11th street, for five consecutive nights in every month, starting with the first Tuesday. They will open next Tuesday, Nov. 7, with Shaw's "Candida." Their other productions for the season will include: "Canaries Sometimes Sing," by Frederick Lonsdale; "The Gates of Paradise," by Cloyd Head [new]; "If Booth Had Missed," by Arthur Goodrich; "The Devil Passes," by Benn Levy; "Jargon," by John Graham [new], and "Stranglehood," by Channing Pollock [new].

J. Bradley-Griffin is the director of this group.

The school of acting at the Goodman theater began its season of dramatic productions last night with "The Romantic Young Lady," a Spanish comedy by Martinez Sierra. Performances will be given through the week. A play of modern authorship will be presented once a month until next spring. The authors represented in the program will be Andreyev, Ibsen, Shaw, Eden Philpotts, Maxwell Anderson, and possibly Kaufman and Ferber, who wrote "Dinner at Eight."

"American Dream," a drama by George O'Neill [no relation to Eugene O'Neill], will be staged by the University of Chicago Dramatic association in the Reynolds club theater tomorrow, Friday, and Saturday. This work was produced by the Theater Guild in New York last season.

The Jack and Jill Players will begin their productions for children next Saturday afternoon in their studio at 820 North Michigan avenue. A new play will be staged every other Saturday.

IF YOUR HUSBAND DIED SUDDENLY WOULD YOU BE TRIED FOR MURDER?

True Story Magazine Now to Publish the Famous Jessie Costello Story Written by Herself

THE new True Story Magazine will be out Friday. It will contain what is probably the strangest True Story ever published. Jessie Costello, who was tried for the murder of her husband and acquitted by a jury, now tells for the first time her own true story of the events leading up to that trial.

In this strange true story, Jessie Costello denies her guilt, but unwittingly again tries herself. No stranger human document has ever come to our editorial desks. She says she is not guilty. The jury said she was not guilty. When you read her story you will feel that she was not guilty. And yet——.

All of a sudden, the impression sweeps over you that the most trivial, insignificant acts of your life can be magnified into terrible importance when some major tragedy occurs.

This is a great true story to get hold of. You may have read this story in the newspapers, but Jessie Costello, herself, is writing this story. She is telling the whole dramatic story for the first time, and these are the inside facts. Newspapers would call it a scoop. For Jessie Costello, a totally unimportant woman, tried in a little town in Massachusetts, made the front page of nearly every paper in America.

But even that is not the reason why True Story Magazine has selected this manuscript.

The true reason is that there are thirty million married women in America who might have committed the same trivial follies or been moved to the same little kindnesses. And any one of whom on this basis alone might very well find herself in jail for five months and tried for murder if her husband were found dead with poison in his stomach.

It makes one stop and think. True Story Magazine will be out Friday. Don't miss it.

THE RIGHT LAXATIVE FOR CHILDREN IS A LIQUID

NRA

The wrong laxative can give children chronic constipation before their tenth birthday.

You wouldn't give your youngster a powerful headache powder! You shouldn't give him a violent cathartic.

Important, Mothers!

Doctors urge the use of a liquid laxative for children; preferably one with senna. A liquid laxative can be regulated as to dose. The natural laxative action of senna doesn't weaken the bowels. Druggists report increased sales of liquid laxatives. Mothers are rapidly discovering the great advantages of the liquid form. Thousands of cases of ill-health—and half-health—in children are being cleared-up just by stopping all use of laxatives of adult strength.

A Safe Treatment!

The preparation most favored for child use is California Syrup of Figs. It is a fruity syrup with the right amount of senna for gentle stimulation of a child's bowels. It gives the right kind of help.

If the bowels aren't moving regularly and thoroughly, don't give any medicine that drains the system dry. Give a liquid senna preparation like California Syrup of Figs. A little every day, and reduce the dose each day. At the end of one week—stop. You'll be surprised how long it will be before the bowels need any further help. It may be months.

Be sure you get the real California Syrup of Figs, with "California" on the label. If you get the right preparation, and use it the right way, you can absolutely end all worry over constant sluggish spells, bilious attacks, constipation.

All druggists keep California Syrup of Figs, ready for use. It is highly recommended for regulating children, and to undo the mischief done by habit-forming laxatives.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The cyclists in the six day race at the Stadium last night became imbued with the festive spirit of Halloween, and, inspired by the howlings of 11,000 customers, some of whom wore false faces and all of whom looked a bit wild eyed, rode their heads off.

Shortly before the 11 o'clock sprints Jackie Sheehan, a Greenwich Villager, and Al Crossley, a rock ribbed Irishman from Boston, jammed into the lead, the first time they have reached such eminence in any Chicago race, by a margin of two laps. This was accomplished in feverish whirling, which saw 183 laps stolen between the hours of 8 o'clock and 11 o'clock, one of the largest totals of any six day race in big league competition.

Plenty of Action.

The night's racing started with Wissel-Walthour leading by the margin of a lap, but after an hour of jamming before the start of the 9 o'clock sprints the pedalers had established a five way tie, the leaders including Sheehan-Crossley, Reboli-Manera, Dempsey-Thomas, Wissel-Walthour, and Lands-Schaller. All of these teams excepting Sheehan-Crossley had led the race at some time or other during the earlier phases of the contest.

At 9:30 o'clock Wissel-Walthour and Lands-Schaller had been dropped out of the front line. The jamming continued practically without interruption until 10:40 o'clock, when the Reboli-Manera combination became bosses of the pack all by themselves. This didn't last long, however. And twenty minutes later the two Irish Americans, Sheehan and Crossley, were giving their trailers something to think about.

Boys Get Serious.

Despite the fact they never were in the lead, the teams of Al Letourner-Torchy Peden and Norman Hill-Gerard Debaets made the show with their spectacular clashes.

As has been recited in the public prints recently, these two teams, generally rated the class of the field and certainly the highest priced talent in the cast, have been engaging in some feudalism, the same being based on a lot of prima donna temperament affecting the two foreigners, who take themselves, O, so seriously. While it seems funny to you to talk about temperament among fellows who are willing to ride bicycles indefinitely, it is to be found in these two performers. It is all very silly, of course, but the circumstance is making for some of the most sincere cycling of the race.

Al and Torchy Show 'Em.

In the riding last night little French Al and big Canadian Torchy made the Belgian Gerard and the Californian Norman like it in the greatest joust of the race and one of the best in the last five races here.

Up until last night the pair had been guarding each other to completely ignore the others. At one time they were eight laps back, but they were tied, and that seemed to satisfy them. But last night Letourner and Peden caught Debaets coasting, and before the team could get going Peden and Letourner had a half lap edge. Then, with both teams pushing their derndest, the Frenchman and the Canadian took up the other half lap by sheer speed and daring. The customers stood up and hollered like everything, while the hardest fought lap of the 544 in the first fifty hours of the race was being gained.

Results of the 1 o'clock sprints:
1—McNamara, Schaller, Walthour, Manera.
2—Wissel, Black, Walker, Crossley.
3—Dempsey, Grimm, Rodak, Seufert.
4—Thomas, Peden, Miller, Wissel.
5—Walthour, Rodak, Seufert, Croley.
6—Reboli, Winter, Miller, Walker.
7—Ritter, Letourner, Dempsey, Schaller.
8—Wissel, Hill, Deulberg, Lands.
9—Ritter, Walthour, Rodak, McNamara.
10—Black, Hill, Deulberg, Crossley.

WINOOKA MAKES HIS 3D START AT PIMLICO TODAY

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Winooka, the Australian race horse, will go to the post for the third time in the east when he faces the barrier in the Baltimore handicap, a six furlong race, at Pimlico tomorrow. The Australian sprinter, in his two other eastern appearances, disappointed his followers, finishing fifth and third, respectively.

Nevertheless, Winooka will have the top weight, 120 pounds, in the field of ten, giving away three pounds to Gold Step, which finished ahead of Winooka by nearly nine lengths in the Challenger Invitational purse of six furlongs. Character, also credited with having finished ahead of Winooka in the Challenger, will carry 109 pounds, while Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney's Curacao will carry 112.

GOING, GOING, BUT THEY'RE NEVER GONE

Like squirrels in a cage the riders in the international six day bicycle race, which reaches the half way point at the Chicago stadium tonight, keep going around and around and around, but never getting anywhere. Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

WHEN Purdue left the football field at Wisconsin Saturday it marked the 44th consecutive game in which it had scored one or more touchdowns. . . . The last shutout was at Minnesota in October, 1928. . . . Northwestern and Notre Dame, which meet at Dyche stadium Nov. 18, have identical records . . . Each has won one, tied one and lost two . . . The only team either has scored on is Indiana. . . .

P. K. WRIGLEY.

Philip K. Wrigley has a new idea for acquainting Chicago fans with the Cubs' 1934 personnel. . . . There will be previews at Wrigley field April 10, 11, 12, and 13 between rookies and regulars. . . . A two game series with the White Sox will be played on April 14 and 15, one game in each park. . . . The Cubs will leave for training camp at Catalina March 1.

The current bike race is the first at which beer has been sold these many seasons and nary a jag has been observed among the 3 a. m. fans. . . . Opening night an octet in the balcony cut loose with "Sweet Adeline," but they were just happy, another race was being whirled. . . . William Walker has qualified for the job as acting president of the Cubs. . . . Sunday and Monday he turned out a denial a minute without flickering an eyelid. . . . Heartly Anderson said after the Bears' game Sunday that Bill Hewitt was the greatest end he has seen. . . .

Boots Weber, reported to be the new general manager of the Cubs, had a fine house in Long Beach, Cal., until March 10. . . . But he hasn't any more. . . . The earthquake shook it down. . . . The American Lacrosse league, of which Chicago will be a member, will open its season late this month. . . . Doc Krone and Mique Malloy will do the promoting at Arcadia Garden, Broadway near Montrose. . . . Doc will present the wrestlers and Mique the boxers. . . . That's the spot where the late Paddy Harmon made a lot of money with a dance hall. . . .

Wisconsin has made 26 first downs to its opponents' 19 in its three conference games but has scored only 7 points against its opponents' 61. . . . Gopher Eleven Strong as Ever; More Polished

A typical Minnesota team. This description fits the rugged Gopher eleven which will descend on Dyche stadium Saturday to battle Northwestern's Wildcats.

For years Minnesota has been noted for its "powerhouse" teams and the squad which invades the Wildcat stronghold Saturday is no exception to the rule.

In fact the enthusiastic Gopher fans already claim it is one of Minnesota's greatest teams and they plan to be on hand in great numbers to watch their undefeated warriors oppose the Wildcats. The visitors vision a chance for the Big Ten title if they defeat Northwestern and then upset the Wolverines two weeks hence.

Gophers More Polished.

The team which Coach Bernie Bierman has assembled in his second year at Minnesota has all the power typical of Gopher elevens and in addition has poise and polish which oftentimes have been lacking. The line, which averages over 190 pounds from tackle to tackle, has the reputation of outcharging every line it has faced this season. The back field combination of Lund, Alfonse, Seidel, and Beise is a smooth functioning outfit which is adept both at running and passing.

Sheldon Beise, hard hitting sophomore full back, is already being heralded as a fitting addition to a great line of Gopher line smashers which includes Joesting, Nagurski, and Manders. Beise, who weighs 195 pounds, played a stellar rôle in Minnesota's victory over Iowa last Saturday. In the last quarter he turned on the steam by smashing through for two first downs in succession.

Cruice Purple Hope.

Northwestern's attack will center around Wally Cruice, sophomore half whose running in the Ohio game made him a the outstanding back on the field. Against the Buckeyes he averaged six yards per carry. Cruice, who hails from Milwaukee, has shown steady improvement in each game this year

Miss Van Wie and Leo Diegel Pair in Coast Golf

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, national women's golf champion, will team with Leo Diegel, former National P. G. A. champion, to set a precedent in the amateur-pro preliminary of the southern California open championship tournament at the Fox Hills Country club Thursday.

Miss Van Wie will be given a handicap of six strokes—the difference between men's and women's par.

PAUL FRANKLIN JOINS BEARS FOR TOUR OF EAST

Coach George Halas has signed Paul Franklin to play end for the Bears the remainder of the season. He will fill the vacancy created by the injury to Luke Johnsos last Sunday. Twenty-two Bears will depart for an eastern tour this morning at 9:15 o'clock over the Michigan Central.

Franklin played with the club the last two seasons and was expected to be used regularly but he was injured in an automobile accident late in the summer and did not report for preliminary training.

He has been working out with the club the last few days and is ready if necessary to relieve Bill Hewitt or Bill Karr.

The Bears play an exhibition game at Detroit tonight, then go to Boston, Philadelphia, and New York for league games before returning Nov. 26 to meet Portsmouth.

Lelivelt Signs to Manage Los Angeles Club in 1934

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Jack Lelivelt, who managed the Los Angeles baseball club into the Pacific Coast league championship last season, signed a contract for 1934 today. It was reliably reported Lelivelt was given a wage increase, which makes him the highest paid manager in the circuit.

ILLINI PLAN TO SHOW MICHIGAN A PASS ATTACK

They Have Best Aerial Game in Big Ten.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Illinois will have its opportunity Saturday to stop Michigan which apparently is on the high road to a fourth consecutive Western conference football championship. It is a tribute to Michigan that Illinois is mentioned as trying to stop the Wolverines, for actually if the Illini beat Michigan, they may win or share in the title. Michigan's defeat of Ohio State and its overwhelming triumph over Chicago makes it quite natural to speak of Illinois attempting to stop Michigan.

Illinois must not be underrated. It has the best forward passing attack in the conference, specializing in short throws, many of which are almost lateral and which can be stopped only by an alert secondary defense. Although defeated by the Army, Illinois played exceptional well on defense in that game in view of the Army attack which last week smothered Yale. And Illinois twice threatened to reach Army's goal line, losing the ball both times on fumbles inside Army's 20 yard mark.

Illini Are Smart.

Illinois probably cannot penetrate Michigan's line consistently, but a mixture of Jack Beynon's passes and runs by Froschauer and Lindberg may cause Michigan more trouble than it has previously experienced. Illinois also plays intelligent football. Coach Zuppke's team has not made a tactical error either in defense or offense, its failures against Army being mechanical, such as fumbles.

Illinois has had two weeks in which to prepare for Michigan, but since the Wolverines were not extended against Chicago this is not as great advantage as it might have been. Zuppke scouted the Michigan-Chicago game, but it is doubtful if he learned much of value. Michigan used fundamental plays, its passes in particular being elemental. The two touchdowns Michigan scored on passes did not involve deception. The passes were thrown deep to the first man down the field and completed because Chicago's secondary didn't cover quickly enough.

Wolves Can Pass, Too.

Reports of Illinois scouts at the Michigan-Cornell and Michigan-Ohio State games will be of more value in this week's drills than what Zuppke saw at Stagg field.

Just as Illinois' passes are a most important offensive weapon, Michigan's passes may be most important in attack. Illinois, if it uses the same defense against Michigan as against Army, will have a six man defensive line with two backs immediately behind the line to lend support. Michigan's power and weight makes this imperative, although the Wolverines are more dangerous on laterals and wide sweeps than on smashes into the line.

This defense arrangement weakens Illinois' secondary against passes and Renner may connect on tosses to score touchdowns or put the ball within easy rushing distance.

Illini Must Score.

A general forecast of the game is that Illinois must score to tie, for Michigan seems strong enough to cross the goal line sometime during the game.

The Northwestern-Minnesota game will be the best test the Gophers have had in the conference race. Apparently Minnesota has reached its maximum strength, but the Wildcats, who outgained Ohio State from scrimmage last week, will have a better defense for Minnesota's running attack than Iowa. This is true primarily because Northwestern's ends are better defensively than Iowa's.

If Minnesota beats Northwestern and Michigan whips Illinois, the game between the winners at Ann Arbor on Nov. 18 promises to be the climax of the season regardless of the final games one week later.

Unfortunately for Minnesota it has played two tie games and beating Michigan won't win the Big Ten title unless Purdue, now with one tie on its record, loses or is tied by Iowa or Indiana.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

At least once a season, oftener if possible, The Wake slips away in a nonofficial capacity to a good high school football game. Our purpose, of course, is to see how our future greats of the colleges are developing and whether any new wrinkles are being tried. Every time we are surprised by the high caliber of gridiron goods displayed by these prep school youngsters.

So, over last week-end we chose the Evanston-Proviso contest. Proviso previously was unbeaten in the Suburban league, while Oak Park and Evanston had tied on a muddy field. Evanston won, 14 to 0.

We were more than pleased by the football those boys of both teams played. We were actually enthusiastic. If the same plays were tried and were equally successful in college games, the crowd would go wild at the open games. In execution of intricate formations, forward and lateral passes, shovel passes, delayed bucks, plays to the weak side, reverses, everything in the repertory, the prep boys handled the ball as well as the collegians, in many instances better.

It seemed to us there was greater variety, at least more interesting offense. In handling the ball from one to another, there were not as many fumbles. Perhaps the blocking was not quite as good, but there was plenty of blocking. Now note this: Field generalship by both Proviso and Evanston was better than we've seen in many college games, not only this fall, but in previous years. Both elevens were well coached, Coach Vance of Evanston in particular having varied deceptive plays.

On both teams were several boys of potential college timber. In our opinion, these were not always the boys who were stars. Several chaps will find their lighter weight a handicap when competing for places with heavier men. But there were chaps who will fill out and become great line or back field material.

The crowd was composed mostly of students and parents of students. It was not large, say 3,000 or 4,000, for the importance of the game. Price of admission was 50 cents. The public might well attend high school games and see good shows.

Only in one respect could we voice criticism, not very serious at that. No programs with numbers of the players were available, so one did not know the names. For the team among whose rooters you sat you could have the names by asking your neighbor, for the students know their own players. It seems to us, however, that one sheet programs, to be sold for 5 or 10 cents, would yield enough to pay the cost of printing. It would be good but inexpensive advertising for any merchant to distribute such programs free.

Now this game probably was not materially different from games all through Chicago and the country as a whole. They are well worthy the attention of even casual football fans.

To a Soft Boiled Egg.

To you, O glob of purest gold,
With wealth of calories untold,
There on a slice of toasted bread,
You hold aloft your royal head.
O man may have machines some time
To make this earth a place sublime,
But as for me—I humbly beg,
Leave me my joy, my soft boiled egg.

Long Shots Help Final Day Bettors.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Chicago's six months racing season came to a close yesterday at Sportsman's Park, where 14,000 fans gathered in a last desperate attempt to get even.

Some of them got even by wagering on a couple of long shots which scored, but nearly all of them could not have been betting on the long shots. Those who didn't try the long shots will have to wait until next May to begin all over again, with whatever happened this year charged off to profit and loss.

Some $300,000 was wagered on the eight races at Sportsman's Park yesterday.

Everybody doesn't seem to be broke.

Rides 45,000 Miles to Races.

Some of the remarkable things that have happened can be summed up this way:

The most ardent race fan in Chicagoland is the fellow from Bloomington, Ill., who has made 150 trips to Chicago and back since last May 1 to see the horses run. He rolled up 45,000 miles on his big automobile, spent about 1,200 hours riding in his car—that's 50 days and nights if you care to figure it—and still he says he is winner on the season.

He doesn't want his name published until he makes the trip 160 times for a new world's record next season. Anyhow the race track officials will more than likely go into a huddle soon and give nine rousing rahs for him.

The race tracks in Chicago distributed $1,375,115 to the horsemen in stakes and purses during the six months season.

Horsemen Cause Scandals.

It's a question as to whether a lot of the horsemen deserved such rich spoils. For wasn't it the horsemen who brought on the dope scandal which rocked all the respectable folks in racing two or three months ago? And hasn't it been the horsemen who have caused nearly all the race track scandals in the last two score of years?

The race track officials in Chicago may go into a second huddle and give nine rousing Bronx cheers for the horsemen who have brought on such embarrassing situations.

Mr. Joe Allen, the Cincinnati plunger, again has delayed his trip to the southern racing centers. He's been playing the No. 1 horse in the second race and the No. 1 horse in the third to win the daily double all season.

System Falls to Work.

It didn't click but no one can question Plunger Allen's gameness. He stuck to it to the bitter end and watched his No. 1 horse, Bay Servant, finish third in the second race then turned around and watched his No. 1 horse, Mount Washington, win the third.

"I'll try it next year and catch 'em a dozen times," said the bulldogish Mr. Allen.

Two champions, Equipoise and Mata Hari, have displayed their wares to Chicago racegoers this season. Equipoise is the all age champion and Mata Hari has recently developed into the 2 year old champion.

Commission to Rule Races.

When racing comes back next May it will be under the supervision of a commission to be appointed by Gov. Horner. So far since racing became legal in Illinois the tracks have set up their own laws and bylaws and have governed themselves.

In the Au Revoir handicap at seven furlongs, which was the feature on the closing program at Sportsman's Park, Levaal at $15.24 in the mutuels was an easy winner over Lillian Z. and Sun Teatime.

BALL HEIRS MAY DECIDE BROWNS' FATE THIS WEEK

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 31.—(AP)—A decision on whether the heirs of the late Phil Ball will offer the money losing St. Louis Browns for sale or continue to operate the club may be reached this week.

President William Harridge of the American league, who has said he will attempt to find a buyer for the Browns if the heirs desire his assistance, is expected here Thursday for a conference with trustees and executors of Ball's estate.

Whether Harridge had a prospective purchaser in mind was not known tonight. When Harridge was here for Ball's funeral a week ago he said there was little likelihood of the Browns being moved from St. Louis.

The name of Babe Ruth tonight bobbed up in rumors concerning the future of the Browns. The rumor, which lacked substantiation, said Ruth, nearing the end of his playing career, might become interested with friends in ownership of the club.

BASEBALL'S HOT STOVE COOKS UP MORE NEW DEALS

Rumors Have Philadelphia Stars on Block.

The early kindling of baseball's hot stove, which now is radiating trade rumors with every crackle of the blazing fuel, yesterday concentrated on items anent the breaking up of the Philadelphia Athletics.

The first item was to the effect that Lefty Grove had been purchased by the White Sox, a bit of alleged information which promptly was denied by President J. Lou Comiskey and Harry Grabiner, though both admitted that Lefty is a pretty good fellow at pitching baseballs.

The Grove item was followed by the report from Philadelphia that Pitcher George Earnshaw definitely had been sold to one of two American league teams, the White Sox or the Red Sox. The Chicago aspects of this rumor drew denials also, but not of the cross-my-heart-hope-to-die vociferousness with which the Grove inquiries were met.

Earnshaw Certain to Move.

As the hot stove burned on it remained a fair bet that the lazy but talented Earnshaw will work for the Chicago club next year, especially since Earnshaw is the one player named by Manager Connie Mack as slated for the flesh marts.

Other stars in the Mack fold were named with great positiveness in the reports coming out of Philadelphia. The two weeks old story that Catcher Mickey Cochrane will manage the Detroit Tigers got new impetus. The statement was made that the Tigers had given $75,000 and Catcher John Pasek for Cochrane's release. Pitcher Walberg and Second Baseman Max Bishop also were listed as departing Athletics.

Having sold out all of Mack's players except Jimmy Foxx, Pinkey Higgins, Eric McNair, Doc Cramer, and Bob Johnson the hot stove firemen sprinted down the avenue to Baker bowl where they again sold Chuck Klein to the Cubs, though they refused to close for any such paltry figures as certain Chicago dreamsmiths have been mentioning.

Confirmation Awaits Election.

All these big sales, the reports said, are to be made following the announcement of the results of the election in Philadelphia next Tuesday. At the election citizens will vote on the proposition of legalizing Sunday baseball. Since it has been predicted that Philadelphia, under local option, will vote six to one for Sunday ball, the logic of withholding announcements until after victory seems a bit awry, observers said.

The reason Klein wasn't sold to the Cubs a year ago, it has been generally understood, was because the Phillies wanted to see how the Sunday law voting turned out, figuring, of course, that with Sunday crowds the club's finances would be vastly improved. The same prospects for a long time slowed up Connie Mack in his campaign to peddle players for revenue only.

One Catch in Reports.

Why the two Philadelphia outfits should decide to denude their teams on the eve of expected victory for Sunday baseball furnished one of the catches in the whole panorama, though the Klein and Earnshaw phases of the rumors seem likely to stand up even though all the embellishments given the expected transactions continue to flop.

Connie Mack, as per his daily custom, refused to deny that important deals may be consummated. He did, however, definitely throw down the flat statements that deals had been closed for his players.

TWO FAVORITES WIN AS LAUREL MEETING ENDS

Laurel, Md., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Only two of the five favorites won as the Laurel meeting came to an end here today with another program of races for charity. In the Chestertown purse, the featured event, E. K. Bryson's Pharatime was the winner under a hustling ride from Dominick Bellizzi after Giggling disappointed many betters.

Giggling was made a 9 to 10 favorite in the field of six but beat only one horse. It was her first start since being shipped on from Kentucky, where she won two races and then ran second to Mata Hari in the Breeders' futurity. It was her fourth start today.

Pharatime returned $13.20 for $2 and finished the six furlongs in 1:13 over a fast track. Zipalong was second, another half length before High Torque.

Fancy Flight, owned by J. H. Loucheim, and well known in and about New York, proved too speedy for the six others in the fifth and won by four lengths at $5.40 for $2.

CARNEGIE BASKS IN FOOTBALL SUN; GOAL UNCROSSED

Squad of 32 Leaps Three Hurdles on Schedule.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Carnegie Tech's victory over Notre Dame last Saturday, which was even more unexpected than the Skibos' 19 to 0 triumph over the Irish back in 1926, has turned the spotlight on Tartan players and the 26 year old coaches, Howard Harpster and Don Lovewell.

Carnegie first attracted national attention in football in 1926, when its small squad turned the gridiron topsy-turvy by defeating a Notre Dame team that was headed to another national collegiate championship. Previous to that time, Tech had become a power in its own district by breaking the long grip held by Pitt, winning consecutive victories over the Panthers in 1923 and 1924, and repeating in 1926 and 1928.

Carnegie "Arrives" in 1928.

When Carnegie toppled Notre Dame again in 1928, the first defeat for the Irish on their home field in a quarter of century, it had "arrived." Carnegie's unusual coaching staff received considerable attention—a head coach who was a judge in Chicago, commuting to be with his team each weekend, and his assistant, who was an insurance executive in Pittsburgh. When Judge Steffen resigned his active coaching job at Carnegie he had been with the school 20 years.

Steffen and R. N. Waddell stepped out last year [although Steffen retains his identification with the school as a member of the football committee]. New interest was aroused in Carnegie because of the appointment of Howard Harpster, the school's greatest player, as head coach. Harpster selected his former team mate and college room mate, Don Lovewell of Toledo, O., as his assistant.

Faced Hard Schedule.

At 26, these men, just three years out of college, were handed no enviable task. They were presented a schedule that included an opener with Temple university, which had signed Glenn Warner as its head coach. Then came a succession of games with Xavier, Notre Dame, W. & J., Purdue, Michigan State, Georgetown, New York, and Pittsburgh. There were no idle Saturdays, and only five days intervened between the New York and Pitt games. Within the first three weeks they had to meet the systems of two noted coaches.

Although Carnegie had not held spring practice for several years, the new coaches received permission to have a week of spring drills to become acquainted with their material. They found several good linemen, no backs of size or extraordinary ability, and nothing of promise from the 1932 freshman team.

The pre-season reckonings gave the team a chance to win only two of its nine games. To date Carnegie has defeated Temple, figured to be one of the strongest teams in the east; Xavier, an underrated team, and Notre Dame. The Tartan goal line has not been crossed, and no team yet has threatened seriously to score. Only poor punting has given any opponent the ball in Carnegie territory.

Shows How He Wants It Done.

Harpster's methods are unusual. His youth causes him to be mistaken by strangers for a member of the squad. Both he and Lovewell are so recently out of the playing ranks that they are still good demonstrators. Harpster himself was a passer with few superiors. He shows how he wants it done.

There are no harsh words, no loud criticisms, no yelling at the players. Both coaches are soft spoken. The results, with a squad that numbers 32 players all told, with 16 weighing less than 175 pounds, and only seven weighing more than 180, speak for themselves.

PURDUE PLANS DEFENSE.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Purdue's football squad was given a class room glimpse of the Carnegie Tech attack today as the coaches introduced plans for a defense against the tricky Skibo offense. The men who played against Wisconsin Saturday were not required to be in uniform, but they spent the afternoon watching scouts diagrammed the Carnegie attack.

"Carnegie has the most deceptive offense you have seen this season," said Freshman Coach Jim Purvis, who has been scouting Carnegie. "In addition it has a world of power it uses to advantage behind a veteran line that has yet to be scored upon."

In outlining the defense, Coach Noble Kizer emphasized the fact that in a sense Carnegie plays unorthodox football. It depends on the unexpected and daring for its effectiveness.

With the exception of Fred Hecker, versatile full back and half back, who was badly bruised in the Wisconsin game, the squad appeared to be in good condition. Kizer intends to stage an intensive workout tomorrow.

HIS MAJESTY GOES ON BLOCK IN INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Led by His Majesty, world's champion two year old pacer of 1932, 30 trotters and pacers with marks of 2:10 or better will go on the auction block at the Indiana State Fairgrounds Nov. 6-10.

In addition to His Majesty, which has a mark of 2:00½, the consignments include Rose Marie Abbe, a four year old which also has stepped a mile in 2:00¼; Morley Frisco, 2:01½, and Selka Worthy, 2:02.

Polo Season to Open at Riding Club Saturday

The indoor polo season will open Saturday night at the Chicago Riding club under the auspices of the Chicago Black Horse troop. Lieuts. Zimmerman, Harrison and Johnson of the 122d Field Artillery will meet the Black Horse trio composed of Lieut. Roy Keehn, Lieut. Kirby and Thomas Anderson. In another game, a Chicago Riding club team consisting of Capt. Maxwell Corpening, Buddy Collins and Frank Bering will play the North Shore team composed of John Bowers, Jim Hannah and George Bates.

Irish Work on Blocking for Navy Game

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—The first of two days of hard work before leaving Thursday for the Navy game in Baltimore occupied the Notre Dame squad today.

While the shock troops, the second and third teams, scrimmaged, the varsity went through a stiff blocking workout and wound up with a signal drill featuring the short passes from running formations which worked well against Pittsburgh.

Since Navy uses the Notre Dame system, Coach Heartly Anderson expects to have little trouble teaching Navy defenses to players. He is stressing personnel in the drills, trying to acquaint players with the characteristics of Middies who will face them Saturday.

The varsity will scrimmage tomorrow. The squad leaves early Thursday afternoon, and will stay at the Congressional Country club in Washington until shortly before the game.

NAVY PREPS DEFENSE.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—The Navy football squad engaged in a long drill today preparatory to its game with Notre Dame in Baltimore Saturday. Three-fourths of the practice was devoted to defense against passes. The team showed its greatest weakness in this department in the Pennsylvania game.

Coach Rip Miller is giving much attention to the back field, which has Willy Wilcox at quarter, Red Baumberger and Buzz Borries at the halves and Bill Clark at full back. All are in good condition. They are the backs who have been most impressive in the five games played. All are ball carriers and the combination has at least fifty per cent more strength than any other combination Miller has used.

The back field is light, however, its average being 165 pounds, which is 30 pounds lighter than the quartet Notre Dame probably will start. Mazzlotti, Lukats, Brancheau, and Elser average 195 pounds. However, Notre Dame's weight advantage in the line is slight, about two pounds.

IOWA SCRIMMAGES.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa football team worked out in the Indian summer heat today in preparation for the Iowa State game Saturday.

Coach Ossie Solem gave the second string the heavy end of the drill, the reserves scrimmaging against freshmen. The first team ran signals and brushed up on blocking. Despite a complete vacation from practice yesterday, regulars were still nursing shoulder and leg bruises from the Minnesota game.

Rudolph Levtze had not been released from the hospital, where he is confined with a groin infection. He may not return to the squad this fall.

Solem tried Ray Fisher at both the varsity end positions, indicating that he may start him against Iowa State Saturday. Fisher weighs only 158 pounds, but was outstanding on defense in the Minnesota game. He won a major letter last year.

U. S. TO ACCEPT BRITAIN'S BID FOR YACHT CUP

New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Junius S. Morgan, commodore of the New York Yacht club, today called a special meeting of the club for Thursday night to consider the challenge of the Royal Yacht squadron of England for the America's cup.

The challenge will be formally accepted and a cup committee named. The races for the famous yachting trophy probably will be held next fall.

Word of the challenge, filed through the squadron by T. O. M. Sopwith, British engineer and aviation magnate, came from London several days ago.

READY FOR WILDCAT HUNT

Gopher Eleven Strong as Ever; More Polished

Coach Dick Hanley plans to do considerable experimenting this week at the left half back position in an effort to uncover a back who can handle punts with a greater degree of accuracy. Much time was spent yesterday on Stan Mondala, a sophomore who has been playing full back until this week. He will be given a trial at left half and if he can catch punts he may get a chance against Minnesota.

GOPHERS BACK AT WORK.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—After two days of rest the Minnesota Gophers went back to work today to prepare for their first road game of the season against Northwestern at Evanston Saturday. The Gophers came through the Iowa game without an injury. They will leave for Evanston Thursday night.

The original quota of tickets for the Northwestern game was 2,000, but Manager Les Schroeder has been forced to wire for 1,000 more. And so it appears that between 3,000 and 4,000 persons will be on hand to cheer the Gophers Saturday.

WIN FIRST BASKETBALL GAME.

Allerton, Ill., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Allerton High school basket ball team played its first game of the season here last night defeating an independent team, 20 to 17. Friday night the Allerton team will play Indianola.

Ohio State Drops Wingback System for Indiana Game

Columbus, O., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—When Ohio State meets Indiana Saturday the double wingback system which has been used since Sam Willaman began coaching the Buckeyes will be discarded, it was learned today.

The secret practice sessions ordered for this week are believed to substantiate the reports of a change in the team's offensive style. The modified punt formation, similar to that now used by Michigan, is said to be the Buckeyes' new mode of attack. There was no explanation from coaches or officials for the secret drill.

Several regulars were absent from practice today. Monahan, guard, was excused because of serious bruises received in the Northwestern game, and Co-Capt. Sid Gillman, end, was in the hospital with a knee injury. It is unlikely that he will play in the Indiana game.

Rees and Padlow were at the ends tonight, according to communications released by the publicity office when the varsity tried its new plays in a scrimmage against the freshmen.

HOOSIERS STUDY OHIO PLAYS.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Indiana's regulars clashed with a freshman eleven in a stiff scrimmage this afternoon as work continued for the game at Ohio State Saturday.

The frosh swept through the varsity by using the Buckeyes' short passing attack, but when the Hoosiers got onto their opponents' plays the offensive was pretty well stopped. Bob Jones again got off several long punts.

Maroons See New Hope in Badger Game

Everybody said the University of Chicago football team would look better in the last half of the season, because the first half involved a lot of sophomores playing against two of the best teams in the country. The last half, bringing Wisconsin Saturday and then Indiana, Illinois, and Dartmouth, is now upon them and the old optimism is beginning to rise up from the ashes of the Purdue and Michigan affairs.

Even Coach Shaughnessy was willing yesterday to hazard the guess that "we may look so much better than we have that you won't recognize us." He sent the varsity through the longest scrimmage of the year against a Cardinal jerseyed freshman team. Shaughnessy confessed that he has been taking too much for granted in the matter of blocking, and yesterday's scrimmage was punctuated with frequent interruptions for elementary lessons.

Chicago and Wisconsin have played a total of 36 games, 18 of which were won by Wisconsin and 14 by Chicago, with four ties. The series, beginning in 1894, has been continuous since 1903, with the exception of 1918, the war year. The Badgers have taken the last five games by margins ranging from one to five touchdowns, last year's game ending at 18 to 7. Saturday's game will have additional interest because Chicago and Wisconsin are not scheduled next year.

In yesterday's workout Ed Cullen, who has played both center and quarter back this year, was tried out at full back. Pete Zimmer, the ace of the Maroon team, stood out in the scrimmage.

BADGERS REHEARSE OFFENSE.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Coach Clarence W. Spears today sent the Wisconsin varsity football team through practically all the offensive maneuvers it has been taught this season in an attempt to make them work more smoothly against Chicago Saturday.

The Badgers are confident it will not be necessary to learn new plays this week to defeat Chicago. The attitude is that the old ones are good enough, provided they are polished off to increase their effectivenes.

Less attention was given to peculiarities of Chicago's offensive formations than was focused upon maneuvers of teams previously played. Although the Badger freshmen were directed in some Chicago plays against the varsity, coaches explained this was not to be carried to extremes because Chicago might change its offensive system as it was reported to have done several times this season.

8 TEAMS ENTER LOYOLA CROSS COUNTRY RACE

Eight college and university teams are entered in Loyola university's third annual cross country race to be held on the Loyola campus Saturday afternoon. This is the largest entry the meet has attracted. The race will be run over a 3½ mile course.

Illinois State Normal college of Bloomington and its star performer, Capt. Lyle Hutton, will defend the team and individual championships won in the last two meets. The Normalites won the team prize in 1931 with a low score of 16 points and again in 1932 with 23 points. Hutton finished first both years, setting a course record of 18:49.8 last year.

Wheaton college, which finished second both years; the University of Chicago, and Loyola appear to have the best chances of breaking State's monopoly on the team prize. The College of the City of Detroit, Elmhurst, North Central, and Bradley Tech, entered for the first time, will supply more competition for the Bloomington team.

19,729 Fans See October Boxing, Mat Shows Here

A wrestling show and 22 professional boxing cards attracted approximately 19,729 fans in Chicago last month, a survey revealed yesterday. Gross receipts are estimated at $14,494. The wrestling program, headed by Jim McMillen and Joe Stecher at the Chicago Stadium, was attended by 5,154, a third of the combined crowd at the boxing shows. Receipts were $7,237, half of that at the fights.

No major boxing bill was held, the throngs being distributed at the five clubs which offered cards weekly. Attendance and receipts at the clubs follow:

Marigold Garden—Five shows drew 3,691; receipts, $2,509. Rainbo Fronton—Four shows drew 2,324; receipts, $1,351. Cicero stadium—Four shows drew 3,095; receipts, $2,540. White City—Five shows drew 2,917; receipts, $1,386. Midway arena—Four shows drew 2,048; receipts, $1,471.

The show scheduled at the Midway arena Friday with Eddie Stiegal and Henry Rothier in the windup was canceled yesterday. Maurice Rivkin, promoter, will discontinue offering shows at Midway. He will concentrate on Monday shows at Marigold Garden.

Two additional boxing clubs will replace the Midway and offer weekly programs this month. The Coliseum Athletic club will present its first with Baxter Calmes and Tony Cancela in the 10 round main event on Nov. 13, and Mique Malloy has announced that he will offer a bill at the Arcadia sports center Nov. 15.

The card at the Rainbo Fronton Friday night was arranged yesterday by Johnny Coulon. Leo Kodak and Joe Bozak, featherweights, will meet in the five round windup bout. Gene Higgins faces Eddie Chinski in a five round semi-final. Matches at four rounds will bring together Scotty Sylvano and Frank Keevil, Fred Hawkette and Paddy Waltier, George Haberski and Sammy Morales. Frank Walsh will wrestle Hassen Ahmed.

Six contests will comprise the bill at the Cicero stadium Friday. They are:

Jackie Purvis vs. Young Joe Walker [8].
Young Stuhley vs. Jack Moran [6].
Frank Sigillo vs. Mickey Shannon [4].
Walter Statkus vs. Ken Murray [4].
Lenny Cohen vs. Paul Lee [4].
Joey Palazzola vs. Steve Pajdo [4].

Laddie Tonelli, Marseilles, Ill., welterweight, returns to Chicago today from a two weeks' vacation at Braidwood. . . . Jackie Sharkey will resume training Saturday for a 10 round encounter with Johnny Fitzpatrick at Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 10. Steve Selgrat, scheduled to box Adolph Wiater on the card, will be idle for several months because of a broken right hand and a cut over his eye. . . Henry Firpo, Louisville, Ky., middleweight, is in Palm Beach, Fla. . . . Harry Dublinsky battles Bep Van Klaveren at Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 10. . . . Two amateur cards will be presented Friday, one at St. Philip gymnasium and the other at the 24th Ward club.

Thirty-two boys qualified last night at the Catholic Youth organization's sectional amateur tournament at Joliet, Ill., for the quarter-finals at Joliet on Nov. 20. The Joliet preliminary bouts, originally scheduled for three nights, were all contested last night. . . . Johnny Long, Walter Madey, Jack Robinson, and Willie Davies are scheduled to go to Flint, Mich., today to compete in a heavyweight tournament there tomorrow. . . . Dick Sisk, south side welterweight, has received two offers for matches, one for a series of four bouts in Texas, the first to be held at Dallas Nov. 9, and the other at Muskegon, Mich., against Harry Edmonds Nov. 23.

Two Favorites Lose in Joliet C.Y.O. Boxing

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Two lightweight favorites in the class A division were defeated in the Joliet preliminaries of the third annual tournament of the Catholic Youth Organization tonight. Russell Kamp of Kankakee joined the ranks of defeated amateurs when he dropped a close verdict to Charles Percisiti of Joliet. In the other lightweight upset John Gregoric of Joliet beat Tony Spota, also an outstanding choice.

In the class B featherweight division one of the most sensational fights of the night developed when Nuncio Mangine of Joliet emerged with a victory over Westerfield Millon of Kankakee after he had been dropped for no count in the first round. Mangine blasted his way to win with a body attack that had the little colored boy backing away at the finish. Results:

CLASS A.

U. S. MUST BETTER BASELINE PLAY IN TENNIS: WEAR

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Development of the baseline game by America's younger tennis stars is necessary before the United States may hope to bring the Davis cup back to this country, Joseph W. Wear, of Philadelphia, former chairman of the Davis cup committee, said here today.

Wear, for many years national court tennis and racquets champion, said Lester Stoefen, of Los Angeles, offers a striking example of tactical deficiency of the American youngsters.

"I think Stoefen has the stuff to be one of the greatest stars of all time, but unless he learns to play tournament tennis from back court he will never get there," Wear said. "His game is typical of our young stars, to deliver a cannon ball serve and then rush in to play a slam-bang game in forecourt until they win the point or until a clever, finished opponent passes them."

Maywood Legion Sponsors Grid Series Opening Sunday

The Maywood A. C. football team on Sunday will open a five game series sponsored by the Maywood post of the American Legion. The first opponent will be the J. Colovus Boosters of Oak Park.

BRUDER REJOINS PACKERS; FACES CARDS SUNDAY

Lillard, Herber to Meet in Punting Duel.

Hank Bruder, former Northwestern back field star, is expected to be in the Green Bay Packer lineup against the Chicago Cardinals at Wrigley field Sunday afternoon.

Bruder was ill and unable to play against the Bears Sunday before last.

The fact that the Packers are favorites isn't worrying Coach Paul Schissler and the Cards in the least, and judging from the way they played the Bears, their attitude is justified.

It's Lillard vs. Herber.

In Joe Lillard the Cards have as dangerous a back as Arnold Herber, the spark plug of the Packers, for he can run, pass, punt, and kick from placement. The Bears didn't stop him consistently and as a result had to come from behind to win, 12 to 9.

The Cards are preparing to use everything they have, for they are definitely out as a championship contender and will take all kinds of chances. A victory over Green Bay would go a long way toward erasing those early losses, two of which were by the margin of one point.

Speed Is Cardinal Forte.

The Cardinal line is almost as husky as that of the Packers, but the backs are a few pounds lighter on the average. This deficit has been the biggest problem with which Schissler has had to contend all season. He has overcome the lack of drive by speed to a noticeable extent.

The kick-off Sunday will be made 15 minutes earlier than heretofore this season, being set for 2 o'clock.

DePaul Checks South Dakota Plays in Drill

De Paul goes into the South Dakota game at Wrigley field Saturday with a record of five straight victories. The team has lost only one game in the last two years. The eleven which will take the field before an expected crowd of 20,000 homecomers is rated as one of the best ever produced at the institution. Its superiority rest in team play rather than brilliance of individual stars.

That the De Paul squad possesses an even distribution of strength is illustrated in the fact that nine players have shared in scoring the 92 points piled up against opponents this season. The De Paul goal line has been crossed only once this year.

Leading the individual scorers is Bill Oldani with five touchdowns. Capt. Marty Stadler has scored three, Andy Delaney and Fred Brainard, ends; Eddie O'Brien and Walt Loess, half backs; Ray Durkin, quarter; Les Kein, full back and Phil Clancy, tackle, have scored one each.

EUROPE ENTERS NINE BOATS IN FLORIDA RACES

New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—George H. Townsend, president of the American Power Boat association, returned from Europe today with nine definite entries for the international motorboat races, which will be held in Florida during the winter.

Italy will be represented by two 12 litre boats, France by one 12 litre craft and three outboards and England by three outboards. Additional entries are expected from these countries and also Spain.

According to the tentative schedule the 12 litre boats will match speed with the United States' gold cup boats in three 25 mile heats at Miami beach in March. The outboards will appear in a series of eight races, four each at New Smyrna and Miami beach.

TROOPS ON GUARD AS BRITAIN OPENS HARBOR OF HAIFA

Brilliant Fete Canceled Because of Arab Riots.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAIFA, Palestine, Oct. 31.—Lieut. Gen. Sir Arthur Wauchope, the British high commissioner to Palestine, today formally opened the new harbor of Haifa—gateway to the near east—before a quiet gathering of a few officials protected by police. The originally planned brilliant ceremony was curtailed because of the recent Arab disturbances.

Streets were carefully patrolled by the soldiers and steel-helmeted police. Several communist agitators were arrested before the ceremony began.

British Bid for Trade.

The opening of the harbor of Haifa is an event of supreme importance to the future of the near east. Great Britain's control of this harbor, which is capable of berthing a warship, will enable it to make a bid for trade in an area of 50,000,000 population, including Palestine, Transjordania, Arabia, Iraq, Persia, Egypt, Aden, Turkey and Cyprus.

Average annual imports in this area amount to 500 million dollars and exports to 460 million dollars.

Haifa, unknown in biblical times, was a fishing village in the middle of the 19th century and today has 55,000 inhabitants including 20,000 Jews. It is rapidly growing.

The harbor was first projected in 1922 and actual work was begun in 1929. The total cost was $6,250,000. The main breakwater, beginning at the foot of Mount Carmel, is more than 6,000 feet long and the lee breakwater extends 2,500 feet, enclosing a harbor area of 387 acres.

Haifa is also of especial significance since it is the terminus of the 600 mile trans-desert Iraq oil pipe line now being laid. The pipe line is expected to be completed by the end of next year.

Britain to Enforce Order.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 31.—A stern warning that peace must be maintained in British mandated Palestine, come what may, was issued by Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, secretary for colonies, today in the course of an exchange of wireless messages with Lieut. Gen. Sir Arthur Wauchope, high commissioner for Palestine. The exchange of messages took place on the opening of the new harbor at Haifa.

"This ceremony is overshadowed by the deplorable disturbances which have taken place," said Sir Philip.

"There is under the mandate an obligation to facilitate the establishment in Palestine of a national home for Jewish people," he continued. "At the same time there is an equally definite obligation to safeguard the rights of all inhabitants in Palestine. It will be the constant aim of British policy to foster and promote the well being of all Palestine. But there is a paramount duty to preserve law and order. That duty will be thoroughly discharged."

Under State of Siege.

JERUSALEM, Oct. 31. — (AP) — The Holy Land was under a state of siege tonight as Arabs made no move to call off their general strike in protest against the increase in Jewish immigration.

No violence occurred after snipers started firing at government offices intermittently throughout the evening. Police returned the fire but there were no casualties to add to the thirty dead and 200 wounded in previous riots. What Moslem move is planned next is hidden in mysterious activities carried on in their cities within the larger centers.

GANNA WALSKA RETURNS TO HER NEW YORK HOME

New York, Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Mme. Ganna Walska, the Polish singer and divorced wife of Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, arrived on the Ile de France today to reopen her house at Park avenue and 94th street for the first time in five years. She expects to settle up her affairs abroad by December.

Mme. Walska denied that her return had anything to do with Mrs. Rhoda Tanner Doubleday's breach of promise suit against Mr. McCormick.

"No," she said. "Mr. McCormick doesn't need any help, although I would be glad to give any assistance I could, if it was needed. As a matter of fact, I didn't know about the suit until just before sailing."

She married Mr. McCormick in 1922, and they were divorced in 1931.

"It is reported that there may be a reconciliation between you and Mr. McCormick," it was suggested.

"The only reconciliation I'm interested in is one with the state department," she said with a laugh. Her residence in France has involved her in some difficulties about citizenship.

Mme. Walska said the chief reason she came back now is to see the condition of her house here. She was certain that dust had ruined the place.

W-G-N GOES ON AIR AS INDEPENDENT STATION TODAY

Many Musical Stars to Be Heard.

With an 18 hour schedule of programs by exclusive artists, W-G-N goes on the air today as the outstanding independent radio station of the country. Throughout the afternoon and particularly this evening THE TRIBUNE station will present numerous new and distinctive features in conjunction with the opening of its greatest fall and winter season.

From 6:45 until 11 p. m. W-G-N will broadcast a series of programs, featuring many of the artists who have helped to give the station its prestige and an array of new talent that seems likely to add considerable luster to its record.

High lights in this period will be two concerts by the W-G-N Concert orchestra, under the direction of Adolphe Dumont. The first of these, from 7 to 7:30, will feature instrumental soloists. Ernest F. Pechin will play a cornet solo during the presentation of Clarke's "Carnival of Venice," and David Fellerman a cello solo with Popper's "Serenade." Other numbers on this concert will be Friml's "Only a Rose," Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in C Sharp Minor," and selections from Verdi's "Aida."

Opera Stars to Sing.

Two nationally famous operatic figures will be heard during the full hour's concert by the orchestra beginning at 8:15 o'clock. Helen Freund, brilliant lyric coloratura soprano, formerly of the Chicago Civic opera, will sing two solos—the ever popular "L'Amour Toujours L'Amour," by Friml, and "Auf Wiedersehn" from Romberg's "Blue Paradise." The other soloist will be Attilio Baggiori, renowned lyric tenor, who gained fame at "La Scala" and the Royal Opera in Rome and as a guest performer for the Chicago Civic Opera company. Mr. Baggiori will sing Manna Zucca's "I Love Life"; Cadman's "At Dawning," and Moletti's "Lontananza." With Miss Freund he will sing a duet, "The Message of the Violet," from "The Prince of Pilsen."

The orchestra will present a special "Dream Ship" broadcast at 9:45 o'clock.

Another distinguished musical unit, the 6 piece Stevens Hotel ensemble, under the direction of Margaret Conrad, will make its bow over W-G-N at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, supplementing the fine music of the Palmer House ensemble, under the direction of Ralph Ginsbergh, and the Blackstone Hotel Music Weavers, both heard daily over THE TRIBUNE station exclusively.

Doring Sisters to Sing.

The Doring sisters, a trio of fine legato singers, will make their first appearance at 7:30 o'clock.

Platt & Nierman, W-G-N's new double piano team, will give a 15 minute program at 8 o'clock.

At 9:30 comes "Tomorrow's TRIBUNE," to be followed by "Headlines of Other Days." Charlie Agnew, his singing orchestra and Emrie Ann Lincoln, as soloist, will be presented at 10 o'clock, and they will be followed by Roy Dietrich and the "Old Heidelberg" ensemble from the World's Fair. Then comes the parade of W-G-N orchestras, including Wayne King, Jan Garber, Don Carlos, Hal Kemp, Clyde McCoy, and Richard Cole.

Mrs. O. L. Pelton Dead; Wife of Elgin Doctor

Mrs. Anna Louise Pelton, 74 years old, wife of Dr. O. L. Pelton, died at her home, 214 South State street, Elgin, yesterday. Born in Elburn, Nov. 26, 1858, Mrs. Pelton was a daughter of Noble B. and May Kendall Fray, pioneer Kane county residents. On May 7, 1879, she was married to Dr. Pelton, founder and head of the Pelton clinic of Elgin. Besides her husband Mrs. Pelton is survived by three children, Mrs. Mary Bucklin, Mrs. Helen Ladd, and Miss Lura Pelton, all of Elgin. Funeral services will be held in Elgin tomorrow afternoon.

CLUB WOMAN'S DATES CLASH AND JUDGE IS STIRRED

Issues Writ for Her in Burglary Trial.

The name of Mrs. Clara Alt was called yesterday in the court of Judge Harry B. Miller as that of the prosecuting witness in a 5 year old burglary case. But Mrs. Alt was missing and Capt. Patrick Harding of the Rogers Park police explained that when he told her the case was coming up she retorted that she couldn't be present because she had to go to A Century of Progress exposition and assist other clubwomen in entertaining Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Let a writ of attachment issue for Mrs. Alt. I want her here tomorrow. This case has been in the courts long enough and I want it tried," said Judge Miller.

Mrs. Alt is the wife of Edward Alt and resides at 1528 Farwell avenue. She is prominent in club affairs in Rogers Park.

Defendants Dodge the Law.

The defendant in the case is Louis Arnold. He and a confederate, Max Berman, broke into the Alt home on Nov. 10, 1923. Both were arrested soon afterward in a hotel room and the police found them in possession of property stolen in the Alt burglary. They were indicted for burglary on Nov. 27, 1928.

The two burglars proved to be agile dodgers of the law. On Jan. 27, 1929, when their case was called for trial before Judge John J. Sullivan, they failed to appear and their bonds were forfeited. On Feb. 15 of the same year they were rearrested in Los Angeles, and on Sept. 15 they were called to trial before the late Judge Gemmill. This time they were present at the start of the court action, but walked out while it was in progress.

Serves Term in East.

Later Berman was caught for the third time and was tried on June 30, 1930, before Judge Walter Steffen, and was sent to prison. Arnold meanwhile was arrested in Boston and sentenced to the Massachusetts penitentiary, from which he emerged last March 6. He was brought back to Chicago and the Criminal court now has gotten round to his trial.

Yesterday was the only time the record showed a delay due to Mrs. Alt's absence. Capt. Harding indicated that he would notify her of the writ of attachment and would not adopt the severer course of holding her in jail to guarantee her appearance.

PROF. RANSMEIER OF U. OF CHICAGO IS DEAD AT 61

John C. Ransmeier, for the last 12 years assistant professor of romance languages at the University of Chicago, died yesterday at the Presbyterian hospital after an operation. He was 61 years old.

Prof. Ransmeier was a native of Jonesboro, Ill. He was educated at Harvard and Northwestern universities and the University of Berlin, Germany, and was later a teacher of German at Tulane university. He came to Chicago soon after the war and joined the faculty at the University of Chicago.

Rain and Cooler Weather Due Tomorrow.

Yesterday was the warmest day Chicago has ever had this late in the year in the history of the local weather bureau. At the same time the entire central states region and some other parts of the country reaching new heights of abnormal warmth. The thermometer registered 78 degrees at 1 and 2 o'clock, 2 degrees more than the rame day in 1915, which was the former record.

Other high temperature records may be broken today, said Forecaster C. A. Donnel. He predicted rain and cooler weather for tomorrow.

82 Degrees in Indianapolis.

The warmth was generously spread throughout Chicagoland. Indianapolis had 82 degrees, breaking the record of 77 established in 1900. Readings of 78 degrees, passing previous highs for the date, were reported from Rock Island, Moline, and East Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Ia.

In Philadelphia a record which had stood for 37 years was equaled when the temperature rose to 74, and in New York the thermometer reached 70, only 2 degrees less than the high of 1896.

Minimum is 59 Degrees.

The lowest temperature in Chicago yesterday was 59 degrees, from 5 to 7 o'clock in the morning, which was 12 degrees above normal. Monday's 78 degrees was one degree short of the 79 recorded for that date in 1927.

Rainfall in October was much greater than the normal, showing a total of 3.64 inches against an average of 2.46 for other years.

LON CHANEY'S WIDOW IS DEAD; ONCE ON STAGE

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Lon Chaney, 46, widow of the actor that the silent screen knew as the "man of a thousand faces," died today at St. Vincent's hospital, after a lingering illness.

She was a trouper well known in days before the movies, under the name of Hazel Hastings, in which she appeared in vaudeville as well as in the stage productions of Kolb & Dill.

In 1908, in San Francisco, the city of her birth, she married Lon Chaney.

She retired from the stage when her husband entered motion pictures and became one of its headline character actors. He died three years ago leaving an estate of $550,000.

The first public intimation of her illness came two weeks ago when John Jeshke, for years a confidential employé of the Chaneys, appeared at the county courthouse and sought to file a notice of intention to marry her.

He obtained the marriage license blank, but it was not filed, for Mrs. Chaney's physician stated she was too ill for the ceremony.

STOP THAT COLD THE FIRST DAY!

A cold once rooted is a cold of danger! Trust to no makeshift methods. A cold, being an internal infection, calls for internal treatment. A cold also calls for a COLD remedy and not a preparation good for a number of other things as well.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is internal and direct—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is inviting trouble. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any druggist, 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and accept no substitute on any pretext.

NATIONAL BANKS REPORT CASH UP; CREDIT SHRINKS

Deposits of Chicago Units Also Drop.

Cash resources of Chicago's national banks were increased during October but total deposits and outstanding credit showed moderate contraction according to the figures made public yesterday in response to the regular quarterly call for condition by the controller of currency.

The banks reported their condition as of Oct. 25. They had previously reported their position as of Sept. 29 when the stated banks published statements in response to the call of the state auditor. The national call came a month later than usual. Normally the state and national calls are made simultaneously.

Deposits Show Gain.

Compared with June 30, the last national call, gains were shown in total deposits, savings deposits, cash resources and total loans and discounts. While cash resources and savings balances continued to pile up last month, the loans and discounts and total deposits showed some recession.

Loans and discounts were down approximately 19 million dollars from the Sept. 29 total while total deposits showed a shrinkage of about 8 millions. Cash resources were up over 13 millions and savings deposits increased nearly 2 millions.

The followed table shows comparisions on the national bank figures issued yesterday as of Oct. 25 and those issued a month ago and at the close of June [3 ciphers omitted]:

	Savings deposits.	Total deposits.
Oct. 25	$210,493	$1,366,663
Sept. 29	208,637	1,374,520
June 30	205,307	1,338,162
	Loans and discounts.	Cash resources.
Oct. 25	$613,232	$563,704
Sept. 29	632,388	550,688
June 30	594,230	471,064

The Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company reported an increase of approximately 4 millions in cash resources over September and 25 millions over June. Loans and discounts were 8 millions below September but still 12 millions higher than the June figure.

The First National bank report showed that the expansion in loans and discounts between June and September was all but offset last month. Loans and discounts on Oct. 25 were $212,136,000 against $223,217,000 at the end of September and $211,544,000 at the close of June.

State Bank Report.

The city's two biggest state banks, the Northern Trust company and the Harris Trust and Savings bank, also issued reports yesterday along with the national banks. Deposits of the Northern were up $9,200,000 for the month to a current total of $188,823,000. Cash resources also increased sharply reputedly as the result of a reduction in government bond holders.

Deposits of the Harris bank rose $2,700,000 during October. Cash resources showed a moderate increase and loans advanced over a million, compared with the September figures.

For the first time the controller asked a separate accounting of public money as distinct from personal and corporate deposits. It was explained that this procedure was followed because deposits of governmental agencies are usually for a short time and do not reflect a bank's true position.

Chicago Bank Asks RFC for Loan to Open

With the disclosure that a plan for reorganization of the Chicago Bank of Commerce has been completed and that its reopening is contingent on receiving a $3,500,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, it was learned yesterday that progress is being made in efforts to reopen a number of state banks which failed to open at the conclusion of the national banking holiday last March. These banks include the Aetna State bank, Austin State bank, Halsted Street State bank, and the West Side Trust and Savings bank.

Under the Chicago Bank of Commerce plan the depositors were asked to accept 30 per cent of their money in stock in the bank, with 70 per cent to be made available in cash. When the bank closed on June 25, 1932, it had deposits of approximately $5,200,000 and about 21,000 depositors.

Assets Reported Appraised.

It is stated that RFC examiners have already appraised the assets against which the $3,500,000 loan was requested, and that a decision by officials of the RFC is expected shortly.

Francis E. Matthews, who was attorney for the bank and who is a member of the reorganization committee, stated yesterday that it is proposed to reopen the institution as a national bank. Application has been made with the office of the controller of the currency to organize the Commerce National bank of Chicago, which would take over the liabilities and assets of the old bank. The new bank would have a capital of $500,000 and surplus of $250,000 under the plan.

Bank to Be Liquid.

Mr. Matthews stated that the capital for the new bank would be provided through the depositors' waivers and through subscriptions by the stockholders. He said the new bank would start business entirely liquid.

The depositors in the old bank have received no payments since it closed. Alfred K. Foreman is receiver. The new bank would use the old bank's quarters at 7 South Dearborn street, it was stated.

Reports on the situation of four other state banks were as follows:

Aetna State bank. Officials state that good progress is being made on a reorganization plan. However, they point out that success of the plan rests on full cooperation of the depositors in waiving part of their deposits.

Austin State bank. Officials state that reorganization plans are moving along well.

Halsted Street State bank. Officials state that all stock has been sold for a reorganized bank and that waivers on 50 per cent of deposits have been received from practically all depositors.

West Side Trust and Savings bank. Officials could not be reached, but it was stated that plans for the reorganization are in status quo.

U. S. STEEL HAS BEST 3 MONTHS SINCE EARLY '31

Loss Cut; Preferred Dividend Voted.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 31.—As a result of the marked upturn in the steel industry during the summer, the United States Steel corporation today reported that the third quarter of this year was the best since the second quarter of 1931.

At the same time, the corporation boosted employment in its plants, bringing the average number employed to 197,129 for the quarter and reaching a peak of 200,559 in September. The average number employed in the first quarter was 145,988. This gain in employment, coupled with wage increases in July, resulted in a total pay roll of $54,483,150 for the quarter, compared with $26,329,555 in the first quarter.

The directors at their meeting today declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents on the preferred stock, the same as was paid in the three preceding quarters.

Still Operates at Loss.

Despite improvement in its business, U. S. Steel still was unable to get out of the "red." For the third quarter the company had net loss of $2,717,014 after all charges, compared with net loss of $8,627,367 in the preceding quarter and net loss of $20,871,709 in the September quarter of 1932. For nine months the net loss after all charges was $28,074,652, compared with net loss of $54,542,431 in the like period of 1932.

The third quarter net loss includes an extraordinary charge of $1,831,179 and special income of $708,181, which is the proportion of interest on railroad recapture payments refunded, less reserves for account of adjustment in connection with employes' stock subscription plan.

The report for the June quarter showed a deficit from operations of $7,026,588 after reserves and interest charges and a final deficit after preferred dividends of $10,428,722, but showed a profit of $4,881,554 before allowing for those items. For the September quarter of 1932 the corporation showed a deficit from operations of $4,474,719 before reserves and interest. The final deficit for that quarter was $27,176,628.

Taylor Analyzes Results.

"Operations for the third quarter averaged 40 per cent of capacity, compared with 27½ per cent in the second quarter and 16 per cent in the first quarter," said Myron C. Taylor, chairman. "Largely because of the increase in business a greater number of men were employed in the third quarter. Thus in September 200,559 employés were given work, compared with 139,585 in March, an increase of 60,974. During the entire third quarter an average of 197,129 per month were employed, compared with a monthly average of 145,988 in the first quarter, an increase of 51,141.

"This increase in number of men employed, together with the fact that they worked a greater number of hours per week than in the first quarter and by reason of the increase in wage rates, resulted in a total pay roll for September of $17,230,798, or 101 per cent greater than in March, 1933, and for the quarter ended Sept. 30 a total pay roll of $54,483,150, compared with $26,329,555 in the first quarter, an increase of $28,153,595, or 107 per cent."

No Trade in San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 31.—(AP)—The San Francisco securities markets paid no attention today to the quarterly report of U. S. Steel corporation. It was the first time in several years the report of "Big Steel" passed without a trading movement in the corporation's stock, or a general movement in other stocks generated by the influence of this industrial weathervane.

On the curb exchange, where the stock is traded after New York hours, the issue was not even offered for sale, nor was it sought after by purchasers.

Banks Pile Up Record Excess Reserve Total

New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Excess reserves of all member banks of the federal reserve system exceeded $850,000,000 at the end of October, the largest amount ever reached, the monthly review of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York stated today.

This increase is due largely to additional purchases of government securities by member banks, according to the review, since the middle of May purchases of these obligations have amounted to $563,000,000 and excess reserves of member banks have increased by nearly the same amount.

Additional receipt of funds by member banks through deposits of currency previously hoarded and from other sources have been approximately balanced, the review asserts, by the repayment by most of the member banks of indebtedness to the reserve banks; retirement of acceptances held by the reserve banks and a small increase in reserve requirements.

Reserve Position "Comfortable."

"As a result of these transactions," the review says, "member banks in general are in a very comfortable reserve position. The indebtedness of member banks at the reserve banks is the smallest since 1917, and excess reserves over legal requirments are more widely held than at any other time in recent years. Member banks are therefore in a position to extend large amounts of additional credit as occasion rises. Under these circumstances, purchases of government securities by the reserve banks were reduced in volume during the latter part of October."

New York City member banks on Oct. 25 held more than $200,000,000 of excess reserves and Chicago banks about $250,000,000. Member banks in other localities held a total of about $400,000,000 compared with about $100,000,000 in January of this year when the previous high point of excess reserves for all member banks was reached.

Some Drain at New York.

In New York City, excess reserves are not as large now as in January because, the review says, these banks are subject to recurrent drains due to demands for funds in other parts of the country. During the first half of October, the amount of currency in circulation showed a seasonal increase of $78,000,000, and accompanying this demand and the distribution of Oct. 1 interest and dividend disbursements there were transfers of more than $100,000,000 to other districts. A return flow of currency began in the latter half.

In addition to the ebb and flow of commercial funds at New York, the review says, the federal treasury has more or less steadily withdrawn funds to meet government expenditures in other districts. In recent weeks the member banks have held sufficient excess reserves to meet these requirements without borrowing from the reserve banks, the review continues, adding that at times of heavy withdrawals the member banks have maintained their reserves by selling part of their acceptances in the open market.

CHASE NATIONAL BANK TO BE SOVIET AGENT; RECOGNITION IS SEEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 31.—Early recognition of soviet Russia by the state department appeared certain to Wall street today with the disclosure that the Chase National bank has been appointed paying agent for a Russian loan, a step which it was forbidden by the state department to take in February, 1928.

The Soviet American Securities corporation, 30 Broad street, announced that the Chase National bank will act as agent for the soviet government in the payment of interest coupons on a 10,000,000 gold ruble issue of soviet ten year bonds. The Chase bank will also accept for payment any of these bonds which are tendered for sale to the state bank of the U. S. S. R.

In February, 1928, Secretary of State Kellogg requested the Chase National bank not to act as paying agent for the soviet, or any other capacity which would facilitate the sale of soviet bonds in the United States. The request was made in order to prevent the sale in this country of $30,000,000 of Russian railway bonds. The state department took the position that although the Chase bank was not selling the bonds, it was abetting their sale through acting in a fiscal capacity. The Chase bank acceded to the state department's request.

In financial circles it is assumed that the state department has given its assent, either tacit or overt, to the Chase bank's decision to act as fiscal agent for the bonds now being sold here by the Soviet American Securities corporation.

OCTOBER STOCK TRADE LIGHTEST FOR 7 MONTHS

Trading on the New York Stock exchange in October was the slowest for any month since last March. Sales, as compiled by THE TRIBUNE, totaled 29,379,082 shares, compared with 43,319,334 in September and 29,187,659 shares in October a year ago.

Prices fluctuated erratically. After moving higher in the first week, they turned reactionary for two weeks and the averages penetrated their lows of last July and declined to the levels of last May. The market then rebounded and stocks recovered all their losses of the month before any setback occurred. They then receded gradually and the greater part of the gains were erased.

The combined averages of THE TRIBUNE declined $5.61 and reduced the gains for the year to $20.36.

U. S. Treasury Offers $75,000,000 of Bills

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Undersecretary Acheson of the treasury announced today that tenders for approximately $75,000,000 of 91 day discount treasury bills will be received at the federal reserve banks and branches until 2 o'clock p. m., eastern standard time, Nov. 3.

Dollar Values on Franc, Gold Draw Closer

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 31.—The dollar declined further today in foreign exchange, but continued substantially above the theoretical value indicated for it by the price at which the RFC offered to buy newly mined gold. The RFC set a price of $32.12, up 16 cents an ounce from Monday's figure, which indicated a value of 66.18 cents in gold for the dollar, off .67 cent. Measured against the French franc, the dollar sank in foreign exchange to 64.35 cents, off .32 cent from Monday's closing price. The spread thus narrowed .35 cent.

Trading was again quiet. The foreign currencies opened higher than they had previously closed, eased off and then recovered. Sterling closed at $4.77⅞, up 1⅜ cents. The franc rose 6½ points, guilders were up 50 points, belgas rose 10 points and Swiss francs gained 24 points. Marks were 30 points better at 36.10 cents, lire up 4½ points at 7.95 cents and Canadian dollars up 18 points at 98.56 cents.

The RFC quotation for gold again failed to make an impression upon the world market. In London a price of 130s 7d was fixed for an ounce of gold, which was 7½d under Monday's figures. Wall street continued to be without information as to how the RFC intended to purchase gold abroad.

FRANCE ANSWERS BRAZIL DEFAULT; BOOSTS TARIFFS

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Oct. 31.—France today trebled her duties on all imports from Brazil, from whom she buys 90 per cent of her coffee. This was taken to be the government's reply to Brazil's action a week ago in doubling tariffs on French goods and to her withholding of 9,419,187 gold francs [about $368,975] due yesterday on the Brazilian debt to France.

Brazil's tariff increases were understood to be in retaliation against France's import license system requiring that applicants for import permits deposit 10 per cent of the value of the goods to be imported as an advance on the duties.

French exporters complain that Brazil's exchange control regulations prevent their collecting for 120,000,000 francs' worth of goods sold in Brazil last year. French importers, it is pointed out, paid cash for 500,000,000 francs' worth of goods bought from Brazil during the same period.

Rail Price Cut Brings Sale of 300,000 Tons

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 31.—The reduction in the price of rails brought about by President Roosevelt's intervention was followed promptly today by the announcement of pending orders for an aggregate of approximately 300,000 tons. The new price fixed by President Roosevelt was $36,375, which compared with a former price of $40 a ton.

The largest order brought out by the Washington action was one for 10,000 tons by the Pennsylvania railroad. The Pennsylvania had offered to take this quantity at the former price of $40, but it was understood on good authority that it would accept the reduction brought about at the behest of Joseph B. Eastman, federal coördinator of transportation.

Santa Fé Considers Needs.

S. T. Bledsoe, president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé railway, which was reported to have been one of the railroads to have desired a price of $35 a ton, said that his company probably would accept the government's figure. He said that a survey of the company's needs were being made with a view to the purchase of 35,000 tons.

J. M. Davis, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, said that his company would buy 2,000 tons of rails immediately and 10,000 tons next year at the new price.

C. E. Ewing, president of the Reading company and the Central railroad of New Jersey, said that the management had the purchase of rails under consideration and that an order for a moderate amount would be announced this week.

B. & O. Wants 50,000 Tons.

The Baltimore and Ohio system, which includes the Reading and Jersey Central, had previously made a conditional offer to buy 50,000 tons.

Cleveland advices said that the Erie railroad probably would order between 25,000 and 30,000 tons of rails for next year's requirements. This company lays rails only in the spring. It laid 24,000 tons last year and 30,000 tons the year before.

The Illinois Central will soon order 20,000 tons of rails at the new price, L. A. Downs, president, announced. He said his company earned its interest charges in October and that it would show a new loss of slightly less than $1,000,000 for the first ten months.

Burlington Needs 25,000 Tons.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad is prepared to buy 25,000 tons at the new price. Together with the 8,000 tons of fastenings required, the order would cost the Burlington about $1,250,000.

That the New York, New Haven and Hartford would buy 20,000 tons at the new price was indicated by previous statements of the management.

The New York Central has announced that it has completed its rail purchases for this year. The Lehigh Valley did not join in the movement started by Mr. Eastman.

New York Exchange Seat Price Falls to $100,000

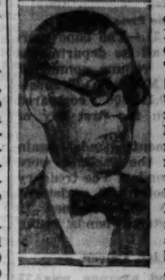
New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—A New York Stock Exchange seat sold today at $100,000, a decline of $15,000 from the previous sale. This is the lowest price for a membership since last April. The highest price paid for a seat this year was $250,000, in June.

SURFACE AND 'L' BONDHOLDERS GIVEN NEW PLAN

Co-ordinator Submits Compromise.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

A compromise plan seeking to reconcile the conflicting claims of the first mortgage bondholders of the Chicago Surface Lines and the Chicago Rapid Transit company [the elevated] in the pending unification program has been submitted to the representatives of the bondholders by Walter L. Fisher, coördinator. Fisher, an attorney, was selected by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson several weeks ago to effect a reconciliation between the two bondholders' groups whose differences threaten to throw the whole traction problem back into the political arena. Unless the bondholders patch up their differences and agree on a consolidation plan by Jan. 31, 1934, the ordinance approved by the voters three years ago will lapse.



WALTER L. FISHER

Discuss Plan This Week.

The plan submitted by Fisher is a tentative one and will be discussed at a meeting of the representatives of the surface and elevated bondholders some time this week.

In its present form the plan provides for equal treatment of the holders of the underlying bonds of the surface and "L" lines as regards the principal amount of securities to be received in the consolidated company. The surface line bondholders, however, are given preferential treatment as regards the income features. The refunding mortgage bonds in the new company to be issued in exchange for the present first mortgage surface line bonds will get their interest first.

It is proposed that to give surface line holders series A bonds of the refunding mortgage in the new company in the amount of 50 per cent of their present holdings. Holders of first mortgage of the elevated would get one-half of the principal amount of their present bonds in series B liens of the same issue.

Interest Preference to A Bonds.

The property lien of the A and B bonds would be the same, but the A bonds would rank ahead of the Bs in applying earnings for payment of interest. For the balance of their present holdings both surface and "L" holders will be asked to accept income debentures. The debentures will also be of two series, A and B, with the surface line holders again getting the preference as regards income, but both series representing the same lien.

To finance the proposed consolidation, which it is estimated will cost

SENATE TO LOOK INTO CLEVELAND, DETROIT BANKS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Two investigators of the senate banking committee today were surveying closed bank conditions in Detroit, with an inquiry to be made also at Cleveland.

Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the banking committee, announced that Frank Meehan and R. A. W. Latimer of his investigating staff had gone to work in Detroit today. From Detroit they will go on to Cleveland, where federal officials are conducting an inquiry. Pecora and his aids will cooperate with the other officials.

Pecora said in announcing recently that the committee would investigate bank closures in the two cities that it would look into their relationship with the federal reserve system and investment bankers.

Mack Sennett Comedies Not Comic to Creditors

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Leon Schlesinger and William Hornbeck, creditors of Mack Sennett, Inc., today petitioned federal courts to appoint a receiver in equity for the movie comedy corporation in order to conserve its assets and protect the assets from threatened attachments. The petition stated that the total outstanding indebtedness of the defendant corporation amounted to $2,385,839 and that its assets were valued in excess of this amount.

REPUBLIC TRUST STILL OWES 65 MILLIONS TO RFC

The Central Republic Trust company, successor to the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, still owes more than $65,000,000 to the Reconstruction Finance corporation, it is indicated in the statement published yesterday in response to the call of the state auditor.

The statement shows bills payable of $65,666,672 as of Sept. 29. The RFC notes represent practically all of the bills payable. The trust company has reduced its obligation to the government agency by $3,192,035 since last March when the total bills payable stood at $68,858,707. The RFC advanced the bank $90,000,000 originally.

The reduction in the RFC loan corresponds roughly to the decline in outstanding collateral loans of the trust company. On Sept. 29 these loans stood at $44,633,704 as compared with $47,947,392 on March 25. Other loans stood at $11,823,254, only a slight decrease from last March. The trust company has no deposits. All of its deposits were assumed by the City National Bank and Trust company a year ago.

New York, Oct. 31.—The bond market was lower in all its departments today, with the volume somewhat smaller than on Monday. Transactions totaled $10,111,600, compared with $12,486,000 on the first day of the week.

U. S. government bonds again moved lower, but the declines were smaller than on Monday. The treasury 3¾s declined ¾ point and registered first Liberty loan 4¼s declined ¼ point, the unregistered bonds rising 1-32.

Foreign List Lower.

The foreign bond average was 37 points lower on the day, with gains occurring principally in Canada 4s. Finland 6½s, Nuremberg 6s, Toho Electric Power 7s, and United Kingdom 4s. The last named lead in activity.

Declines affected Italy 7s, French 7s, Swedish 5½s, Swiss 5½s, and other issues which had advanced briskly on Monday, but the losses were of much smaller proportion than the gains at the beginning of the week.

Railroad bonds weakened with Baltimore and Ohio refunding 6s, Canadian Pacific 4s, Erie 5s, Great Northern 7s New York Central refunding 5s, Missouri Pacifics, Northern Pacific 6s, Pennsylvania General 4½s, Southern Pacific 4½s, and Wabash issues among the more active series to lose ground.

Utilities Down Moderately.

Public utility bonds declined more moderately. Portland General Electric 4½s, American Telephone and Telegraph 5s, and Northern States Power 5s were strong features. Declines occurred in B. M. T. 6s, Brooklyn Union Gas 5s, I. T. & T. 5s, New York Steam 6s, Philadelphia company 5s, and other issues. I. R. T. issues showed wide declines.

Among the larger losses in industrial bonds were St. Joseph Lead 5½s, Shell Pipe Line 5s and National Dairy Products 5¼s. Goodyear 5s gained in active trading.

HIDE FUTURES.

Prices of hide futures were on the down grade Tuesday, with the close 38 to 45 points net lower. Sales aggregated 1,720,000 pounds. Closing bids: December, 8.70c; March, 9.50c; June, 9.85c; September 10.05c.

McKesson & Robbins.

Investors' Guide: Will you kindly express your opinion on McKesson & Robbins common?—D. J. E.

Answer: McKesson & Robbins, Inc., is primarily a wholesale drug concern About half of sales is of nationally advertised products. Sales of McKesson made products, on which profit margin is high, constitute only about 5 per cent of sales.

The company operates on a narrow margin of profit. Since it handles more than 40,000 products, inventories necessarily are large. During a period of falling prices inventory losses assume sizeable proportions. A considerable volume is sold on credit. The high casualty rate among retail druggists during 1931 and 1932 entailed substantial credit losses.

Net sales for the first half of 1933 totaled $48,875,000 and net loss was $418,000. For the corresponding 1932 period sales totaled $53,132,000 and net income was $46,000, or 6 cents per preferred share.

Sales in 1932 totaled $104,227,000, down 13 per cent from sales of $119,967,000 for 1931. Loss of $2,639,000 on current receivables and an unstated deduction for inventory losses resulted in net loss for 1932 of $1,108,000. A reduction of $4,000,000 in book value of investments wiped out the profit and loss surplus of $109,000 from the year before and substituted a profit and loss deficit of $4,889,000 at the close of 1932.

Net income in 1931 was $1,758,000, or 24 cents per common share, against net of 96 cents per common share for 1930 and $2.48 for 1929.

Current assets on June 30, 1933, including cash of $3,510,000, totaled $45,663,000 and current liabilities were $6,222,000. Working capital was $39,441,000, against $42,885,000 the year before. Notes payable to banks were eliminated. They stood at $2,750,000 on June 30, 1932. Funded debt was $19,359,000.

There are outstanding 428,045 shares of $50 par 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock and 1,071,798 shares of $5 par common. Nothing has been paid on the preferred since Dec. 15, 1931.

Both the preferred and common are quite speculative.

Russian Rubles.

Investors' Guide: I am holding 100,000 1921 Soviet Russian gold certificates in the denomination of rubles. Is there any method of exchanging these into our currency at the present time?—M. J. J.

Answer: We have the following from Amtorg Trading corporation, representative of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics:

"At the time of the creation of a stable currency in the U. S. S. R. in 1924 the old depreciated paper money was called in and exchanged for the new issue. Therefore any soviet currency issued in 1921 is valueless now."

STOCKS SEESAW; TRADERS WAIT ON MONEY MOVES

Prices Swing Narrowly; Volume Slackens.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 31.—Stocks backed and filled in listless trading today while traders tried in vain to see the light on the administration's monetary control program and the lastest moves towards its development. Boardroom comment indicated that popular opinion on the subject is as perplexed as ever.

The business news of the day offered little or no incentive to endeavor on either side of the market. Most brokers were frankly counseling a sidelines position until the atmosphere showed some signs of clearing and the volume of trading on the share exchange showed that the advice was being taken literally by a vast majority of the speculative element.

Transactions for the five hours totaled only around 1,152,000 shares, or nearly 337,000 fewer than changed hands even in yesterday's dull session. The turnover for last Tuesday topped 2,116,000 shares.

Price Movements Narrow.

Price movements were extremely narrow in all departments of the market today, as they generaly are when the list lacks a definite trend. Gold and silver mining issues tried to make a little whoopee for a while in the early dealings, following the government's announcement of its new and higher gold prices, but they soon settled back with the rest of the file.

Some of the outstanding silver stocks, in fact, finished the day behind minus signs. Buying in the silver division was prompted by talk that if the government could buy gold it could also buy silver, and with equal disregard to the value the rest of the world places on the metal.

Homestake, after opening two points lower, forged ahead for a net gain of three points but held only two of them to the close. U. S. Smelting and American Smelting were both fairly strong, however, the first named rising nearly 2 points.

Railway Issues Irregular.

The rails were mixed in spite of the opportunity offered to the roads to go into debt to the government in purchasing steel rails. Traders did not seem to construe the offer as being particularly bullish, seeing how the debt would have to be liquidated at some time or another out of earnings—if any. The seasonal decline in carloadings and prospects of a still further decline next month also tended to temper any enthusiasm that might have developed in behalf of the carriers.

Public utilities were soft and the food group was irregular.

Further persistent selling in American Telephone forced that pivotal down into new low territory during the forenoon but the price firmed up in the later trading.

Considerable short selling was reported to be in evidence during the day.

SEARS-ROEBUCK SALES IN BIGGEST GAIN SINCE 1929

Sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. for the four weeks ending on Nov. 5, the tenth period of the company's fiscal year, will show the sharpest gain over the corresponding period of the preceding year since 1929, it was announced yesterday by John M. Hancock of Lehman Brothers, a director of the company.

Sales for the current four weeks will be about 20 per cent above those of the corresponding period of last year and 6 per cent more than in the preceding four weeks, Mr. Hancock said. For the four weeks ended on Oct. 8, the sales were $26,311,738, compared with $24,353,522 in the corresponding period of 1932, a gain of 8 per cent.

Statistical Association to Hear Railway Authority

Dr. Charles O. Hardy of the Brookings institute, Washington, D. C., and lately expert of the national transportation committee, will discuss the transportation problem at a dinner meeting of the Chicago section of the American Statistical association tonight at 6:30 at the Hamilton club. J. L. Sweet of the federal reserve bank is president of the organization sponsoring the dinner.

U.S. LOANS BLOCK RISE OF SLUMS, SAYS OHIO MAYOR

Better Housing Meeting Told of Plan.

BY AL CHASE.

Slum prevention is just as important as slum clearance, Mayor Charles R. Ely of Euclid, O., said at the two day housing conference which started yesterday at the Union League club, under the auspices of the National Association for Better Housing. This argument won a promise from the public works administration of a $1,000,000 loan for the erection of more than 200 single family homes in the industrial suburb of Cleveland, he asserted.

Mayor Ely declared that any group taking to Washington a housing program which has merit will receive the serious consideration of the PWA in the matter of financing. He said that the Euclid project was the first to be approved by the administration. In addition to the $1,000,000 agrred upon by the PWA, other advances will be made if found expedient, he said.

Citizens Prepare Plan.

Mr. Ely told of how a small group of public spirited citizens made an intensive study of the Ohio industrial community, prepared it and sent it to Washington. He said that of 9,000 vacant lots in Euclid about half are clear and can be used for development. He added that an actual housing shortage exists there.

The project was at first coldly received at Washington because the recovery program was intended only for slum clearance, involving big group housing projects.

"Our committee succeeded in convincing the administration that it is just as important to prevent slums as it is to eradicate them," said Mr. Ely. "On that basis, we secured approval of our plan and formed a not for profit corporation under which a lot owner whose taxes are paid can turn it into the government and receive a loan sufficient to build a house for not more than $5,000."

Statements Questioned.

The Euclid mayor's statements were questioned by Don A. Loftus of Cleveland, chairman of the home builders and land developers' national committee, and by a man who said he was a representative of the Van Sweringen real estate interests. They said that final approval of the projects planned had not been given, and that a maximum valuation of land would be enforced by the government that would throw out many of the 240 applications for homes in Euclid.

Mayor Ely said that the first group of eight houses can be built for $4,700 each, but declared this was too much. The committee is working to get the cost down to $4,200, he said.

The housing conference will continue today with the question of finance receiving attention at this morning's session.

OPPONENTS FIRE VOLLEY AT RAIL MERGER PLANS

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 31.—(AP)—The head of the Reading and Central of New Jersey railroads today joined opponents of the Prince railroad consolidation plan, terming it "impossible" and "revolutionary in character."

"Altogether I believe the plan to be impossible and that it will have little support," said the statement of Charles H. Ewing, president of both lines. "The plan will doubtless, when generally understood, meet with vigorous public opposition as well as from railroad labor."

From Emory R. Johnson, former dean of the Wharton school of finance of the University of Pennsylvania—an outstanding authority on transportation—came the declaration that the plan is "impracticable."

Ewing asserted that the plan would destroy many existing through routes and channels of trade, and place many important industrial communities on side lines which are now enjoying the benefits of trunk line facilities."

RAILWAY EXPRESS IS PREPARING FOR BUSINESS GAINS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 31.—The railway express agency, which is owned by the principal railroads, announced today that it was preparing for substantially increased shipping, in the belief that President Roosevelt's efforts to stimulate business recovery would be successful.

Executives and operating officers of the agency met today at the call of L. O. Head, president, to lay plans for a nation-wide business drive, in which 50,000 employés stationed in 23,500 cities and towns in the United States and Canada will be urged to participate.

Every indication points to the successful culmination of President Roosevelt's efforts to hasten economic recovery and to lead the nation back to normal stabilized business conditions," Mr. Head said.

FREIGHT MOVED OVER ILLINOIS CENTRAL RISES

Car loadings on the Illinois Central for the week ended Oct. 28 showed an increase of 535 cars over the total for the preceding week, reversing the customary seasonal trend. Loadings totaled 28,216, compared with 29,666 in the like week of 1932. Last year, however, loadings were falling behind those of preceding weeks.

The Burlington handled 25,890 cars, compared with 26,890 in the preceding week and with 23,723 in the like week of 1932. Frisco loadings totaling 14,434 showed little change from the preceding week and from the like week of 1932.

Pere Marquette loadings totaled 4,348, a decline of only 17 cars from the preceding week but a decline of 121 cars from the same week of 1932.

LAW TO CLARIFY MUNICIPAL BOND SITUATION URGED

Bankers Seek to Improve Default Conditions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hot Springs, Va., Oct. 31.—The urgent need for federal legislation to enable defaulting states and municipalities to compose their differences with the bondholders and thus bring relief to the holders of some $1,500,000,000 of municipal bonds, was outlined today in the report of the municipal committee of the Investment Bankers' association at the association's twenty-second annual convention.

E. Fleetwood Dunstan of the Bankers Trust company, New York, chairman of the committee, pointed out that restoration, even in part, of the value of bonds of defaulting communities would strengthen in considerable degree the financial position of insurance companies, banks and other large institutional holders, as well as that of private investors in municipals.

Sumners Bill Favored.

He said that the Sumners bill, originally known as the Wilcox bill, which was passed by the house of representatives at its last session but was not introduced in the senate because of the pressure of time for administration measures, would meet the situation.

This bill, which would amend the federal bankruptcy act, would give defaulting municipalities the right to enter into readjustment plans with the consent of at least 75 per cent of the bondholders, thus eliminating the nuisance value now enjoyed by minority holdings since at present 100 per cent cooperation on the part of the holders is required.

"More communities now face the necessity of a debt readjustment and there seems to be little prospect of accomplishing it without federal bankruptcy court machinery," the report stated. "It is expected that the Sumners bill will be offered promptly upon the convening of the next session of congress."

Adopts Resolution.

To lend its support to the legislation the convention unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, minority interests may now obstruct needed municipal refunding operations, due to the fact that 100 per cent approval of all affected creditors is required, and

"Whereas, it is to the best interest of municipal credit and the owners of municipal bonds that all situations of this character be corrected as early as possible, and

"Whereas legislation was passed by the house of representatives at the last session of congress providing machinery for refinancing plans binding on minority creditors when approved by a large majority of the creditors, the municipality in question and a federal court.

"Be it resolved that the Investment Bankers Association of America endorses the principles of legislation which would permit the orderly readjustment of municipal indebtedness when such legislation requires the approval of the plan of readjustment by a federal court, the municipality, and a substantial majority of the creditors affected."

Discusses Arkansas Case.

The report sharply criticized the legislature of the state of Arkansas for "attempting to violate" the pledges made when the state sold $91,000,000 of highway and toll bridge bonds with the understanding that the applicable revenues would be applied strictly to the debt service. The state's offer of 3 per cent refunding bonds for the higher coupon, it was pointed out, has resulted in a negligible response in view of the protests against the plan made by the bond holders' protective committee.

"Notwithstanding the unfortunate financial condition of a few of our states and some of our larger cities," the report stated, "the case of Arkansas is the only outstanding example of the disposition on the part of any substantial community to attempt anything which might appear to be a lack of 'will to pay.' In general, however, there has been recognition by public officials, backed by public opinion that municipal indebtedness must be paid eventually.

Detroit Recognizes Debt.

"Even in the case of the city of Detroit last spring, with all of the banks in the city closed and conditions most unpropitious, the Detroit government recognized all of its debt and adopted a plan which promises to pay every dollar of this indebtedness, principal and interest, in due time.

"There is a tendency now in many of our states to increase tax penalties and a public opinion is forming to insist that taxes must be paid. The term 'tax slacker' has come into evidence in the press and it is quite conceivable that in time it will be most unpopular in this country for a man not to pay his local taxes."

Mr. Dunstan, in making the report on behalf of the municipal committee, discussed the functioning of the federal public works administration which is empowered to make outright gifts up to 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials on a given project and to loan the community the remaining 70 per cent.

Municipal Loan View.

In this connection he pointed out that the public works administration should not undertake to finance states and municipalities which are able to borrow through the usual open market channels in order that more money might be available for communities which cannot so borrow in the market. In this way, it was shown, more public works projects could be launched and the national recovery program speeded.

The committee on real estate securities, headed by Charles B. Crouse of Crouse & Co. of Detroit, asserted that economic conditions during the last year have broken down real estate values to an even lower level than in 1931 and 1932. The same factors, it was pointed out, namely: excessive taxation, vacancies, and inability to pay rent due to business conditions, have caused this continued shrinkage. The owner of real estate is faced with problems difficult to solve and the investor in bonds secured by real estate mortgages is still undecided as to what course to pursue."

ICKES FAVORS LOANS FOR CITY POWER PLANTS

Backs Plan Despite Opposition.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Municipal power projects which are desirable, practicable, and sound will receive full consideration by the public works board in spite of opposition by privately owned utilities.

Secretary Ickes laid down this policy in a letter to Hugh Miller, state public works engineer for Missouri, who had sought the secretary's opinion as to whether hearings should be held by state boards on applications for public works funds for municipal plants.

May Hear Power Interests Once.

"Undoubtedly hearing ought to be held," Ickes told Miller, "but it seems to me that it could be taken for granted that power interests will oppose any municipal electric light projects, and after one such protest has been heard all have been heard."

The secretary also made public a letter he had written to Milton H. Fies of the Alabama state advisory board, in which he urged speedy action on applications of two cities in that state for funds for municipal plants.

The letters were released in connection with charges attributed to Gov. Pollard of Virginia that power interests were seeking to prevent public work loans through an official of the recovery organization.

Delay in Ruling.

The Virginia governor was represented as feeling there had been an undue delay in consideration of an application by the city of Culpeper for funds for a municipal plant.

Ickes requested a report from public works engineers on any delay in that project and they informed him it had been caused by a revision in the plans for the plant.

In his letter to Miller the secretary said:

"My view is that hearings ought to be granted for the purpose of establishing whether the municipality itself desires a project. If a project is generally desirable, engineeringly practicable, and legally sound, then it ought to be forwarded with approval to Washington, notwithstanding certain interested opposition, although the existence of such opposition should be noted as a part of the recommendation made."

SMALL REFINERS ORGANIZE FIGHT ON PRICE FIXING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 31.—Independent oil refiners and distributors have organized associations in various states in an effort to block the federal price fixing program scheduled to go into effect Dec. 1, after hearings that are expected to end around Nov. 15. At these hearings, to begin tomorrow, many state organizations expect to be represented by economists and attorneys. The belief that price fixing would mean the virtual annihilation of these groups accounts for their efforts to prevent the order going into effect.

Allen B. Tint, chairman of the Independent Oil Companies Alliance of America, today asked that the American people take a position against the policy of fixing prices on oil produced under free and fair competition in their own interest.

"Due to efficiency in purchasing and to decreased costs of overhead, advertising, and the like," Mr. Tint stated, "small companies now are enabled to sell gasoline of the same quality to the public at slightly lower prices than the large units. Obviously, if they were obliged to charge the same prices as these units, they could not compete because of their lack of a nationally advertised article."

BRITAIN REDUCES IMPORT QUOTA ON BACON 16%

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Following today's breakdown of Anglo-Danish negotiations for voluntary restriction of bacon imports into England the ministry of agriculture announced tonight it has decided to issue an order immediately making a further reduction of 16 per cent in all permitted foreign supplies.

Walter E. Elliot, minister of agriculture, tonight conferred with commercial attachés of all bacon exporting countries, including the United States, indicating that curtailment of purchases of foreign bacon is necessary as a result of an increase in the home production under the national marketing scheme. He intimated that unless imports are further reduced British producers will find difficulty in disposing of their products.

Chase National Bank Has Recession in Its Deposits

New York, Oct. 31.—The statement of the Chase National bank as of Oct. 25 shows deposits of $1,358,560,000, compared with $1,408,337,000 on June 30. Total resources were $1,683,700,000, compared with $1,727,182,000. Cash in banks amounted to $258,045,000, compared with $357,374,000. United States government securities amounted to $232,212,000, compared with $207,955,000. Loans and discounts amounted to $784,528,000, compared with $779,755,000.

Home Loans Prevent 1,620 Foreclosures in Illinois

A total of 1,620 homes have been saved from foreclosure by the Home Owners' Loan corporation, William G. Donne, state manager, announced yesterday. In averting these foreclosures federal home loans to the amount of $6,162,000 actually have been made or approved in Illinois since the corporation first became active during the summer, he said.

BANKS PLAN TO CUT LOSS OCCASIONED BY STOCK SALE TO RFC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 31.—Local banks which, through the clearing house, recently voted to participate, at the request of President Roosevelt, in the Reconstruction Finance corporation's program to supply the nation's banks with additional capital to the amount of nearly $1,000,000,000, are awaiting word from Washington of early arrangements on the part of the government to issue to such banks as desire them Reconstruction Finance corporation short term interest bearing notes.

One of the suggestions made at the time the banks agreed to issue their preferred stock or capital notes to the RFC was that the banks be given the opportunity to invest such portion of the money they could not employ otherwise in RFC debentures bearing 2¼ per cent interest and maturing next July 1, the time when the local banks would have the privilege of retiring their notes on preferred stock. Paying 4 per cent on stock or notes, they would be enabled under this plan to earn at least 2¼ per cent on the money they would take from the RFC, losing 1¾ per cent.

U. S. EXPORTS OF AUTO PRODUCTS SHOW INCREASE

Value in September Up to $8,610,000.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Continued increase in the value of exports of automotive products from the United States in September was reported today by the commerce department.

The value of September exports was $8,610,000, compared with $8,327,485 during August, and $5,258,369 for September, 1932. The figures showed that with the exception of March, 1933, when automotive exports were valued at $9,999,388, the September, 1933, valuation was the highest recorded for any month since October, 1931, when sales abroad totaled $9,947,300.

Small Trucks Big Factor.

The department said the improved trade during September resulted from the increased foreign requirements for low capacity trucks and certain items of automotive products included in the miscellaneous classification.

Exports of passenger cars showed a slight decrease compared with August. A higher export level maintained during the third quarter was shown from the fact that shipments amounted to $24,694,035, against $17,519,172 for the corresponding period last year, bringing the total for the first nine months to $67,715,240, compared with $66,443,446 during the January-September period of 1932.

Export More Iron and Steel.

The United States disposed of three times as much iron and steel products abroad last month as during September a year ago, commerce department figures also showed, although the September exports fell below those in August.

The September exports totaled 108,799 tons compared with 36,034 for the same month of 1932, and with 119,374 in August this year. Total exports of these products during the first nine months this year were 843,752 tons compared with 443,271 in the same period last year.

WEEK'S EXPORTS OF GRAIN UP TO 260,000 BUSHELS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Grain exports from the United States last week totaled 260,000 bushels, against 20,000 in the previous week and 1,807,000 in the corresponding week last year.

Commerce department figures today gave the following comparisons between last week's exports and those for the week before: Wheat, 4,000 bushels, against none; barley, 4,000, against 5,000; corn, 237,000, against 14,000; oats, 15,000, against none; rye, none, against 1,000.

Canadian grains exported last week from the United States ports totaled 334,000 bushels, against 694,000 the previous week. Exports of North American wheat flour were 33,000 barrels, against 26,000 barrels.

Phelps-Dodge Coal Mine Strikers Go Back Today

Dawson, N. M., Oct. 31. — (AP) — Miners at the Phelps-Dodge corporation coal mine, who have been out on strike since Oct. 2, have voted to return to work tomorrow. The miners, approximately 300 in number, will return on a definite understanding that the Phelps-Dodge company will not sign any United Mine Workers of America contract specifying that the company shall collect union dues and guarantee a specified period of employment.

Hershey Chocolate Shows Lower Earnings This Year

New York, Oct. 31. — (AP) — The Hershey Chocolate corporation had net income of $3,110,712 in the first nine months, equal to $2.84 a common share, against $4,082,901, or $4.14 a share, in the corresponding 1932 period. Third quarter net was $1,112,689, or $1.18 a share, against $916,935, or 90 cents a share, and $1,338,977, or $1.48 a share, in the third quarter of 1932.

RFC LOANS CUT TO 95 MILLIONS FOR SEPTEMBER

Total Shows Decline from July and August.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—A decline in Reconstruction Finance corporation loans in September, compared with August and July, was reported today by Jesse H. Jones, chairman. The report showed that advances totaling $95,009,510 were authorized in September, compared with $111,495,528 in August and $137,445,973 in July.

Of the September authorizations, $37,730,299 went to financial institutions and $39,746,711 to the federal relief administration. To help ease the farm mortgage situation, the corporation turned over $5,200,000 for use by the farm credit administration in refinancing loans, bringing the total advances for this purpose to $10,600,000.

In its effort to open or liquidate closed banks, the corporation subscribed for preferred stock in 23 banks and trust companies totaling $3,760,000 and authorized two loans amounting to $650,000 secured by preferred stock.

Buy Home Loan Stock.

The sum of $4,900,000 was turned over to the secretary of the treasury for payments on stock in the federal home loan banks, and 1 million dollars was advanced for stock of the Home Owners' Loan corporation. Altogether $59,370,000 has been advanced to these agencies.

The corporation also authorized advances of $2,022,500 for relief purposes, a part of which went to concerns preparing to make wine in the event of prohibition repeal, but none of this fund had been disbursed up to Sept. 30.

Of the $37,730,299 authorized for financial institutions, $20,966,628 went to banks and trust companies, including $11,809,034 to aid in the reorganization or liquidation of banks; $6,567,630 to mortgage loan companies; $3,000,000 to the federal Land bank at Omaha, Neb.; $2,910,000 to joint stock land banks, and $3,253,888 to regional agricultural credit corporations, the remainder going to insurance, building and loan and other institutions.

Loans Withdrawn or Canceled.

Loans authorized amounting to $7,173,491 either were withdrawn or canceled in September. In the same month the corporation sold $9 million dollars in debentures to the treasury, making the total outstanding 1 billion 720 million dollars.

In Illinois loans were authorized for the City National bank, Harrisburg, $71,000; and the First National bank, Millstadt, $25,000. Another loan authorized but no part of which had been disbursed up to Sept. 30 was $200,000 for the City National bank, Dixon. Other loans were authorized but not disbursed as follow: First Trust Joint Stock Land bank, Chicago, $2,000,000; Mortgage Company of Austin, $792,810; and Equality Building-Loan association, $8,500.

TENTATIVE CODE ON COPPER FIXES RANGE OF PRICES

New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—H. M. Halstead, an assistant administrator of the NRA, was understood today to have outlined a tentative code for the copper industry at a conference of producers and custom smelters held for the purpose of crystallizing opinion in the industry.

The tentative code was said to embody a minimum and maximum price clause, the minimum to be determined by average cost of producing copper and the maximum by average cost of production plus depreciation and a reasonable profit. It was believed this would be the first suggested code to provide a maximum price clause.

Another provision was understood to set up a general sales agency to allocate sales among producers and custom smelters.

The copper industry itself has thus far been unable to agree on a code, and a series of conferences was begun yesterday with Halstead in attendance to iron out difficulties in the way of writing a code satisfactory to various factions in the industry.

Westinghouse Pay Roll Rises Several Millions

New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company announced today its annual pay roll had been increased between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 by higher wages and additional employés hired under the NRA code. In a report to stockholders, the company said it was hoped these additional expenses would be recovered by increased sales and better prices, adding that unfilled orders now on the books amounted to $28,508,000, the largest since 1931.

Alabama Cotton Growers Loans Reach $10,000,000

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 31.—[Special.]—Loans to Alabama farmers passed an estimated $10,000,000 mark today as growers went into the second week of the government plan of advancing 10 cents a pound on unsold portions of the 1933 crop. The estimate was made by J. T. High, farm agent for the Alabama district.

SELLING ORDERS SWEEP GRAINS TO LOWER LEVEL

Cause of Liquidation Not Clearly Marked.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Liquidation developed in the grain markets yesterday despite the advance in the price of newly mined gold, and the close was near the bottom. Wheat finished at net losses of 1⅝ to 2⅝ cents; corn, 2⅛ to 2¾ cents; oats, ⅞ to 1⅞ cents; rye, 3½ to 4 cents and barley, 4 cents as compared with Monday's close.

Numerous stop loss orders were uncovered on the day down. Considerable selling of rye by spreaders who had wheat and corn bought, was also a factor. There was nothing in the general run of the news to account for the selling movement, and in the main the break was believed due to liquidation by tired longs, uncertainty as to the future and distrust of possible developments at Washington.

A strong rally followed an early break, but all grains dropped sharply later and at the low point wheat, corn and oats showed an extreme loss of more than 5 cents from the high on Monday. December wheat closed at 85⅞ to 86 cents. There was no evidence of government support. December corn finished at 42⅞ to 43 cents, or 7 cents under the figure the government offered to loan to farmers on No. 2 grades early in the week, basis Chicago.

Washington reports indicated the possibility of a compensatory processing tax being placed on both rye and barley and the two grains led the decline. December rye was 56 cents at the close and December barley 45 cents while December oats finished at 32¾ to 32½ cents.

Do Not Understand Tax Report.

As the department of agriculture recently issued a statement suggesting 6,000,000 to 10,000,000 bushels of foreign rye might be imported despite the tariff of 15 cents a bushel, the trade was unable to understand why the grain should be taxed.

Imports of rye started in August. The tariff commission will hold a hearing on Nov. 23 to try to determine whether production costs in foreign countries are higher than those in the United States. No data is available as to the cost of producing rye in this country in previous years. Owing to the small yield per acre the cost this year is estimated to have been over $1 a bushel, or 44 cents above the final sales of the December delivery in Chicago yesterday.

Hedging Sales Reported.

Some quarters reported selling of grains yesterday by persons who had hedged against inflation in the currency by the purchase of various commodities, and had decided it was better to put the money in the bank rather than try and guess the trend of the commodity markets.

Supply and demand figures on grain were getting more attention from the trade, as the effect of the advancing price of domestic gold was regarded as having worn itself out as a market influence for the time being.

Aggressive support was given the Winnipeg wheat market with exporters buying to remove hedges against sales of 600,000 bushels or more of Canadian grain from Vancouver, and there was also buying by a strong interest.

The semi-official government agency is now estimated to be long more wheat futures than there is in the visible supply in that country. The close was ¼ cent lower for the day.

An error made by Buffalo in reporting stocks of wheat afloat at that port necessitated a correction in the visible supply statement issued on Monday, and the reduction was only 1,825,000 bushels from the previous week instead of 4,825,000 bushels as originally reported. The change in the figures had little effect on the market.

Top steers at $6.35 averaged only 788 pounds, while $6 stopped the best 1,273 pound averages. Steers averaging 1,515 pounds went at $4.50.

Little change was found in the market for fat lambs yesterday, while feeders continued to rise in value. Top grades of feeders are selling now up to $6.60, within 25 cents of the peak for slaughter stock. Hand picked natives cashed at $6.85 to city butchers and at $6.75 and under to packers.

HOGS SLUMP ON HEAVY RECEIPTS, WARM WEATHER

Prices Off 5-25 Cents; Cattle Also Weak.

Pressure of receipts and warmer weather were the weakening factors in hogs yesterday. Receipts at Chicago for the first two days of this week, at 62,600, show an increase of 65 per cent, compared with the abnormally low supplies of a week ago, and are above 1932 figures for the first time in three weeks.

Price cuts ranged from 5 to 25 cents in the various classes. Better grades of strong weight, light and butchers above 200 pounds sold readily at mostly 10 cents decline, while underweights and pigs came off 15 to 25 cents.

Selective buying was one of the features of the day. The three larger packers were on the market early in the forenoon with orders for top grades of 200 to 250 pound butchers.

Smaller Packers Cautious.

These buyers absorbed 60 per cent of the day's receipts, including direct shipments, or a total of about 17,000 hogs costing from $4.10 to $4.25. Smaller packers and city butchers were more cautious, gauging their operations more by the action of the fresh pork trade, which has not been so encouraging the last few days. Further declines in fresh pork were experienced, loins going at prices 2 cents per pound under the recent high.

A week ago both weather and receipts were on the strong side of the hog market, the reverse of this week. Yesterday's top hog sales at $4.25 were lowest for a Tuesday since May 2 and $1.30 under the high point of 1933 on Oct. 9. The general average dropped 10 cents more to the $4 line, exactly $1 under the high point about three weeks ago.

Cattle Prices Decline.

The cattle market turned reactionary yesterday when receipts exceeded expectations. With the exception of a limited number of light yearlings weighing less than 900 pounds, the market was a draggy affair that finished weak to slightly lower than the average of Monday.

The decline again was in the heavier weights. According to packing houses the hang-rails are burdened with big carcasses from the oversupply of heavy steers. Top grades of heavy steers are selling 35 to 50 cents under the best yearlings. Fancy 787 pound yearling heifers topped the market at $6.40.

WARN OF LEGAL FIGHT ON HOG EQUALIZING TAX

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—(AP)—An implied threat of legal action against a compensatory tax on products competing was pork was made today at the final session of a farm administration hearing on a proposal to equalize the processing tax on hogs.

A. M. Davis, representing food and salad dressing companies, said the administration's failure to name the approximate tax which might be levied on vegetable oils and the comparable unit of taxation in relation to lard presented a "novel" situation. Ralph A. Gilchrist, presiding officer, said this information was not available.

Davis said the "secretary, the farm administration and the President" may "wander into error" in interpreting the law and that this "may result in a situation involving the legal rights" of his clients. His remarks were "seconded" by Harrison F. Jones of Chicago, executive secretary of the National Poultry, Butter and Egg association.

TRADING IN BUTTER, EGG FUTURES SHOWS GAIN OVER LAST YEAR

Trading in butter and egg futures continued to gain over last year on the Chicago mercantile exchange during October. Sales for the month were 8,574 cars, compared with 6,900 cars last year and 6,899 cars in October, 1931.

The total for the ten months period was 61,761 cars. At the end of October last year sales totaled 46,300 cars. The volume for the entire year 1932 was 50,500 cars, and for 1931 the total was 54,500 cars.

Trading in October eggs, which ended for the year on Tuesday, more than doubled last year's volume. Sales of this contract totaled 24,329 cars, compared with 11,682 cars last year. This year's total also exceeded the trading in November eggs during 1929, 1930 and 1931. October eggs were not traded in during those years.

Final sales of the October refrigerators were $480 per car under the year ago closing level. The price ranges follow:

COTTON TRADE MODERATE; CHICAGO FUTURES EASE

Cotton was sold in a fairly liberal way by the south with offerings taken by trade interests. There was no great activity at any time and the weakness in grains and stocks tended to restrict making of extensive commitments on either side.

The market had a rally around midday, but the day's range was narrow and the close on futures in Chicago was at 2 to 6 points net lower, with other markets 1 point higher to 5 points lower on futures.

New York was 5 points up on spots at 9.75 cents; New Orleans, off 5 points at 9.40, and Galveston and Houston unchanged at 9.35 cents.

Liverpool closed 2 to 4 points net lower. Prices:

CASH LARD AND FUTURES BREAK ON LIQUIDATION

Selling of lard by tired holders combined with moderate hedging by packing interests and the break in grain and unsettled feeling in the stock market checked support and brought a lower range of prices, the close being at 12½ to 20 cents decline on lard, January leading the break.

Cash trade was moderate and pork loins lower. Cash lard also lower, regular being off 10 points to 5.20 cents, with loose 20 points lower at 5.10 cents, while leaf dropped 12½ cents to 5.25 cents.

Bellies were neglected at 7½ to 12½ cents net lower on futures and unchanged for cash lots, the latter being 5.12½ cents. Prices:

Court Voids Suspending Futures Market.

The Chicago Board of Trade yesterday won a victory in its conflict with the grain futures commission when the United States Circuit Court of Appeals handed down a decision setting aside an order of the commission suspending the Chicago board for a period of 60 days as a grain "contract market." At the same time the court remanded the case to the commission for further proceedings.

Presiding Judge Samuel Alschuler rendered the decision with the concurrence of Associate Judge Evan A. Evans and Will M. Sparks.

The grain futures commission entered its order suspending the board of trade in July, 1932, following a complaint by the Farmers National Grain corporation that it had been denied the privileges of the board's clearing house. The Farmers' National is an association of coöperative grain societies.

Earlier Ruling Caused Sensation.

In refusing the Farmers' National clearing privileges the Board of Trade held that it acted for nonmembers as well as for members in violation of its own rules and the rules of the board. Judge Alschuler's opinion overruled practically all points in the board's contentions except the foregoing.

When the futures commission's ruling was made it created a sensation in business circles, although it was never enforced, since the board took an immediate appeal to the higher court. Three members of the Hoover cabinet, the attorney general, secretary of agriculture, and the secretary of commerce, acting as the grain commission, issued the suspension order.

The opinion of the three judges was contained in a thirteen page report. In respect to the board's contention that the Farmers' National was doing an outside business, the opinion stated:

"It appears from the record and was found by the commission that during the twenty-two months' period the Farmers' National handled for its members 163,403,000 bushels of grain valued at $104,356,617, and for nonmembers 110,092,000 bushels valued at $59,328,000.

U. S. Grain Buying an Issue.

"But the controversy as to this matter is in relation to the grain which the Farmer's National handled during the period for the Grain Stabilization corporation [a government subsidized concern] to the amount of 137,787,000 bushels valued at $81,274,000.

"The appellant contends that this last is non-member business which, if added to the admitted non-member business, makes the business in that classification exceed by about $35,000,000 in value the member business transacted during the period. The commission reasoned and found that this was neither member nor non-member business, but was business handled for a government instrumentality created by law and operating under the general supervision of the farm board to carry out a definite governmental policy, and therefore did not fall within either classification and may not be included in making the computation.

Rules Against Farmers' National.

"If the dealings with the Grain Stabilization corporation are to be considered as nonmember business, Farmers' National transgressed the statute authorizing coöperative associations; and, at least while persisting in such practices and in its rights to continue them, would not be entitled to have those privileges it seeks."

The opinion held that it is all-important to ascertain which of the Farmers' National dealings were member and which were nonmember.

Among the Board of Trade's contentions dismissed in the opinion was one that its clearing corporation is a separate entity, with its own laws and regulations. Another was that the Farmers' National did not have adequate financial responsibility to entitle it to membership in the clearing house corporation.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Cotton goods markets were quiet and slightly weaker today on some gray and finished cloths. Silk goods are selling better since a prolonged strike of dyers was adjusted. Wool goods continued quiet. Burlaps are firm, influenced largely by the course of foreign exchange.

WANTED—MALE HELP.

MEN—WED. AT 2 P. M.

Wednesday's opportunity is just as big as you'll make it, but it depends, first of all, on your being here at 2:00 p. m., no other time—and not later if you expect an interview this week. This invitation is not for all men, but for real workers, who believe that they still have the ability to make good if they have another connections—for men especially with family obligations, not younger than 26 or older than 47. We have abundant capital to pay for real character and past performance—minus title. If you expect to start out drawing big money, you'll probably be disappointed. But if you are willing to start modestly and win your way up, that is different.

We have men in this office [and this is a branch of a world-wide business, successful year after year in dozens of countries] who are making real money FAST. T. L., formerly a mechanic, averages better than $500.00 a month—W. W., once a coal mine executive; A. B., once a specialty salesman; C. G., another salesman; J. L., at one time a haberdasher; M. J., a theatrical producer; E. H., a construction engineer; F. J., an antique dealer; J. C., a salesman; and 22 others have made $100.00 to $165.00 a week to date—all starting in October. Many of these men came into this business wholly unprepared for this type of work, but soon found it agreeable and profitable. Nationally there are many men making regularly from $100.00 to $200.00 and more WEEKLY—from $5,000.00 up to better than $12,000.00 a year. Therefore, as rapidly as you develop, this opportunity will step up your income. No seasons or layoffs. Nothing to invest, deposit or buy.

We are not looking for and cannot use the floater or down-and-outer, or the part-time man. We are looking for men who still believe that opportunity exists. We want men who aspire to owning homes, good cars, good furniture, good clothes, and surplused. Many "sticks" in this business. If you are in earnest and are acceptable, you will receive a short training at our expense and be ready for earnings THIS WEEK. Everybody here is on the same basis. Capable men train you—men who have made really big incomes in this work. Our product is American-made, we are among the first to join the N.R.A., and under that code you are not restricted as to hours. One man here averages better than $250.00 a month working evenings.

I cannot interview at any time other than at 2:00 p. m., sharp, Wed., Nov. 1, in Room 215, at 1040 Wilson-av., one block east of Broadway. I will reach the office a few minutes before that time, returning from contacting men and help me them step up their incomes. I will look for you if you earnestly wish to GET SET and PROGRESS all winter—year after year—all seasons—right here in Chicago or its suburbs.

FOUR MEN WANTED

SOLUTION TO BETWEEN 8:10 AND 10:10

Fordney meant that if the rug near the divan had been turned around it would be proof that Edgerton had been murdered. The blood spots in this instance would have been on the opposite edge of the rug rather than the edge near the divan and it would have been impossible (as death was instantaneous) for the dead man to have shot himself and walked to the divan.

As a matter of fact Fordney later learned that Edgerton had been murdered and the rug had been turned around to simulate suicide.
